LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY, OCTOBER 15.

In Equity.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice OWEN, Chief Judge in Equity.)

JOSEPHSON AND WIFE v. YORK AND ANOTHER.

Mr. C. J. Manning, instructed by Mr. R. W. W. M'Coy, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Dr. Sly and Mr. Rolin, instructed by Messrs. Ferguson and Broad, for the defendants. This was a suit brought by Joshua Lewis Josephson and Robina Australia Josephson, his wife, against James Thomas York and Charles Augustus York, praying for the decree of the Court that the estate of William York, late of Penrith, deceased, might be administered by and under the direction of the Court. They further prayed that an account might be taken of all moneys received by the defendants or any person or persons in their behalf, in respect of the personal estate of the testator, or of the profits derived from the working of the grazing business in which the testator was engaged prior to his death, or of the proceeds or income therefrom, or the rent of the dwelling-house mentioned in the will; further, that an account might be taken of all moneys necessarily laid out by the plaintiff Robina Australia Josephson for her own maintenance and support until her marriage, owing to the failure of the trustees to provide a home; and that the defendants might be directed to pay to the plaintiffs such sum as might be found to be due to the plaintiff Robina Australia Josephson in respect of her share in the estate, and also in respect of the moneys laid out by her, together with interest thereon. William York, late of Penrith, grazier, died on the 13th June, 1877, leaving a will which was duly proved by the executors—James Thomas York, James York, and Charles York—the two latter having since died; and it was now charged that the defendants as trustees did not comply with the directions in the testator's will as to keeping a certain dwelling-house with the household furniture and household effects for the use of testator's widow, and all his unmarried children, but that within a few weeks of the death of the testator they sold all the furniture and effects, and had never in any way accounted to the plaintiff Robina Australia Josephson for her share of the same, or her interest in the residuary personal estate, or for her share of the profits arising from the grazing business, which the trustees continued to carry on after the death of the testator. The properties to be apportioned under the will had been contracted to be sold for the sum of £40,000 or thereabouts, and the plaintiffs alleged that defendants have neglected to furnish any accounts showing the annual profits arising out of the estate or to give any information upon the subject.

The defence set up was that the testator's widow, Grace Kirkpatrick York, only continued to reside with the testator's unmarried children for some two months after the testator's death, when she left them, and had not since been heard of by defendants, and thereupon the trustees maintained a home for all the unmarried children of testator, including the female plaintiff, until the latter left the home of her own accord. The two youngest sons were then sent to Kings's School by the trustees, and the youngest daughter to live with her married sister Matilda Jane Evans, the cost of maintenance in each case being paid by the trustees. On the home being thus broken up, and there being no further use for the household furniture, it was sold, and the proceeds paid to the credit of the estate. The legacies under the will had to be paid within six months of the testator's death, and such legacies were paid in due course out of moneys raised by mortgage upon the real estate devised to the testator's five sons for the sum of £4000, and this mortgage had since been paid off out of the proceeds of the sale of the real estate. There was no share either of the furniture or residuary personal estate to account for to the female plaintiff, and it was not a fact, as stated by her, that she was left to find a home and wholly provide for herself from the date of the death of the testator until her marriage. From the time she left the home until her marriage the female plaintiff made no application to the trustees under the will. The defendants further denied that they had been carrying on the grazing business, but that after the testator's death, Charles York, since deceased, rented the whole of the estate for a few years for the sum of £500 per annum, and for the past five or six years the estate had been let to various persons in small farms. The whole of the estate had since been sold, and the proceeds distributed amongst the persons entitled thereto, and there was now nothing due to the female plaintiff.

Evidence having been taken counsel addressed the Court.

His HONOR said that the testator, William York, was a wholesale butcher in Sydney, and had some real estate in the neighbourhood of Penrith, which he used for the purpose of carrying on, in conjunction with his brother, Charles York, the business of a grazier. Upon that real estate he depastured the cattle which he purchased for the market in Sydney, and when they were fit for market he forwarded them to Sydney. In the year 1873 he made his will, but in that year he unfortunately became of unsound mind, and had to be removed to Dr. Tucker's establishment at Cook's River. He was subsequently removed to Gladesville, and in the year 1877 he died. In the meantime the grazing business had been discontinued, because, as the testator was unable to carry on the business of wholesale butcher, it was unprofitable to carry on the grazing business, and the property was let. The will of course was unaltered, testator having remained insane up to the time of his death, and the Court, therefore, had to construe the will in view of the altered circumstances since its execution. It was contended here, on the part of the trustees, that Mrs. Josephson was not entitled to any account of the profits of the real estate, because the only share that was left to her in connection with the real estate was described by the testator in his will as "the share of the profits of the said business." Now looking at the frame of the will altogether, it was quite clear to his mind what the testator intended to do. He first left a number of legacies among his female children, and a pecuniary legacy to his wife also, and then he directed the trustees to realise the personal estate, and after paying out of that the funeral expenses and legacies, he empowered them to appropriate and set apart the sum of £3000 for the purpose of carrying on the grazing business, and as to the residue, he divided it among his children, by providing a fund out of which his children were to receive allowances. He then provided that his own home, or some home in place of it, should be maintained as a residence for his wife and unmarried children, and that the profits of the grazing business were to be applied, until the youngest for the time being of his five sons had attained the age of 21 years, for the proper maintenance of his wife so long as she should continue to reside with and take charge of his children. So that what the testator intended was that the widow should have the use and occupation of his house, and that it was to be kept up by the proceeds of the estate, and that she was to have for her maintenance and that of her children the profits arising from the business. Now it was contended that, because the business ceased after the execution of the will and before the testator's death, the widow was not to have anything for her maintenance, and that the female children were not to have any portion of the income derived from the real estate for their maintenance. Well, he could not hold that as being the construction which was to be put upon the will. There was no doubt that the Court must give to the words that were used in the will a cy près interpretation. It was impossible to put the interpretation contended for upon the words that testator used at the time he made the will, because the circumstances were altered. It seemed to him that the profits which now arose from the letting of the real estate to others for grazing purposes came within the purview of the testator's intention that the income derived out of the real estate should be used for the maintenance of testator's wife and children. It was no answer to say that the wife did not remain to take care of the children. He must construe the will as the testator intended, and it was quite clear that what he intended was that the profits should be devoted to the maintenance of his widow and children. Then the plaintiff's claim went further and asked for an account of the moneys necessarily laid out by Mrs. Josephson for her own support until her marriage, because of the failure of the trustees to provide a home for her. In the first place, he had very grave doubts indeed that they were obliged to keep up this home under any circumstances. The circumstances had altered altogether from those which were in contemplation at the time the testator made his will, and it would be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, to ascertain what injury female plaintiff had sustained by being deprived of this home, and how much benefit would have been derived by her from its continuance in proportion to the benefit to be derived by the rest of the family. And besides that Mrs. Josephson did not appear from the evidence to have suffered any pecuniary loss. Therefore it appeared to him that this would be merely a speculative inquiry which would be exceedingly difficult, and as Mrs. Josephson had made no claim from 1877 until the date of the suit, he did not think an inquiry could be directed. He would make the usual decree of administration and inquiry into the accounts, question of costs reserved until the accounts were taken.

Order accordingly.

In Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice OWEN.)

Bernasconi, £216; Robert Roberts, £457; Catherine Campbell, £431; Michael Cooney, £385; Mary Moyes, £200.

Several motions to pass accounts were granted.

In Bankruptcy.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice DARLEY.)

CERTIFICATE APPLICATIONS.

Re W. F. Robertson and J. S. Robertson. On the application of Mr. Elliott Meyer, who appeared for each bankrupt, his Honor ordered a certificate of discharge to issue.

Re Charles Jacob Lowenthal. Mr. W. L. Levy appeared for the bankrupt, and Mr. C. C. Read for the objecting creditor. The bankrupt was directed to file affidavit in explanation within a week, and the further hearing was adjourned to the 12th proximo.

Re George Starr. Mr. Ryan appeared for the bankrupt and applied for a certificate. Mr. Rich appeared in support of the objections filed. Bankrupt was directed to file within four days affidavit of explanation as to Thomas Powell's connection with a bill of sale, and the hearing was adjourned to the 22nd instant.

Re John Jeffrey, Theophilus Dusserre, Prior Moore, and John Rogers. In each case his Honor directed a certificate of discharge to be issued to the bankrupts.

Re John Lowe. The hearing of this application was adjourned to the 29th instant to enable the bankrupt to provide for the payment of court charges and expenses.

Re Alfred Leath Park. Mr. Wise, instructed by Mr. J. M. Curtis, appeared for the bankrupt, and applied for a certificate of discharge. There were no objections, but upon the report of the official assignee, the bankrupt was ordered to file affidavit of explanation within four days, and the hearing was adjourned to the 22nd instant.

Re John Atkinson. This application was adjourned to the 29th instant, to enable the bankrupt to file an explanation within 10 days, showing under what circumstances he alienated a portion of his estate.

CREDITORS' PETITION.

Re Simmons v. West. Mr. Mark Mitchell appeared for the petitioner, and no cause in opposition being shown the order for sequestration was made, and Mr. Lloyd was appointed official assignee. The date of the act of bankruptcy was the 12th September.

APPLICATION TO SET ASIDE BANKRUPTCY NOTICE.

Re James Armstrong, ex parte the Moat de Piété Deposit and Investment Company, Limited. Mr. Hill, solicitor for the respondent, applied for an order setting aside the bankruptcy proceedings, but subsequently asked for an adjournment as a necessary witness was absent. Mr. Edmunds, counsel for the petitioner, objected. His Honor granted an adjournment to the 29th instant if respondent gave security to the amount of £70 within seven days, but should such security not be given on or before the 23rd instant, the matter to be again entered for hearing on the 25th instant.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

Re Samuel Redgate. Upon this adjourned application for a certificate of discharge his Honor reserved judgment.

MOTION FOR RELEASE.

Re John Robert Kanis. This adjourned motion for release of the estate was further adjourned to the 25th instant.

SEQUESTRATION ORDERS.

James Foster, of Newcastle, master painter, on petition of debtor. Mr. E. M. Stephen, official assignee.

Michael Slattery, of Glen Innes, on petition of debtor. Mr. L. T. Lloyd, official assignee.

George Gibson, of 289, George-street, Sydney, tailor, on petition of debtor. Mr. Augustus Morris, official assignee.

In Chambers.—(Before his Honor Mr. Justice FOSTER.)

M'LEAN BROTHERS AND RIGG, LIMITED, v. ROBINSON.

Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Creagh and Williams, appeared for the defendant, and applied on summons for an order directing that the defendant, H. R. Robinson, master, and certain officers of the ship Achilles, should be examined de bene esse at 2 p.m. that day, as the vessel was about to sail for London. Mr. Levy (of Levy and Hemsley) appeared to oppose the application, on the ground mainly that he had received only short notice, and his counsel, being engaged in an important case in the District Court, would not be available until 4 o'clock. The action is one brought by plaintiffs, wholesale ironmongers, against the master of the Achilles as nominal defendant, to recover £228 as compensation for damage done to certain boilers shipped to their order on board the vessel, owing, as alleged by plaintiffs, to improper stowage and negligence during the voyage. After hearing argument, his Honor fixed the examination for 4 o'clock.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.—MONDAY.

(Before his Honor Judge WILKINSON.)

O'DONOGHUE V. WHITE.

This was a case in which Thomas O'Donoghue, carter and contractor of Redfern, sought to recover £11 12s. from Francis White, of Golden Grove, for work and labour done. Defendant denied his indebtedness to the amount of the claim, pleaded a set-off of £2 19s. 6d., and paid £2 3s. 3d. into court as satisfaction for the remainder. A verdict was given for the plaintiff for £8 2s. 9d., besides the amount paid into court.

JELLY V. THE COMMISSIONER FOR RAILWAYS.

In this case William Henry Jelly, of Enmore, sued for the recovery from the Commissioner for Railways of £200 for damage done to his omnibus and injury done to his horses, through a tram motor having run into the 'bus on March 17 last. Mr. Cohen appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Davies for the defendant. The case for the plaintiff was that on the day in question a man named Kelly was driving in one of his omnibuses along King-street, Newtown. He was proceeding very slowly, and was just in the act of pulling up in order to take on another passenger, when a tram-car whistled loudly behind him, and before he had time to get out of the way struck the box of the off-side bind wheel. The 'bus capsized and was seriously damaged; two of the horses were badly injured, one had to be destroyed; and the harness was rendered practically useless. It was contended that the plaintiff had been put to expense in repairing the omnibus, in procuring other horses and harness, and that he had for a considerable time been deprived of the profits which might have accrued from the use of the vehicle. For the defence evidence was called to show that the driver of the motor gave a long continuous whistle, which was heard by the passengers on the 'bus. The attention of the driver of the 'bus was directed to the fact that the tram was rapidly approaching; but he either did not hear or did not take any notice of the warning. Some of the witnesses affirmed that the whistle was blown three times, and that the accident resulted entirely from the driver of the 'bus having driven across the line to pick up a passenger even after the whistle had been blown. His Honor, in giving his verdict, said that both law and common sense were as plain as possible on this point, that the driver of a tram and the driver of an ordinary vehicle should exercise extreme care and caution. It was terrible to think what the consequences to passengers would be if this care and caution were not exercised by persons taking trams or omnibuses or cabs through crowded thoroughfares. The very lives of the passengers were in peril in the presence of the formidable dangers which might arise from carelessness. The contradictions in the evidence, if not serious, would be really ludicrous, for they existed at every stage of the case. There was no negligence on the part of the driver of the motor, but there was, he regretted to say, negligence on the part of the driver of the vehicle. He was very thankful, and the driver of the 'bus should be so also, that the results of the accident were not more serious than they turned out to be. There would be a verdict for the defendant.

William Ferguson and Henry Thomas, two youths charged with behaving in a riotous manner in Goulburn-street, were ordered to be kept in gaol for 24 hours. Catherine Thomas, 39, married, was fined 40s., or 7 days in gaol, for being drunk and disorderly on the South Head-road. Patrick O'Hara, 43, seaman, and Thomas Turnbull, 24, seaman, were each sent to prison for three days, with hard labour, on a charge of absenting themselves without leave from the British registered vessel Lord Lyndhurst. John Keefe, 28, seaman, was fined 40s., or 7 days in gaol, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct in Argyle-street. For using indecent language in George-street, the prisoner was further ordered to forfeit the sum of 40s., or, in default thereof, one month to gaol. Owen Jones, 50, labourer, charged with wilfully damaging a gate and door, value 10s., the property of Adrian Hook, was mulcted in the sum of 20s., with the option of imprisonment for two months. John Mahony, 21, labourer, was fined 40s., or one month in gaol, for having used indecent language on the Corso, at Manly. For having assaulted Constable Orr, whilst that officer was in the lawful performance of his duty, the prisoner was further ordered to be kept in gaol for one month, with hard labour. Thomas Duckworth, 32, bricklayer, was fined £5, or in default four months in gaol, for having committed an unprovoked assault upon an aged couple named James and Emma Russell. Sarah M'Anally, an old offender, was ordered to forfeit the sum of 40s., or go to gaol for one month, for having used indecent language in the Domain.

Mr. Marsh, S.M., disposed of the business of the BALMAIN POLICE COURT. F. Stanfield was charged with having assaulted Jemima Shaw, a married woman. A broken bottle was produced in court, with which, it was alleged, accused struck plaintiff on the head. Dr. Bott testified to a wound on the forehead and nose, an inch and a-half in length, and said it could be caused by being struck with a bottle. He had dressed the wound, and recommended the plaintiff to go to the Cottage Hospital, as there were signs of erysipelas setting in. Prisoner was committed to take his trial at the Quarter Sessions, and was allowed bail, himself in a surety of £80 and two of £40.

Messrs. H. Byrnes and Joseph Whitworth, Js.P., disposed of the business at the PARRAMATTA POLICE COURT. Mary Barrow, a young girl, charged with having no lawful visible means of support, was sent to gaol for six months. Peter Fletcher was fined 5s., or 24 hours', for being drunk at Granville, and 10s., or 48 hours', for using obscene language. A billiard licence was granted to C. P. Johnson, Potts Hill.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

DEATH FROM ALLEGED MALTREATMENT.

The City Coroner (Mr. H. Shiell, J.P.) yesterday, at the Coroner's Court, Chancery-square, resumed the inquiry into the circumstances attending the death of the man James Brown, who died in the Sydney Hospital on Tuesday last from injuries alleged to have been received during a public-house quarrel in Underwood-street, Paddington, the previous night. The three men, William Hanrahan and George and Arthur Forrest, who are in the custody of the police, charged on suspicion with having caused the death of the deceased, appeared before the court.

Senior-Constable James Brennan stated he was doing duty at the Woollahra station on Monday afternoon, the 8th instant, when the deceased was taken to the station by Constable Willett; the constable charged him with being drunk and disorderly in Underwood-street, Paddington; the deceased appeared to be very drunk; witness did not observe a wound on the man's head; noticed a wound over his left eye; he was placed in a cell with two others; witness visited deceased several times during the night; about 11 o'clock witness went into the cell with Cotter, who came to bail him out; deceased then appeared to be in a deep sleep, and failing to arouse him, witness made him more comfortable as possible in the cell; saw him again about one hour afterwards, when witness noticed that where his head had lain on the blanket there was a small blood-stain; also found a small wound on the back of his head; at three o'clock the next morning witness made a final effort to arouse the deceased, and failing to do so, after informing his superior officer, witness had the man removed by cab to the Sydney Hospital; shortly after the man was placed in the cell he was knocking at the door, and asking for bail; witness told him to lie down and make himself comfortable.

This concluded the evidence, and the Coroner, in summing up, said the jury must find that the deceased died from compression of the brain resulting from a fracture of the skull, and that fracture was the result of external violence. They had it in evidence that the deceased had been drinking; but when he left King-street, to go to Woollahra, he was far from being drunk. A man might be as drunk as he possibly could; that would make no difference. The deceased arrived, in company with Joseph Cotter, at the Metropolitan Hotel, Underwood-street, Paddington, between 4 and 5 o'clock on Monday afternoon, the 8th instant. Shortly after going in to the hotel, the deceased was jostled by two men, and immediately afterwards blows were seen passing between them. If they assaulted the deceased in that way, he had a right to defend himself. The question for the jury to consider was whether the deceased was unlawfully assaulted or not. According to the evidence of one witness, the deceased was, overthrown and kicked. He went out into the street, followed immediately by one of the Forrests, who struck him in the back; the other Forrest gave the deceased a blow in front, which knocked him down on the kerbstone. While on the ground, another man stoops down and strikes him. When the deceased was lifted up by two men, it was found that there was a wound on the back of his head, from which blood was flowing. The doctor stated that immediately behind that wound was a fresh fracture of the skull, which caused compression of the brain, ultimately causing death. Now, if these men unlawfully inflicted those injuries which caused death, they were guilty of manslaughter, and it was the duty of the jury to return a verdict of manslaughter against them if they (the jury) were satisfied that the injuries were sufficient to cause death. It was no matter which man gave the fatal blow; if all were acting in concert, the three were equally guilty.

The jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of manslaughter against the three men, William Hanrahan, George Forrest, and Arthur Forrest.

The Coroner then committed the three men to take their trial at the next sittings of the Central Criminal Court. Bail was asked for, and refused.

STRANGE RAILWAY FATALITY.

An inquest was held at the Coroner's Court, Chancery-square, yesterday afternoon, before the City Coroner (Mr. H. Shiell, J.P.), touching the death of a lad named Oswald Campbell Cunningham, who died in the Sydney Hospital on Saturday afternoon, consequent upon injuries received by being knocked down by a train between St. Peters and Erskineville on Thursday last. Mr. Cobb, locomotive foreman, watched the case on behalf of the Railway Department. From the evidence it appeared that the deceased was nearly 4 years of age and a native of the colony. On Thursday afternoon, in company with an elder sister he got through the fence on to the railway line, between St. Peters and Erskineville, and it is supposed that he was playing on the metals at the time he met the injury which caused his death. John M'Evoy stated that he was an engine-driver in the employ of the Railway Department; on Thursday afternoon last he was employed in that capacity driving a train on the Illawarra line which left Loftus at 4.15 p.m. for Sydney; when within about 200 or 300 yards of Erskineville station, witness looked back and saw the deceased lying on the outside of the up rail, close to the brick wall on the western side, about 15 yards behind the engine; on the arrival of the train at Erskineville, a porter was despatched along the line to pick the deceased up; the train was backed to the spot, and the deceased was placed upon it and taken to Sydney, thence to the Sydney Hospital; witness saw nothing whatever of anyone on the line between the stations in question. Edward Colquhoun, fireman of the engine, gave corroborative evidence. Dr. A. W. Orr, acting medical officer of the Sydney Hospital, stated that the deceased was admitted to the institution suffering from a compound depressed fracture of the right frontal bone, with the brain matter protruding; he was placed under treatment, but gradually sank, and died on Saturday afternoon last, the cause of death being due to the injuries mentioned. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

THE QUEEN v. GREEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Permit me to direct attention to a strange error into which his Honor Judge Docker fell when giving judgment in the appeal case, the Queen v. Green, at the Metropolitan Quarter Sessions. From the report in your issue of Friday, it appears that "Daniel Green appealed against a magisterial decision delivered against him at the Central Police Court, by which he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in Parramatta gaol on a charge of vagrancy. Appellant's attorney, Mr. Wallace, raised the point that the conviction could not be sustained, as under the Vagrant Act the magistrate had no power to send the appellant to Parramatta gaol, as it was laid down in this particular Act that the magistrate could only order a person convicted under its sections to be imprisoned in the nearest gaol or house of correction. His Honor concurred in the argument and quashed the conviction." The Judge, however, lost sight of a short Act—the Places of Detention Act, 1886 (50 Vic., No. 19), the second section of which is as follows:—"Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any Act under which any person is liable to be committed or imprisoned, with or without hard labour, to the nearest gaol, house of correction or other place of detention, it shall be lawful for the Court, or Justices adjudicating under such Act, to commit such person to such prison, gaol, or other place of detention as such Court or Justices may appoint."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your Law Report published on 12th instant appears the following:—"The Queen v. Green. Daniel Green appealed against a magisterial decision delivered against him at the Central Police Court, by which he was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in Parramatta gaol on a charge of vagrancy. Appellant's attorney, Mr. Wallace, raised the point that the conviction could not be sustained, as under the Vagrant Act the magistrate had no power to send the appellant to Parramatta gaol, as it was laid down in this particular Act that the magistrate could only order a person convicted under its sections to be imprisoned in the nearest gaol or house of correction. His Honor concurred in the argument, and quashed the conviction." Assuming your report of the case to be correct, it appears to me that the Judge must have overlooked the Places of Detention Act, 1886, the second section of which declares, "Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any Act under which any person is liable to be committed or imprisoned with or without hard labour to the nearest gaol, house of correction, or other place of detention, it shall be lawful for the Court, or the Justices adjudicating under such Act, to commit such person to such prison, gaol, or place of detention as such Court or Justices may appoint."

A COUNTRY POLICE MAGISTRATE.

October 13.

According to the tenth annual report of the Prisons Commissioners of Scotland, which is issued to-day (says St. James's Gazette, September 4), the total number of prisoners in confinement in Scotland during the year ending the 31st of March, 1888, was 56,265—namely, 31,672 males and 18,593 females. At the date mentioned the number was 2082, the daily average during the year being 2285; whilst in 1886-87 the daily average was 2446. The number of committals in 1887 was 46,106, and the population at present is 4,064,166.

LAND APPEAL COURT.

A Court of Appeal under the Land Act of 1884 was held yesterday by the Minister for Lands, the Hon. J. N. Brunker, at the rooms of the Engineering Association, O'Connell-street. The following cases were dealt with:—

Michael Cotter appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 81-368, in the district of Queanbeyan. The appeal was sustained, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded. Mr. Dawson appeared in support of the appeal.

Leah Augusta Splatt appealed against the disallowance of her application for an additional conditional purchase, 86-54, in the district of Albury; also against the disallowance of her application for an additional conditional purchase, 86-55, in the district of Albury. The appeals were sustained, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

David Crozier appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional lease, No. 5404, 85-10, in the district of Bathurst. The appeal was dismissed.

John Michael Keasey appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 82-21, in the district of Bathurst. The case was referred back to the board.

The Commercial Banking Company appealed against the proposed forfeiture of their (formerly Thomas Healy's) conditional purchase, 81-73 and 81-75, in the district of Bathurst. The appeal was dismissed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

John Ross appealed against the disallowance in part of his application for conditional lease, 88-70, Coonamble. The appeal was dismissed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Chambers and Co. appealed against the valuation of the fence on the land applied for by R. A. Wildie as conditional purchase 87-229, in the district of Dubbo. The appeal was dismissed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

John M'Donald appealed against the disallowance of his application under the 47th clause for conditional purchase, 88-36, in the district of Grafton. The appeal was dismissed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

James Henry Nicholls appealed against the confirmation of his applications for conditional purchase, 88-10, and conditional lease, 88-9, Gunnedah, for an area less than that applied for. The appeal was sustained, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

James Campbell appealed against the modification of his conditional lease, 85-40, in the district of Hay. Mr. Lakeman appeared on behalf of the appellant, and contended that the case was one which might very fairly admit of some compromise. Mr. Brunker said a compromise might be the most satisfactory way of dealing with the case, but he could only deal with the matter as it came before him. Under existing circumstances, he had no alternative but to dismiss the appeal and uphold the decision of the board. It was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

John Reilly appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 82-20, in the district of Kempsey. Mr. Hogan appeared for the appellant, and by consent the case was referred back to the board for further inquiry.

Thomas Swift appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 82-96, in the district of Kempsey. Mr. Hogan appeared for the appellant. By consent the case was referred back to the board for further inquiry.

Harold Arthur Wright appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 83-62, in the district of Murrurundi. Mr. Pring appeared in support of the appeal, and submitted that the Land Board were wrong in holding that five years' residence was required in this particular case. He asked that a case might be stated for the Supreme Court if the Minister had any doubt about the matter. Mr. Brunker said the point raised was a new one to him, and should be decided. He should therefore have no hesitation to state a case for the Supreme Court in order that the point might be decided.

John Stinson appealed against the disallowance of his application for conditional lease, 86-30, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Scholes appeared in support of the appeal. The appeal was upheld, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Minnie Maud Stinson appealed against the disallowance of her application for conditional purchase, 87-53, and conditional lease, 87-17, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Scholes, who appeared in support of the appeal, submitted that the present application was good, and that the land ought to be allowed. Mr. Brunker said the point was whether the land was available for selection, and it appeared to him that the land was not available. The appeal was dismissed and the decision of the board was sustained. An appeal by the same appellant against the disallowance of her application for conditional purchase, 87-53, and conditional lease, 87-17, in the district of Wagga Wagga, was dealt with in a similar manner.

Patrick Michael Brislan appealed against the decisions with respect to his applications for conditional purchase 87-10, and conditional lease, 87-30, in the district of Wagga Wagga; also against the disallowance in part of his application for conditional lease, 87-30, in the same district. The appeal was dismissed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Arthur W. Welman appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 83-287, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Macnamara appeared in support of the appeal, and submitted that the board had not evidence before them to warrant them in coming to the conclusion that the selector had not complied with the conditions of residence. Mr. Brunker said it appeared to him clear from the appellant's own evidence that the conditions with regard to residence had not been fully complied with. The appeal was dismissed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Dunsford William Bear appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 83-277, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Fitzhardinge appeared in support of the appeal, and submitted that the evidence in the case went to show that the conditions of residence had been properly fulfilled. The appeal was sustained, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Mary Ann Ellen Clarton appealed against the proposed forfeiture of her conditional purchase, 83-718, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Fosbery appeared in support of the appeal. Mr. Brunker said he did not think the evidence in this case was sufficient to justify a forfeiture. The appeal was sustained, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Edward Harrex Furner appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 84-292, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Fosbery appeared in support of the appeal, which was sustained. It was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Thomas Hanley appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 83-157, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Macnamara appeared in support of the appeal, which was dismissed. The decision of the board was confirmed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Henry Brown appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 84-20, in the district of Walgett. The decision of the board was confirmed. The appeal was dismissed, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

R. P. Johnston appealed against the decision of the board that he should pay the Crown the sum of £40, the value of the improvements on the land at the date of his application for an additional conditional purchase, 88-19, in the district of Yass. The appeal was dismissed, and the decision of the board was confirmed. It was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Patrick Walsh, sen., appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 82-38, in the district of Young. Mr. Gibbs appeared in support of the appeal, and asked that the appellant might be allowed to call evidence before the Minister. Mr. Brunker said he would have no objection to refer the case back to the board in order that additional evidence might be given, but added that on the merits of the case he was of opinion the selection was not a bona-fide selection at all. The case was referred back to the board.

Eden Brown appealed against the disallowance of his application for an original conditional purchase, 88-71, in the district of Grafton. Mr. Patterson appeared in support of the appeal, which was sustained. It was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

Louis Andrew M'Dougall appealed against the confirmation of his application for an original conditional purchase, 88-71, in the district of Grafton. Mr. Fitzhardinge appeared in support of the appeal. The appeal was dismissed. The decision of the board was upheld, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded. A similar appeal by Arthur Kerr M'Dougall against the disallowance of his application for an original conditional purchase, 88-72, in the district of Grafton, was dealt with in a similar manner.

M. M. Tully appealed against the disallowance of his application for an additional conditional purchase, 86-88, in the district of Gunning. Mr. Hawkins appeared in support of the appeal, which was dismissed. The decision of the board was upheld, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded. Mr. Collins appeared to oppose the appeal.

William Reid appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 82-46, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Fitzhardinge appeared in support of the appeal, which was dismissed. The decision of the board was sustained.

James Downey appealed against the proposed forfeiture of his conditional purchase, 84-240, in the district of Wagga Wagga. Mr. Rich appeared in support of the appeal. The appeal was sustained, and it was ordered that the deposit should be refunded.

THE CHALK WRITER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It says very little, I think, for the efficiency of our police system in Sydney that the maniac who has for years past been in the habit of disfiguring our public buildings, &c., with chalk writings has not been detected and brought to justice. Turn where you will round the city and you will find plentiful evidence of this man's handiwork. The churches even are not exempted from his scrawls. Not long since I noticed that he had manipulated upon the beautiful stonework at the front of the Great Synagogue in Elizabeth-street. In fact, these chalk writings stare you in the face whichever way you go. It is not possible that a man should carry on such wholesale vandalism as this without leaving himself open to easy detection if the police authorities only exercise anything like vigilance.

LECTURES.

THE THEORY OF EVOLUTION.

The last of the winter course of lectures in connection with the Y. M. C. A. was delivered last evening, in the hall of the association, by the Rev. Geo. Martin. The hall was crowded. Mr. C. S. Wilkinson, F.G.S., presided, and on the platform were the Revs. W. Bradley, G. Pickering, G. Stephinson, J. Lane Moore, J. B. Fletcher, J. Oram, Prescott, and Bowles, and Mr. Kent.

The Rev. Geo. Martin, in the course of his lecture on "The Evolution Theory: Its Strength and its weakness," said that the theory of evolution had arisen out of the scientific theory of nature, but the time had gone by when Christian people could allow that great theory to pass with disdain. It met them at every turn, in colleges, universities, technical schools, and in every department of literature, from the "yellow back" to the Nineteenth Century. It seemed well-nigh impossible that a theory which had taken such a deep hold upon the intellect of the age should be devoid of any foundation in truth. Although the colossal image of materialism had been built up by some evolutionists and presented by them to the world as a sort of intellectual fetish, it was an image containing no small amount of brass. Yet the evolution theory, when

MEETINGS.

MELBOURNE EXHIBITION COMMISSION.

The New South Wales Commission of the Melbourne Exhibition met yesterday afternoon at the office of the Colonial secretary. The Chief Justice (Sir Frederick M. Darley) presided, and there was a large attendance of members.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMISSIONER.

The eleventh report of the executive commissioner, Mr. R. Burdett Smith, M.L.A., was read, is as follows:—"When I had the honour to report at a meeting of the Commission held on the 20th August last, I did not think that any further report would be necessary until the final one after the close of the Exhibition. Circumstances have, however, occurred which justified me in calling the attention of the Commission to the most important of them. The work in connection with the completion of the New South Wales court has been vigorously carried out, and the court is now, it may be confidently asserted, in admirable order. Exhibits have been steadily flowing in, and have been arranged and classified in an excellent manner. There can be no possible doubt that the court will now vie in point of pre-eminence with any court within the Exhibition building. This opinion is formed on the unanimously expressed approval of numerous visitors not only from our colony, but from all parts of the world. The people of Victoria readily acknowledge that New South Wales has responded nobly to the call made to co-operate in celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of British settlement in Australia. Notably, our large and varied mineral exhibits and natural products have elicited general admiration. These exhibits cannot fail to demonstrate our abundant and substantial industrial resources. In the thorough completion of our various courts, I have necessarily had to incur considerable expense out of the funds placed at my disposal as Executive Commissioner by the Government; but it is extremely gratifying to be in a position to state that the result is in every sense satisfactory. While on the subject, I need hardly remind the members of the Commission that several very large sums of money, which should have been defrayed by the Commission itself in Sydney, fell to me in Melbourne, as I had to expedite most hurriedly all the arrangements for the opening day and the general completeness of the various courts. This will, however, be a matter of adjustment between the commission and myself hereafter.

"Since our last meeting the machinery court, adjoining our court in the Grand Avenue of Nations, has been fitted up and furnished with extensive exhibits. The space allotted being totally inadequate, I was compelled—owing to the unexpected number of exhibits which were constantly coming in since the opening of the Exhibition—to apply for additional space, which has been granted. A large covered shed at the north end of the Avenue of Nations has been assigned to me for the display of gold-crushing and hydraulic machinery. In this building Messrs. Park and Lacey, of Sydney, show a most extensive, varied, and interesting collection of their manufactures, and which is in itself an attractive exhibition. In the open-air display smelters, stump-extractors, excavators, windmills, and various other articles, which could not, from their nature and dimensions, be placed in the main building, are now in a good position, and can be seen to great advantage. The very large collection of exhibits from the Public Schools' Department of New South Wales has been also properly placed. The typical Public school-house, with all its appliances, attracts very great attention. Two special shows have been held—one for dairy produce, on the 20th ultimo, and one for grain and farm produce, on the 9th and 10th instant, at which I was present. In consequence of the very dry season the first-mentioned was not sufficiently representative of the colony, but the second was most distinctly so—in fact, was an unqualified success. This latter show was held under the northern dome of the Grand Avenue of Nations, and the New South Wales portion of it was appropriately decorated, various agricultural products of New South Wales were adequately displayed, and a large corn trophy lent significance to this portion of the show. In order to illustrate the preceding remarks, I extract from the Sydney Morning Herald's Melbourne special correspondent, published in to-day's issue of that journal, the following paragraph, which I regard to be correct in every particular:—'On Tuesday last the first of two international competitive shows of grain and farm produce was held in the Avenue of Nations under the northern dome, and the show has remained open since. Above the space allotted for the purpose are suspended festoons of evergreens and flowers, giving it at once a graceful and striking appearance. Although the show is not on a large scale, it is most interesting and instructive, affording an excellent idea of the agricultural wealth of the colonies and the variety of their products, and in that respect may be regarded as a decided success. The premier position was given to New South Wales, whose exhibits occupied the extreme south, or that part which was first approached by the visitor; and New South Wales in this instance, as she has done in the other sections of the great show, successfully filled the position. The entrance to this special display is formed by an arch of maize in cob, and just inside the arch are hung baskets of different varieties of oranges. Across the front of the arch is the designation 'New South Wales' in large letters, so that the name of the colony is a most prominent object. A Melbourne evening paper took exception to the name appearing so conspicuously, on the ground that it made it appear as if the whole show belonged to New South Wales. However, that none of the other colonies, with the exception of New Zealand, gave any prominence to their names, was no reason that New South Wales should not do so, and, perhaps, in this respect there may be a change on the next occasion. In the New South Wales section there are rows of glass showcases, in which are placed great varieties of wheat, maize, and other grains, the bowls containing the exhibits being beaded in green moss. With the samples of seeds and grain are specimens of the plants which produced them, with preparations showing the uses to which products can be applied, such as flour, meal, and other farinaceous preparations. Most conspicuous are the collective exhibits from the Camden Park Estate and from the farm of Mr. George Crispen, of the Clarence River, both of which attract much attention. The most noteworthy, however, is the wonderful variety of products displayed by Mr. Crispen from his farm of only 23 acres in extent. Sugarcane, cotton, tobacco, arrowroot, maize meal, &c., with preserved fruits in large variety, and a display of vegetables, many of them of immense size, illustrate the productiveness of Mr. Crispen's farm, and the intelligence and industry of its owner. The New South Wales display in this show is the more satisfactory when the severity of the recent season is taken into account. Victoria makes an excellent grain display, and the exhibits from the Dookie Agricultural College are interesting as showing the result of the work which is being done there. In the South Australian compartment grain naturally figures very prominently, but there is an interesting exhibit from the Northern Territory of rice, cassava root (tapioca), tumeric, sugarcane, and cotton. New Zealand, Tasmania, and Queensland are likewise well represented by varieties of their products, although the collections are somewhat on a limited scale. The second show will be held in January next, the correct date of which will be notified later on. The Horticultural Shows will be held on the 15th and 16th of November next, and the second in January, 1889, due notice will be given of the exact date. There will be eight classes, namely: A, pot grown plants: B, cut flowers; C, fruits; D, vegetables; E, pot plants; F, cut flowers; G, fruit; H, vegetables. The last three classes will be open to amateurs only. I would invite special attention of Committee No. XI. to these shows in order that all intended exhibits may be sent to the Exhibition in due time. The nomination of jurors in the various classes has been made by me, and several juries have been constituted and are now at work. The beers, wools, books and printing, photographs, &c., are now being dealt with, and, although no awards have been made, it may be safely inferred that New South Wales will carry off a fair share of the honours. Three hundred copies of Mr. Coghlan's valuable book, 'The Wealth and Progress of New South Wales,' which the Government sent to me for distribution at our court has supplied very valuable information of the industrial resources of the colony, and I have distributed them to all the most prominent persons connected with the Exhibition and the leading representatives of the several colonies for which due acknowledgments have been spontaneously made. I have also caused copies to be forwarded to the agents of the several Royal Mail Steamship Companies to be placed in the libraries of the various ships. I should be glad to be furnished with an additional number of copies. As in my opinion superfluous publicity has been given to a disputed account between contractor Hibble and myself, I think it necessary, but briefly, to state the circumstances connected with this dispute, which are as follows:—About the first week in July last Mr. Hibble tendered for the decoration of the New South Wales Court, which, as being the lowest tender, was accepted by me for the sum of £433. It was stipulated in writing that the work should be done to my entire satisfaction, and that before final payment I should express my approval in writing. Subsequently my superintendent in Melbourne, Mr. Jules Joubert, deemed it necessary to employ Mr. Hibble to carry out some extra work in connection with the Court, which was also to be subjected to my approval. The work was proceeded with, and from time to time, payments were made by me to Mr. Hibble, on account, to the full extent of £800, besides £85 for wages. After the opening of the Exhibition, accounts were sent in to me by Mr. Hibble, amounting in the aggregate to £2327 12s. 8d., many items of which I disputed, and as I thought the particulars were insufficient, I applied for the fullest explanations and to number of workmen employed and other items, as well as copies of pay-sheets, &c. To this day I have not been furnished with the information and particulars I required. I informed Mr. Hibble that I could make no further payments until I had got the work measured and examined by our Colonial Architect, Mr. Barnet. I then returned to Sydney, and applied to the Colonial Secretary for the services of Mr. Barnet, bringing the facts of the case before him. I received a communication from the Colonial Secretary that the Victorian Government had been requested to place their officers at my disposal for the purpose of a thorough investigation. I visited Melbourne again and interviewed the Premier and the Minister for Public Works respectively, both of whom courteously acceded to the request of our Colonial Secretary. I was then introduced by the Minister for Works to the Senior Architect of Victoria, Mr. Beston, and after a conference with that gentleman I returned to Sydney to bring down certain Government officials who could give information as to a large portion of the work done. This circumstance Mr. Hibble was duly apprised of. I again visited Melbourne with some of these gentlemen on the 6th instant; but, to my surprise, on my arrival was served with a writ for the alleged balance due to Mr. Hibble. I was also subsequently served with a writ for alleged libel. Before entering into any negotiation for the investigation and examination of the work by Mr. Beston, the Senior Architect of Victoria, and his officers, I insisted that both writs should be absolutely withdrawn, not that I had the least apprehension as to the result of either; but in order to save time, and not delay the officers I had taken down from Sydney. This was readily assented to by Mr. Hibble, and the writs for the disputed accounts and alleged libel were afterwards unconditionally withdrawn, and the actions abandoned, as will be seen by the following copy of a letter from the solicitors of Mr. Hibble:—'Melbourne, 12th October, 1888. Dear Sir,—We have much pleasure in informing you that our client, Mr. Hibble, has instructed us to withdraw all legal proceedings against you, which are therefore at an end. Yours faithfully, Gunnson and Wallace. R. Burdett Smith, Esq., M.P.' The investigation of the work was then proceeded with, the officers being actively engaged in its examination up to the time of my leaving Melbourne on Friday afternoon last, and who will, I trust, be able to furnish a final report in a short time, so that this vexed question may be finally brought to an end. I thought it to be my duty to the commission and the country to take the position I have taken, not in any spirit of hostility to Mr. Hibble, but to satisfy my own mind that I was acting throughout honourably and conscientiously in the discharge of a responsible public duty.—R. Burdett Smith, Executive Commissioner for New South Wales. Centennial International Exhibition, Melbourne, 1888."

EXPRESSION OF CONFIDENCE IN THE EXECUTIVE COMMISSIONER.

Captain Trouton moved, "That this meeting, having heard the report of the executive commissioner, and the statement of the annoyance to which he has been subjected in the discharge of his duty as therein detailed, begs hereby to express its sympathy with him as executive commissioner, and assure him of their unabated confidence." He said that Mr Smith had exerted himself untiringly to make the New South Wales Court a success, and notwithstanding the arduous nature of his undertaking, had always received his visitors in the most courteous manner. He hoped the meeting would express sympathy with Mr. Smith in the annoyance he had been subjected to, and unabated confidence in him for his management of the court. (Cheers.)

Mr. Charles Moore, in seconding the motion, spoke in terms of praise of Mr. Smith's conduct in connection with the New South Wales Court.

The motion was carried unanimously, and Mr. Smith returned thanks.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

The President read a report showing that on the recommendation of the finance committee applications to the Government for the sums of £1000 and £1000 had been made and granted; a further sum of £200 had also been sanctioned for expenditure by the art loan committee; a sum of £200 had also been granted to the executive commissioner for the purpose of preparing and forwarding to Melbourne some special exhibits; authority had been given for the payment of £65 as remuneration for overtime to junior clerks; authority was also given, at the request of the executive commissioner, to Mr. A. Cumming, assistant secretary, to accompany the commissioner to Melbourne to render assistance, with an allowance of £1 a day as travelling expenses.

The report was adopted.

Some other business having been transacted, the meeting adjourned at about 6 p.m.

SYDNEY DIOCESAN EDUCATIONAL AND BOOK SOCIETY.

The fifty-first annual meeting of the Sydney Diocesan Educational and Book Society was held at the Chapter House, Bathurst-street, yesterday afternoon, under the presidency of the Very Rev. the Dean of Sydney. The attendance was small.

The Rev. J. D. Langley read the annual report for the year ending 31st December, 1887, in which it was stated that, owing to circumstances over which they had no control, the committee found it necessary to postpone the annual meeting to such a late period in the year. It was also stated that the books were balanced and the accounts audited by Mr. Scouller. The contributions to the general fund had been more than sustained, and several new subscribers were enrolled. Grants of Bibles, Prayer-books, and other literature for parish purposes had been made to the extent of £26 5s., and £34 15s. had been transferred to the building fund. During the year the sum of £300 had been paid off the debt upon the business premises in Pitt-street, which left the liability on the 31st December £7384. The rents had amounted to £571 10s. 4d. (including £400 charged to trade account), and the sum of £495 13s. 5d. had been paid for interest. The general depression in business throughout the colony had had its effect upon the trade at the book depôt. The sales for the year reached £3553 as against £3964 in the preceding year. It had been the aim of the committee, so far as the capital allowed, to supply the wants of all their customers, both clergy and laity. On the recommendation of the Ruri-decanal Chapter of West Sydney, a stall for the sale of books was opened on Saturday nights at Belmore Markets, but the amount of business transacted had hardly justified the expense. The committee proposed, however, to continue the experiment a few months longer. After alluding to the death of the late Mr. H. E. A. Allan, the report continued:—"At the last annual meeting the following resolution was adopted: 'That the Diocesan Committee be requested to consider and report as to what assistance (if any) can be given to the formation of ruri-decanal chapter libraries and book-hawking associations, and also to the extension of Sunday-school and parochial libraries.' Your committee regret that, with the limited amount placed at their disposal by the subscribers, they cannot undertake to do more in these directions than deal with each application upon its merits. They are, however, of opinion that it would be most desirable to aid the clergy in forming and maintaining such institutions by grants from the general fund if means for the purpose are available."

The treasurer's statement, which was of a satisfactory nature, was also read by the Rev. J. D. Langley. Amongst other things, it was stated that there was a credit balance of £28 11s. 6d. to the general fund.

The Chairman said that before calling upon the gentleman who had been requested to move the first resolution he would like to make a few remarks. This was not a society which was very well known, nor was it one that seemed to attract very great interest; but it was nevertheless a most useful society, and one which had been doing a very good work in the diocese for many years past. He then gave a brief history of the formation of the society, and said that it existed in a humble form as far back as 1825. He believed this diocesan committee had conferred a great benefit upon the clergy of the Church by the extent of the literature which it had brought into the depository during the last few years. A larger number of subscribers was urgently needed, there being room for very great improvement in this respect. Contributions towards the building account were also required. In conclusion he expressed the hope that the members of the Church of England in this diocese would endeavour to give a larger measure of support to all the Church societies.

The Rev. G. N. Woodd moved,—"That the report now read and the balance-sheet be adopted and printed."

The Rev. A. W. Pain seconded, and after some remarks from the Ven. Archdeacon Gunther, the resolution was agreed to.

The next resolution, moved by the Rev. J. D. Langley, seconded by Mr. Robert Hills, and adopted, was as follows:—"That the officers of the society for the ensuing year be—President, the Primate; committee, the clergy within the diocese who are subscribers, and the following gentlemen in place of those who retire by rotation: Messrs. J. B. Johnston, M. Albery, and G. Wall; joint treasurers and secretaries, the Rev. J. D. Langley and Mr. G. Wall; book trade committee, Revs. Dr. J. C. Corlette, G. W. Woodd, J. G. Southby, M. Archdall, and Mr. G. W. F. Addison."

This terminated the proceedings.

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB AND THE BLIND.

The annual general meeting of subscribers and friends of the New South Wales Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind, was held yesterday afternoon. The attendance was much smaller than at previous annual meetings. The chair was occupied by the Hon. Dr. Renwick, M.L.C. Amongst the other gentlemen who were present were Mr. F. R. Robinson (vice-president), Mr. Robert Hills (hon. treasurer), Dr. W. C. Wilkinson, Rev. W. S. Frackelton, Rev. S. Wilkinson, Mr. H. Hammond, Mr. J. R. Linsley, and Mr. Ellis Robinson (hon. secretary.)

The hon. secretary read the annual report, which showed that the operations of the institution had been of a most satisfactory character. It stated that since the institution was founded in 1861, 296 children (223 deaf and 72 blind) had been received, and of these upwards of 200 had been educated and sent out into the world to earn their own living. The majority of them were now occupying positions of usefulness, and honourably fighting the stern battle of life, thus testifying to the great benefits of the education and training bestowed upon them by the institution. On September 30, 1887, there were in attendance at the institution 40 males who were deaf and dumb and 26 females who were in a similar condition; there had been admitted during the year 6 males and 3 females; there had been discharged during that period 5 males and 8 females; and there were remaining in the institution on September 30th last 41 males and 21 females who were deaf and dumb. The number of blind pupils who were in attendance on September 30th, 1887, was 19, 13 being males and 6 females. The number of blind pupils admitted during the year was 4—1 male and 3 females. The number of blind pupils discharged during the same period was 5—2 males and 3 females. There were in the institution on September 30th last 18 blind pupils—12 males, and 6 females. The total number of pupils in the institution 12 months ago was 85, now there were 80. Of those who had left, six had returned Queensland, 10 to their friends in this colony, and one to India. The latter, a Hindoo girl, deaf and dumb, was brought here for the purpose of being educated, and of returning to India to instruct those similarly afflicted among her own people; but after staying here nearly two years it was found impossible, owing to the weakness of her intellect, to attain the object for which she was received. The health of the children on the whole had been very good, only one or two serious cases of illness having occurred. The institution was now perfectly free from sickness of any kind. The receipts on general fund account, including a balance of £66 9s. 8d. from last year, amounted to £5222 10s. 1d., and the expenditure, including a transfer to building fund account of £1000, to £5198 11s. 7d., leaving a balance of £23 18s. 6d. to be carried forward. During the year a further instalment of £1726 16s. 3d. had been received from the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Roberts, and £800 from that of the late Thomas Walker, of Yarralla, Concord; both these amounts had been added to the Perpetual Subscribers' Fund, the income only being used. Another amount was £1620 19s., from the estate of the late William Spittles, whose will directed that the principal be invested and the interest devoted annually to the purchase of prizes for the blind pupils. Other legacies received were:—£50 bequeathed by the late Mrs. Mary Kellett, of 108, Dowling-street, Paddington; £45 by the late Michael Courtenay, of Grenfell; £42 3s. 4d. by the late Mrs. A. A. Brown, of Rose-street, Darlington; £24 15s. by the late James Terry, a blind man, of Scone; and £9 13s. 1d. by the late James M'Donald, a deaf and dumb. A legacy of £200 had also been left to the institution by the late William Roberts, of Penrith, contingent, however, on the sale of a certain 500 acres of land at South Creek for the sum of £3500. The legacy, mentioned in the last report, of 40 Gas Company's shares from the late Miss Mary L. Tulloch, realised £632 8s. 1d. Notwithstanding the fact that financial matters in many parts of the colony had not regained a buoyant condition, it was very gratifying to be able to report that the income from subscriptions had been well maintained, the amount received being £11 1s. more than that of the previous year. The assistant-secretary had again visited some of the principal towns with very satisfactory results, having collected £231 10s. 3d. in 16 days, besides finding out the existence of several afflicted children, some of whom would probably be received shortly. Owing to the present disturbed condition of affairs the annual collection of subscriptions in the Newcastle district had to be omitted, entailing a loss to the institution of at least £50. The interest received amounted to £1335 11s. 11d., the principal portion of which was from the investments of the handsome legacy of the late Mrs. Mary Roberts. The Codrington-street frontage had been greatly improved by the erection of a dwarf wall and iron railings somewhat similar to those in the front of the institution. In order to provide healthy recreation for the girls, a lawn tennis ground had been formed and fenced, and would soon be ready for use. Other improvements had been effected. On the urgent recommendation of the architects (Messrs. A. L. and G. M'Credie), it had been decided to renovate the exterior of the buildings which at present had a very dirty and discoloured appearance. The proficiency reports furnished to the board by the superintendent (Mr. Watson) gave very encouraging accounts of the progress made by the pupils. In addition to the ordinary education, some of the pupils, both blind and deaf, were being taught to manipulate the Remington type-writer, and a few of them had attained considerable proficiency with the machine. The warmest thanks of the members were due to the Rev. A. R. Rivers for attending at the institution gratuitously for several months and teaching the blind children to sing; to Mr. Rivers Allpress for his kindness in undertaking to give lessons on the violin to two of the blind pupils; to Miss England for generously continuing her services as hon. teacher of drawing; to Mrs. Sharp for visiting the institution and reading to the blind; to Mrs. Doubleday for many valuable lessons in various kinds of fancy needlework; to the Hon. Sir John and Lady Hay for their annual picnic to Rose Bay, and for numerous presents given to the pupils; to Dr. W. C. Wilkinson, hon. physician, Dr. Thomas Dixon, hon. aurist and oculist, and Mr. S. Chaim, hon. dentist, for their kind and skilful attention to the pupils whenever required; and especially to the members of the ladies' visiting committee for their careful and constant supervision of the domestic arrangements. The drill instructor still continued to give lessons in calisthenics with beneficial results. Two afternoons each week were devoted to giving the elder boys an insight into various trades, which would doubtless be of considerable benefit to them when they left school. The deaf boys were taught carpentry by a teacher from the Sydney Technical College, and the blind boys instructed in basketmaking, chair-caning, netting, and halter-making. The girls learnt plain and fancy needlework, samples of which were now being shown at the Women's Industrial Exhibition, as well as specimens of typewriting and embossed writing. For the use of the blind pupils, a valuable consignment of embossed books (Braille type) had been imported from England. Early in the year an American organ was obtained with a view of teaching some of the blind the use of that instrument, so as to qualify them for positions as organists, and several of the pupils were now regularly receiving lessons on it. At the invitation of the Natural History Association, a number of the elder pupils, accompanied by the superintendent and other officers, had joined in the outings of that society, and had been much interested and benefited thereby. To meet the requirements of the articulation class, which had considerably increased in numbers since last report, it had been decided to appoint another pupil teacher, to be trained for this particular department. The board desired it to be known throughout the land that ample accommodation existed for more inmates, and that poverty was no bar to a child's admission.

The Hon. Treasurer read the balance-sheet of the general fund, building fund, perpetual subscribers' fund, organ fund, and William Spittles' legacy accounts.

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. H. Hammond, it was resolved,—"That the report be now adopted, and, together with the balance-sheets, be printed for circulation."

On the motion of Mr. Robert Hills, seconded by Mr. Baldersen, it was resolved,—"That the thanks of this meeting are hereby given to the Government and Parliament for the annual donation of £450 in aid of the funds of the institution."

The Rev. S. Wilkinson moved, the Rev. W. S. Frackelton seconded, and it was resolved,—"That the undermentioned gentlemen be members of the board of management for the ensuing year:—President, the Hon. Dr. Renwick, M.L.C.; vice-presidents, Mr. F. R. Robinson, J.P., and Mr. James Henry; hon. treasurer, Mr. Robert Hills; hon. secretary, Mr. Ellis Robinson; directors, Mr. John H. Goodlet, J.P., Mr. W. A. Hutchinson, Mr. George F. Wise, Mr. Henry C. Fraser, and Mr. E. Saber; and that the following do constitute the medical staff: Hon. consulting physician, the Hon. Dr. Renwick, M.L.C.; hon. physician, Dr. W. C. Wilkinson; hon. surist and oculist, Dr. Thomas Dixson."

On the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. F. R. Robinson, rule 2 was amended so as to provide that "every person who shall raise or who has raised for the institution, by collection or otherwise, £25 within one year, or £50 in all, shall be a life member."

The audience were then afforded an opportunity of judging of the nature of the training carried on in the institution, and the degree of success which had been attained in regard to the instruction of the pupils. Some of the children sang, others played on the piano, others read aloud, others were drilled in articulation; and others again were put through a series of exercises with dumb-bells. A class was also examined in geography, history, arithmetic, and other subjects.

AUSTRALIAN NATIVES' ASSOCIATION.

The fortnightly meeting of the Sydney branch of this association was held at the Economic Association Rooms last night. Mr. B. B. Nicoll, president of the association, occupied the chair, and there was a larger attendance than usual. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A letter was read by the secretary from a member of the society at Camden. In this letter the writer complained that according to the rules the object of the society was—firstly a benefit purpose, and secondly a patriotic and national purpose. The second he considered should be first. The general opinion of the meeting was that the rules had been misconceived, and it was ordered that the letter be forwarded to the Board of Directors. Mr. Garten proposed, and Mr. M'Mahon seconded,—"That the night of meeting be changed to the second and fourth Wednesday in each month." The motion was carried. Mr. Graham was elected a member of the committee, and Mr. Hughes a member of the association. Mr. Garten opened a debate in the affirmative, "That postage should be paid on all newspapers sent through the post." He stated that as the newspapers were purely commercial concerns they should pay for their carriage just the same as any other commercial concern would. Mr. O. Williams could not agree with the remarks of the previous speaker, and dwelt upon the vast benefits the metropolitan papers conferred upon the people in the interior of the country. Some other members having spoken on the question the debate was adjourned.

UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY.

A meeting of the Senate of Sydney University was held yesterday at the rooms of the Royal Society. There were present—The Chancellor (the Hon. Sir William M. Manning), the Vice-Chancellor (Dr. H. N. MacLaurin), Mr. Thos. Butler, Professor Gurney, the Hon. Sir John Hay, Sir Patrick A. Jennings, Dr. P. Sydney Jones, Professor Liversidge, the Hon. William Macleay, Mr. H. C. Russell, Professor Scott, Professor Stephens, and Professor Stuart. A report was received from the University extension lectures committee, recommending the adoption of Mr. Wylie's suggestion, that Mr. J. H. P. Murray should be appointed to deliver the remainder of the lectures in his course of political economy for Michaelmas term in consequence of his being unavoidably called away to England. The report was adopted. The Senate discussed at great length the application which had been received from Professor Stephens and Dr. Haswell for increased accommodation for the natural history and biological departments, together with a memorandum from the Chancellor on the subject, and a second communication from Professor Stephens and Dr. Haswell, having reference to the Chancellor's memorandum. The consideration of the question was ultimately postponed until the next meeting, and as it appeared that there might be difficulty in obtaining sufficient funds for the erection of a building of the character asked for, Professor Stephens was requested to have plans prepared showing how sufficient temporary accommodation could be provided by rearranging the rooms at present used, and either erecting two additional lecture rooms or using the temporary medical school buildings for laboratory purposes. Professor Stuart stated that, in consequence of the decision of the last meeting of the Senate to the effect that the first year in arts should be retained as an introduction to the medical curriculum, he withdrew the report of the faculty of medicine recommending an amended medical curriculum. The remaining business was postponed.

LOCAL OPTION MEETING AT BALMAIN.

A public meeting was held at the Temperance Hall last night, under the auspices of the Balmain Local Option League. There were about 200 persons present. Mr. F. J. Smith, M.L.A., occupied the chair, and on the platform were J. Garrard, J. S. Hawthorne, and A. Hutchison, M.L.As., the Rev. George Grimm, Messrs. Clark, N. B. Downing, and others.

The Chairman expressed his gratification at having been requested to preside. He had no doubt it was well-known to the majority of them that he was not a total abstainer, but having read a great deal of the principles of local option he knew that the cause was a good one, and as far as he himself was concerned he would not care if there were no public-houses. He then called upon the Rev. George Grimm to move the first resolution.

The Rev. George Grimm said he had much pleasure in moving the first resolution.—"That, in the opinion of this meeting, the principle of local option should be applied to the renewal of publicans' licenses." He thought it a most important question. The evils of the liquor traffic were found to break out in many undesirable forms. First, crime, which necessitated the building of gaols and the maintaining of a large number of police. It brought about disease, accidents, which filled the hospitals and infirmaries, and it broke out in insanity, requiring the erection of lunatic asylums, and in the form of pauperism, which already hung round the neck of England like a millstone. This state of things was not desired in New South Wales. Some people said, "Why don't you leave this question of supply and demand the same as butchers and bakers?" But in this case it would be different, for people must have the necessaries; but drinking was a habit which, when acquired, degraded the community.

Captain Trouton seconded the resolution. He said first of all he would inform them that he was not a teetotaller himself, but he had had opportunities of judging of the effect of intemperance in many parts of the world. He had seen as far back as 1852, at the Victorian diggings, when the Government totally prohibited grog from going on to the goldfields, that the miners were a jolly happy lot of fellows until the sly-grog sellers started. He remained long enough to see the evil effects of drink, and he could tell them something that would perhaps surprise them. He had seen a notice on a church door in Western Australia warning publicans not to supply grog, and if it was proved that a man got drunk at a certain hotel it would be closed next day; and he could assure them that they were an agreeable and sensible lot of people. He knew that there were publichouses not far from his own place where he and his wife and children were obliged to hear men who could scarcely articulate, but who were supposed to be singing, and he could assure them that the temperance ship was the best ship. He believed in the principle of local option, and had much pleasure in supporting the resolution.

The resolution was supported by Messrs. J. Garrard and J. S. Hawthorne, Ma.L.A., and was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

A second resolution, to the effect that the chairman be authorised to sign a petition to the House of Assembly, praying that effect be given to the principle of local option by legislative enactment, was proposed by Mr. N. B. Downing, who spoke at length upon the necessity of local option.

Alderman G. Clune seconded the motion, which was put and carried unanimously.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the proceedings.

PROTECTION AND POLITICAL REFORM LEAGUE.

The Protection and Political Reform League of New South Wales held its fortnightly meeting at the Temperance Hall last evening; Mr. R. Scott Ross, the president, in the chair. Several new members were elected. Correspondence was read from the following places:—Cobar, Braidwood (where a new league is being formed), Sunny Corner, Blayney, Cowra, Burrawong, Gundaroo, Carcoar, Bourke, St. Leonards (where a protection league is in course of formation), Glen Innes, Tenterfield, &c. The secretary, Mr. Lascombe, informed the league that he had received letters from different parts of the colony asking for pamphlets, books, and general information on the subject of protection. The league gave authority to the secretary to carry out the wishes of the various correspondents, especially to forward "The Curse of Cobden," and the latest pamphlets published by this league. Mr. J. Redgate referred to the rise in the price of bread in New South Wales, which he said appeared to him extraordinary in a free trade colony, whose bread had already for years past been at a higher price than that of bread in the protection colony of Victoria. A report of the various protection movements throughout the colony was then read. The treasurer, Mr. C. O. Waldow, brought up his quarterly report, which was adopted.

Under the auspices of the New South Wales Local Option League, a public meeting was held in the Town Hall, Liverpool, on Saturday evening last, there being a fairly large attendance. The chair was occupied by the Mayor (Mr. R. G. Bull), and on the platform were several well-known gentlemen. Letters regretting their absence, and expressing full sympathy with the objects of the league, and a willingness to extend the local option principle to the entire traffic in drink, were read from Messrs. John Nobbs and David Buchanan, M.s.L.A. The chairman explained the objects of the meeting, which he said had his warm approval. There were far too many public-houses in existence, and the complete success of the league could not fail to be of advantage to the community. Addresses were delivered by the Rev. Mr. Scott, and Messrs. G. D. Clark, and N. B. Downing, and at the close of the meeting a number of persons gave in their names as members of the league.

A meeting of the Protection Trademark and Exchange Association was held at Her Majesty's Hotel last evening, under the presidency of Mr. Hogben. The secretary was instructed to look out for an office and exchange forthwith. A committee of three was formed for the purpose of making by-laws. It was also resolved that a test case be at once prepared, in pursuance of the notices and advertisements published.

A meeting of the committee appointed to organise feasts and entertainments for the inmates of the destitute asylums was held at Mr. Quong Tart's Tearooms, Sydney Arcade, last evening. Several donations were announced. It was reported that the feast at Newington last Saturday was a very great success in every possible way. Offers of assistance from the Austral and Old Black Joe Minstrels were received.

A meeting of the members of the Natural History Association was held last evening at the School of Arts, Pitt-street. There was a fairly large attendance, and several interesting exhibits were shown and explained. A display of Australian wild flowers was made by Mr. Whitelegge, and Mr. Lea presented a very fine specimen of star fish (asterter discasus), which is the seventh one that has been found in the waters of Port Jackson. Mr. Rohu exhibited several members of the lizard family, also a baby crocodile and a large scorpion, all preserved in spirits. Considerable interest was manifested in the various collections, and altogether a pleasant and instructive evening was spent.

ON THE EVE OF PROTECTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir—Few intelligent men can possibly doubt that when an appeal to the country takes place the verdict will be a clear and emphatic condemnation of our present fiscal system, and the return of such a majority of protectionists as will result in the establishment of a protectionist Government, and the immediate enactment of that policy as the law of New South Wales. This I believe, with almost the entire country, to be a certainty which nothing but wilful blindness can pretend to deny. Well then, having for long years past, in almost every district of the country, in the press and in the Parliament, upheld this great cause, I would like, with your permission, to state, as shortly as possible, what I conceive will be the results of our triumph, because it would be the merest affectation on the part of any one to pretend ignorance of the impending certainty, or to fail to believe that protection will be the law of the land within little better than a year from this date. I do not make this statement, you may rely upon it, without a full knowledge of the public feeling of the country, and, indeed, it is so notorious that almost every man you meet, either in town or country, gives a ready and hearty acquiescence to the fact here stated. But, be this as it may, the first fruits of protection will be seen in a largely augmented revenue; in the influx of capital from all quarters; in the establishment of extensive factories in every district in the country; in the steady and constant occupation of all mechanical trades; in the increase of population; in the circulation of immense sums of money amongst ourselves, which previously went away from us; in the increased contentment and happiness of the people, from the fact that they will see a prospect for their sons in teaching them a mechanical trade with the certainty of constant and steady occupation at it; in the comfort and prosperity of our farmers and fruitgrowers, and all workers on the land, in seeing their own market strictly secured to themselves, with no fear of their being swamped by foreign importations; in the determined purpose of the Government in fostering and protecting and warming into life and vigour and stalwart growth every conceivable industry that has a chance of profitable existence. Under this bountiful and beneficent policy a railway carriage, truck, or locomotive will never be seen on any of our railways that is not made here—no piece of machinery will ever be seen in the country that is not made here—not a carriage, dray, or buggy will traverse the country that is not manufactured in it—not a piece of furniture in any of our houses that has not employed our own mechanics to make—not a blanket on our beds, hat on our heads, boot or shoe on our feet, clothing on our backs, but has given employment to our own people in the manufacture of—not a saddle, bridle, or set of harness to be seen that has not put money in the pockets of our own mechanics in making; and when all those varied articles have been supplied by the labour of our own people, the money that pays for them as well as the articles themselves remain with us, and both constitute national wealth. I put it to the most intelligent free trader living whether such a policy as this is not preferable to leaving our own people in idleness and poverty by getting all this work done by foreign mechanics, and paying them with the money that should have kept our own mechanics in comfort and affluence. No wonder that protection is the prevailing policy of the world, and is likely to remain so as long as it lasts. At the present moment, let the press say what it likes, there is great distress and stagnation in New South Wales. In fact, it is sheer impertinence to speak otherwise with the standing proof of that distress and stagnation staring us constantly in the face, in the form of thousands of unemployed men pensioned on the State to save them from dying of starvation. Let no one speak of the prosperity of New South Wales while this fact is in existence. It is one thing having unemployed men, but it is another, and a very different, thing when the State is compelled to give them work to save them from starvation. The country where such a thing exists is in a far worse state than any protectionist has ever alleged against it. We will, however, very soon see whether the great and true principle of protection will improve the position of this country. It may be that I have not much reputation to lose, but I stake all I have in this statement—that one year of protection will infuse such life and vigour into every department of industry, will stimulate enterprise to the extent of absorbing far more idle, unemployed hands, than we are burdened with at present, and for some years back will fill the coffers of our Exchequer to overflowing, and carry high hope to innumerable honest hearts, which have long been sinking and perishing under the pressure of absolute despair.

I am, &c.,

October 13. DAVID BUCHANAN.

THE NEWCASTLE COLLIERIES STRIKE.

THE WALLSEND RIOTS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

Joseph Halliday (31), Albert Brunton (17), William Thornton (42), John Fitzsimmons, alias the Bruiser, alias John Simon Sincox (18), George Lunn (31), and John Griffiths (23) were brought up before the Newcastle Bench (Mr. J. Mair, P.M., and Mr. D. Ludlow, J.P.) this morning, charged that, with divers other persons, to the number of several hundreds, they did unlawfully and riotously assemble to disturb the public peace on the 12th instant, at Wallsend, and did then and there make a great riot and disturbance, to the terror and alarm of her Majesty's subjects. The court was densely crowded with miners and friends of the accused. Inspector Brennan prosecuted, Mr. Sparke appeared for the defence, and Mr. James Curley, miners' general secretary, was present to watch the case.

Mr. Sparke took objection to having proceedings taken at Newcastle instead of at Wallsend. Inspector Brennan explained that there would not be sufficient accommodation for a large number of prisoners at Wallsend when on remand for any length of time. The objection was overruled by the Bench.

Sergeant Grennan, of Wallsend, proved the arrest of Griffiths yesterday afternoon on the Wallsend-road, and of the other prisoners at their residences at Lambton between 1 and 3 this morning, and afterwards conveyed the five arrested in a vehicle to the military camp, and from thence this morning by special train to Newcastle. When arrested Griffiths said he was only singing. Halliday said he wished he had known Sergeant Grennan was coming; he would not have been there. Brunton, Thornton, and Fitzsimmons made no reply. Lunn said he had not been there a second when he was collared. Sergeant Grennan swore that there was a riot on the date named. Inspector Brennan applied for a remand of prisoners for eight days. Mr. Sparke opposed the remand, on the grounds that it was unnecessary and a great hardship to his clients. Inspector Brennan said several of the witnesses were so severely injured as not to be able to attend. Mr. Sparke applied for bail, but Mr. Brennan strongly objected. There were grave reasons which compelled him to oppose bail. The Bench declined, therefore, to grant it, and remanded all for eight days.

In regard to the Wallsend tunnels, this morning all is quiet so far. Mr. Humphreys has declined to leave his house for the colliery again, and this will inconvenience Mr. Neilson, and hinder the work slightly, but it will gratify a large body of miners.

The following donations were received by Mr. James Curley, on Saturday:—£500 from the Amalgamated Miners' Association, Victoria; £50 from the Adelaide Trades and Labour Council, £170 8s. from the Illawarra miners, £100 from the Coal Lumpers' Union, Sydney; £18 13s. from the Sydney Bulletin. Total, £839 1s. The donation from the A. M. A., Victoria, makes £1000 received from that Association.

With regard to the conference between masters and miners, it is an open secret that an agreement has been drawn up which has been laid before both parties, and which has been most favourably received in every clause but one, the dispute upon which is of a technical character, but which will in all likelihood be terminated before the conference is held.

The men on remand for the alleged riot on Saturday, at Wallsend, were conveyed by train this afternoon to Maitland. An immense crowd surrounded the Court-house, and escorted them to the train. The wives, sisters, and sweethearts of the accused cried bitterly as the train passed out of sight. The miners cheered their mates, but no disturbance occurred. At 4 o'clock a special train, with Inspector Brennan and a body of police, and Colonel Spalding and other officers, with about 20 artillery, proceeded with provisions, &c., to the Wallsend tunnels. On reaching there they found about 2000 people gathered near the company's works, hooihooihing the non-unionists as they occasionally appeared; but as Mr. Neilson and the officials had decided to remain in camp, the crowd would have no opportunity of molesting them. Mr. Neilson's family are staying now in Newcastle. The work of filling small coal is going on steadily. An accident happened to the winding gear in the morning, but it was remedied before 12 o'clock.

The s.s. Saxonia is to leave at daylight with 400 tons tons of small coal from Wallsend, the Saxonia's crew having trimmed it. It is expected that the s.s. Fijian will be the next boat for Wallsend coal.

The latest news from Wallsend states that everything is quiet. The only vessels now at the cranes are the Phœbe, loading East Lambton coal at No. 6, and the Slieve Bawn, taking in Great Northern coal at No. 2. The s.s. Tarsmung will load Great Northern coal next. The Union s.s. Waihora will take in 1800 tons of Stockton coal, and will commence loading at daylight.

The Stockton miners met this afternoon. While agreeing to cut coal they are still resolved to knock off directly they find that non-union men are employed in trimming coal. At a meeting to-night of the Union Coal Trimmers, a letter was received from the Boss Coal Trimmers, stating that they could not consider the question of adopting the union rules till after the conference between the masters and miners on Saturday. Meantime it was announced at the meeting to-night that the captains of three large vessels now in port had promised that none but union men should trim coal in their ships. At the West Wallsend mine work is progressing favourably. There are no signs of a disturbance.

More arrests are expected to be made of men accused of rioting at Wallsend. Warrants are out, but the parties have evaded arrest up to the present.

CASUALTIES.

At about 9 o'clock last night a fire broke out at the chemical works of Messrs. Elliott Brothers, Terry-street, Balmain. A shed about 20ft. x 60ft., used as a cork-cutting room, was severely damaged by the flames; and a building of similar dimensions used as a seed-mill, and containing about 15 tons of seed, was damaged by fire, water, and smoke. The flames, whose origin are at present involved in mystery, were extinguished by the Balmain Volunteer Fire Company, assisted by the Metropolitan Fire Brigade. Both the buildings and their contents were insured in the South British Fire Office, but to what amount could not be ascertained.

A lad named William Priddy, 14 years of age, residing in Booth-street, Balmain, was admitted to the Sydney Hospital yesterday, suffering from a fracture of the right radius, and an injury to the head. The patient also exhibited symptoms of cerebral concussion. The injuries were caused through the boy falling a distance of about 16ft. through a balcony at Messrs. Dunlop's stationery warehouse, No. 46, York-street.

A labourer named Sydney Lakin, 30 years of age, residing at No. 26, Hutchison-street, Surry Hills, was extinguishing a fire in a chimney on Saturday, when his clothing became ignited, and before the blaze could be effectually smothered he was severely burnt on the back, chest, and arms. He was taken to the Sydney Hospital for treatment.

An engine driver named Richard Alexander, 31 years of age, whilst pursuing his avocation yesterday afternoon, had occasion to examine a safety valve of the boiler, and in order to properly do so he struck a match to light a candle. The flame immediately came into contact with a quantity of escaped gas, and a slight explosion occurred, by which Alexander received some severe burns on the face and left hand, which were subsequently dressed at the Sydney Hospital.

Henry Hall, 13 years of age, a schoolboy, was standing on some iron railings that surround the pedestal of the statue of the Prince Consort, in Hyde Park, yesterday, watching the eight-hour procession, when his foot slipped and he fell to the ground, receiving a fracture of the right leg above the ankle. He was taken to the Sydney Hospital, where his injury was attended to by Dr. Henry.

At an early hour yesterday morning a fire broke out in the dwelling-house of Mrs. Mary Nolan, in Foster-street, Leichhardt. The building, which was built of weather-boards, consisted of four rooms, two of which, together with their contents, were entirely burned out. The remaining two apartments were also severely damaged by fire, and the furniture suffered considerably by removal. The flames were extinguished by the Leichhardt Volunteer Fire Company, assisted by the Metropolitan Fire Brigade. The origin of the fire is at present unknown, but inquiries are being made.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

A flower service was held on Sunday last at Marrickville, in the parish church of St. Clements. The incumbent, the Rev. E. H. Wright, preached the sermon, and the Rev. F. W. Addams assisted in the service. During the singing of a hymn the flowers were collected by a number of little girls, and by them delivered to the clergy, who placed them on the communion table. The church, which was prettily decorated, was crowded to excess. The hymns used were original, having been composed for the occasion by the Rev. E. H. Wright.

Cocoa Dunkums are cautioned against those cocoas called pure, but which contain about 4 per cent. of added alkali, &c. As an absolutely pure, guaranteed, and delicious strength-sustaining beverage, Cadbury's Cocoa stands unrivalled.—(Advr.)

SUPPOSED ATTEMPT TO ROB A BANK AT BALMAIN.

About half-past 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon an occurrence which is believed to have been a deliberate attempt at robbery took place at a branch of the English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered Bank, situated in Darling-street, Balmain. At the time mentioned a man about 30 years of age entered the bank and then quickly closed and locked the two outer doors after him, taking the key out of the lock. The accountant (Mr. Calonel), who observed the stranger's actions, proceeded towards the doorway, with the intention of opening one of the inner swing doors, and was met by the man, who covered him with a revolver, at the same time telling him to go back or he would put a bullet through him. The affair so far had been conducted so quietly that the manager (Mr. Druce), who was in an adjoining room, was not aroused until the would-be robber, on looking through the glass door that divided the two compartments, discovered the manager, and at once presented his revolver at him, and told him to throw up his hands, otherwise he would shoot him. Mr. Druce disregarded the threat, and picking up a chair, which he used as a kind of guard, advanced to the doorway, near to where the man stood. At this juncture a customer of the bank, who had been transacting some business with the accountant when the man entered, by some means managed to make his escape from the room, and on getting into the street raised an alarm of "murder." The man, on hearing the calls made for assistance outside the building, at once decamped, but the alarm having been heard by several persons in the vicinity, they went in pursuit of the runaway, who was captured and taken to the Balmain watchhouse. On being charged he gave the name of John Charles De Vere, and intimated that he had only recently arrived from Queensland. When searched a British Bulldog revolver, loaded in every chamber, was found upon him. He will probably be brought up before the Court to-day.

LATE MINING.

The manager of the Associated Lithgow Collieries informs us that the greatest inconvenience has been experienced at Lithgow during the past week, owing to the failure of the Government to supply a sufficient number of trucks. On Friday, he says, the men had to stand idle for half a day on account of there being no trucks available.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The yield of gold from the Bendigo field for the month of September was 3500oz. in excess of the yield for the corresponding month of last year. The banks purchased 17,883oz., being 3543oz. more than for the September of the previous year. The return for last month is 2606oz. more than any preceding month this year.

The market opened this morning with a strong demand for the principal silver-mining companies. Sales were readily effected at rising prices. Block 14, British Broken, Block 10, and Junction were most dealt in, and all closed at a good advance upon Saturday's prices. South Centrals, Victoria Cross, and Round Hills also sold that improved rates. There is no change in Broken Hill Proprietary or Cordillera Hill, but an improved market for Te Aroha, Commodore, and Vanderbilt. Rather more was done in tin companies' shares. Brothers No. 1 closed higher. A moderate business was done in gold companies. Madame Berry, Long Tunnel Extended, North Johnson's, and Baker's Creek having support at advanced prices.

BRISBANE, Monday.

A very rich vein of gold has been struck in the Shamrock claim, Cloncurry, the stone being studded with coarse gold. A rich leader has also been discovered in No. 1 South Rose and Thistle. Several rich surface stones have been found recently. A Charters Towers telegram states that another reef has been found in the Day Dawn Freehold, after sinking 30ft. down from the last stone. The stone is said to be very good.

Sales: Broken Hill, £256 10s., £258; Block 14, 67s., 72s.; Junction, 28s. 6d., 32s.; South, paid, 52s. 6d., 53s.; British Broken, 47s. 52s.; Centrals, paid, 14s., 14s. 6d.; Block 10, 27s., 30s.; Cordillera, 22s. 6d.; Cosmopolitan, 12s.; Lewis' Ponds, 9s. 3d., 9s. 9d.; New North Brokens, 2s. 6d., 2s6. ; Pinnacle Tribute, 14s., 15s.; Rising Sun, 3s., 3s. 3d.; Round Hill, 54s., 57s.; Victoria Cross, 6s. 9d., 7s.; Madame Berry, £9 10s., £9 15s.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

At the adjourned extraordinary general meeting of the Mount Euriowie Company the report of the committee recommending the raising of increased capital by the issue of new shares was carried unanimously. The report regarding the machinery showed that it cost £14,000, but to perfect the concentrating machinery the cost would be another £800. With the issue of new shares more than sufficient capital would be raised.

Share Report.—Sales: Brokens, cum dividend, £259, £256, £256 10s.; Block 14, cum call, at £3 6s., £3 11s. 9d.; South, paid, £2 12s. 6d., £2 11s.; British, £2 7s., £2 10s., £2 7s. 6d.; Junction, £1 9s 6d., £1 12s., £1 10s.; Block 10, at £1 6s. 6d., £1 9s 3d., £1 9s. 6d., £1 8s. 3d.; North, £1 6s., £1 7s. 6d., £1 6s. 3d.; Tribute (Old) paid, 14s.; Central, paid, 12s. 6d.; Rocks, 11s.; Gipsy, 8s. 9d. to 9s.; Vanderbilt, 8s. 9d. to 9s.; Central, contributing, new issue, 8s. 6d.; Tribute, new contributing, 8s. 6d.; Crosses, 6s. 6d.; Evelsen, 5s. 6d.; Pioneer, 4s. 6d., 4s. 4½d.; Lead, 3s. 9d.; Sun, 3s.; Nine-mile, paid, 2s. 6d.; King, 2s.; Globe, contributing, 1s. 9d.; Bonanza, 1s.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

Mr. Forwood, of Melbourne, has just returned from a visit to the Princess Midas mine, Purnamoota. He has with him a collection of specimens of stone taken from the bottom of a shallow shaft which has been sunk upon the reef. He has selected them with the view of having them tested for his own information. They are not sensational specimens. Specks of gold are to be seen, but they are not rich in comparison with others that have been brought from the claim. The quartz carried veins of gossan. This is stained with copper. A short time ago 2 cwt. of quartz, sent to Melbourne to be treated, gave the handsome return of 78oz. 11dwt. 22gr. of gold to the ton of the value of £4 2s. 6d. per oz. The reef is about 6ft. wide, and on the surface are slugs of copper of a richness that will, it is expected, go far to help to pay the cost of working the claim. Mr. Forwood, however, has expressed the hope that in time the copper will cut out and leave the gold free. Great heaps of stone are ready for despatch, and soon as 10 tons are raised it will be sent to Melbourne to be tested. If the results are favourable, machinery for treating the stone will be erected on the ground.

The British B. H. block have a splendid show of carbonate lead ore in the 224ft. level. In No. 4 shaft a crosscut has been put in west for 70ft., and no hanging wall is yet met with. It has cut grand ore. All the ore, which assays high for silver and lead at this distance, has been cut in 10 days by two shifts of two men each. In the main shaft the galena lode is improving very much in appearance, and the water is also increasing. The shaft is now sunk in the lode 24ft., and there is no sign of the footwall yet to be seen. Other portions of the mine are working well.

DEEPWATER, Monday.

The mine manager of the Castlereagh Proprietary reports having raised a great quantity of valuable ore last week. The lode has been opened and proved for 15 chains. The tunnel will be ready next week for driving and crosscutting. The lode is 20 feet wide here, with parallel veins 2 and 3 ft. thick. It is intended to sink the main shaft for the deeper level. The general outlook is good. Seven distinct lodes are now opened on the property, all containing silver.

TUMUT, Monday.

The return of an assay by the Department of Mines, from No. 1 lode at Yarrangobilly, taken from the 20ft. level, consisting of sulphide and carbonate of lead and stained copper, yielded 93oz. 10dwt. 21gr. of silver and a little gold to the ton. The prospectors are driving on the lode at the 45ft. level. The ore is still improving.

ALBURY CIRCUIT COURT.

(From our correspondent.)

ALBURY, Monday.

At the Albury Circuit Court to-day, before Mr. Justice Windeyer, Frederick Becker, a confines in gaol, was indicted for maliciously assaulting one of the gaol warders. Becker, whilst stacking firewood in the gaol yard, picked up a billet and knocked the warder down, cutting his head open, and whilst the warder was unconscious he attempted to repeat the blow, but was prevented by the other prisoners. Becker, who pretended imbecility, was convicted and sentenced to 14 years' penal servitude. The Judge passed a high encomium on the conduct of the other prisoners who rescued the warder. Thomas Stead pleaded guilty to attempting suicide, but urged that domestic troubles had induced him to the rash act. He was discharged on entering into his own recognisances to come up for judgment if called on. James M'Donald, for assault with intent to rob, was sentenced to three years' hard labour. Thomas Jones, a little boy, charged with shooting a little girl named Alice Parnaby, was acquitted, the evidence showing that the affair was not intentional. The only civil case for trial was that of James Camplin v. Angus M'Nab. Plaintiff claimed £1000 damages for injuries to plaintiff's wife at Corowa above last year, when it was alleged she was run over by a horse belonging to defendant. The wife had since died. The medical evidence showed death was not caused by the accident, and several witnesses also deposed that the horse which ran over Mrs. Camplin was not defendant's. The jury found for defendant.

TRADES MOVEMENTS.

We are informed that the special meeting of master carpenters and joiners referred to in yesterday's issue will be held at the Builders and Contractors' Exchange on Wednesday. It was intended to have held the meeting yesterday, but before the members had left the meeting on Saturday it was decided that Wednesday was the more preferable date.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

Racing men are reminded that nominations for the October meeting of the Canterbury Park Race Club, to be held on the 27th instant, close at 4 p.m. to-day. The events that need attention are as under:—Flying Handicap of 75 sovs., 6 furlongs and 50 yards; Park Stakes, a handicap of 75 sovs., for all horses that have never won an advertised prize of the value of 45 sovs. at the time of running, 7 furlongs; Disposal Stakes of 50 sovs., for three-year-olds and upwards, weight for age, winner to be sold for 75 sovs., selling allowances, 6 furlongs; October Handicap, of 100 sovs., 1 mile and a furlong; Prince of Wales Stakes, of 100 sovs., for three-years-olds and upwards, w. f. a., winner to be sold for 100 sovs., selling allowances, 7 furlongs; and Stewards' Mile, a welter handicap of 75 sovs., lowest weight 8st. 7lb. 1 mile. It should not be forgotten that one sov. covers all expenses, and that the sum mentioned must in all cases accompany the nomination form for each event. The full conditions are published in this issue.

The adjustment of wagers over the meetings held at Moorefield on Saturday, and Canterbury Park yesterday, takes place to-day at Tattersall's rooms.

The weights for the handicaps to be decided at the October Meeting of the Rosehill Racing Club, are promised this forenoon.

The Spring Meeting of the Dubbo Jockey Club commences to-morrow, and will be continued and concluded on Friday. Visitors can obtain return tickets from the metropolitan and principal country stations at excursion fares.

The most notable feature of yesterday's wagering was the introduction of Bravo into the betting on the Caulfield Cup, for which the son of Grand Flaneur was freely supported at 100 to 12, with more wanted at that figure. 1000 to 100 was accepted about Plutarch; Spade Guinea had admirers who took 100 to 8, and Lockaley was backed to win a small stake at 100 to 5. For the V. R. C. Derby Melos was most in demand, 5 to 2 being freely taken, and 3 to 1 was accepted about Carbine. Business on the Melbourne Cup was a dead letter.

The stakes won at Canterbury Park yesterday totalled £500, of which Mr. W. Duggan (na.) was credited with £150, by the victory of Savant in the Eight-hour Demonstration Handicap; Messrs. W. Forrester, T. Stewart, W. Kelso, and J. Swan secured £75 each, and Mr. H. Roberts £50.

The Rosehill Racing Club have determined to make their November meeting an attractive one, and with that object in view have framed a programme for two days' racing, on the 9th (Prince of Wales' Birthday) and 10th proximo. The bill of fare for the opening day contains half a dozen items, while five races have been set down for decision on the second day, and the prize list totals £1150. The events are as under:—First day: Prince's Gift, a handicap of 100 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs. from the prize, 6 furlongs; Selling Hurdle Race, a handicap of 100 sovs., winner to be sold for 1 sov., 2 miles; Burwood Handicap, 125 sovs., second horse to receive 20 sovs. from the prize, 1¼ mile and 100 yards; Nursery Handicap of 100 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs. from the prize, 4½ furlongs; Prince of Wales Stakes of 100 sovs., w.f.a., winner to be sold for 100 sovs., selling allowances, 6 furlongs; and Welter Mile, a handicap of 100 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs. from the prize, 1 mile. Second day: Granville Stakes, a handicap of 100 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs., from the prize, for all horses that have never won a prize exceeding 45 sovs. in value up to the time of running, 6½ furlongs; Handicap Hurdle Race of 100 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs. from the prize, 2¼ miles; Croydon Handicap of 125 sovs., second horse to receive 20 sovs. from the prize, 1 mile and 3 furlongs; Selling Race of 100 sovs., w. f. a., winner to be sold for 100 sovs., selling allowances, 7 furlongs; and Ladies' Welter, a handicap of 100 sovs., second horse to receive 10 sovs. from the prize, 1 mile. Entries for the events aforementioned, close with the secretary, Mr. G. B. Rowley, at 4.30 p.m., on Monday next, October 22; and the weights are promised on the following Monday, while it must not be forgotten that 1 sov. entrance fee, which must accompany each nomination, covers all expenses.

The Spring Meeting of the Barrier Ranges Jockey Club takes place on Thursday next.

The final forfeit for the V. A. T. C. Caulfield Cup is due and payable this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and all horses not scratched by that hour will be deemed acceptors, and incur the usual liabilities.

Bombala, Sandy Creek, Donnybrook, Medfield, and Cudgen race meetings were granted registration by the A. J. C. authorities yesterday.

Owners and trainers who intend to have a cut in for the good things provided by the Wollongong Turf Club at their Spring Meeting, which takes place on the 23rd and 24th instant, should note that the general entries close on Thursday next at 8 p.m.

CANTERBURY PARK RACE CLUB,
Monday, October 15.

Patron, Hon. James White, M.L.C.; stewards, Messrs. W. Clarke, Wm. Gannon, W. M. Garling, F. Hill, J. H. Want, J. A. Scarr, J. Slocombe, Hon. S. A. Stephen, M.L.C., Messrs. W. B. Walford, A. Town; judge, Mr. A. Town; handicapper, Mr. J. A. Scarr; starter, Mr. H. Dawson; timekeeper, Mr. T. M. Alcock; clerk of scales, Mr. Chas. Perry; clerk of the course, Mr. J. Ashworth; Mr. G. W. S. Rowe, secretary.

The wisdom of postponing the Canterbury Park races to the date fixed upon by the Eight-hours' Demonstration Committee was clearly proved yesterday, when the attendance at the popular sporting resort numbered between three and four thousand persons, among whom the gentler sex were well represented. The weather was fine, cool, and pleasant, and the course and its surroundings were bright and fresh, having evidently been greatly benefited by the heavy rain which fell a week ago. Notwithstanding that a large number of prominent sportsmen have taken their departure for Melbourne, the saddling-paddock, lawn, and grandstand were densely thronged, and the patrons of the flat covered a large area, while owing to the difference that still exists between the management and the bookmakers, who ordinarily transact business in the leger reserve, that enclosure was almost empty. The course was in excellent condition, and the sport was carried through without accident. Mr. A. Town occupied his usual seat in the judge's box, and his decisions left no room for complaint. Mr. H. Dawson wielded the starting flag, and managed to despatch his fields on fairly good terms; but the conduct of the riders on several occasions demands that severe measures should be adopted in order to bring the jockeys under control. Breakaway after breakaway took place before the field was sent off in the Park Stakes, and a great deal of time was consequently wasted; but the only means taken to prevent a recurrence of such conduct was a fine of £10 imposed on Longford, who had the mount on Attraction. Mr. Dawson must surely be aware that the prospect of a fine will not deter the riders from causing such wearisome delays, and the sooner he adopts disqualification for a greater or lesser term for disobedience at the post, the better it will be for all parties concerned. A capital luncheon was provided by Mr. Austin, and was well patronised. A company of musicians, under the baton of Mr. W. G. French, played a well-arranged programme of music during the intervals between the races, and contributed greatly towards the general enjoyment. As usual, Mr. Geo. W. S. Rowe and his assistants carried out the whole arrangements in a most satisfactory manner.

The racing opened well for the public, as Pugilist, who was backed up to 6 to 4 for the Flying Handicap, won cleverly from Pet Girl and Some Day, while the overburdened Tilburn finished in the ruck. In the absence of Clement for the Park Stakes, Thetis was made favourite, but, as usual, her effort was all too late, and Stephanotis, after having made all the running, just managed to stay it out. The field went to the post for the Eight Hours' Demonstration Handicap, and at the last Faith, Centaur, and Busy Bee were most in request. The race was a great one, and must have gratified the handicapper, for when at the half distance there were at least five in it, and Savant, staying the longest, scored a well-deserved win from the much improved Leichhardt and Pugilist. Odds were laid on Winnie for the Disposal Stakes, which she won without an effort, and was afterwards bought in for £70. Young Kingston, who finished last, was claimed, and bought in for £80. Recent form indicated Elly O'Connor as the winner of the Stewards' Mile, and so it proved, for she came when called upon, and won easily from Cracksman, who had forced the pace all the way. The following is an account of the racing:—

The Flying Handicap of 75 sovs.—6 furlongs 50 yards.

Mr. W. Forrester's b c Pugilist, by Maribyrnong—Gipsy Girl, 5 years, 7st., including 7lb. penalty (J. Gough) ... 1
Mr. A. E. Cornwell's b or br m Pet Girl, 6 years, 9st. 8lb. (Leadbeater) ... 2
Mr. W. C. Hunter's b g Some Day (late Malta), aged, 7st. 7lb. (Merriker) ... 3

Other starters: Tilburn, 10st. (Norton); Fuse, 7st. 11lb. (Ashwell); Recruit, 7st. 3lb. (W. Campbell); Zephyr, 6st. (F. Robinson); Fearer, 6st. (M'Nulty).

Betting: 5 to 4 v. Pugilist, 3 to 1 v. Some Day, 4 to 1 v. Tilburn, 6 to 1 v. Recruit, 10 to 1 v. any others.

After considerable delay the word was given to a pretty good start, Pugilist jumping off in front, while Fearer was the last to leave. Pugilist made all the running, closely followed by Some Day and Recruit, after whom came Fuse and Tilburn, while Pet Girl was last. Zephyr and Tilburn ran up third and fourth at the bend, and Pet Girl began to improve her position, but although she ran through her horses very fast Pugilist held his own, and won pretty well all out by a length and a half, leaving Pet Girl, Some Day, and Zephyr to follow with necks between them. Tilburn was four lengths off, and then came Fuse, Recruit, and Fearer. Time, 1 minute 20 seconds.

Park Stakes, a handicap of 75 sovs., for all horses that have never won an advertised prize of the value of 45 sovs. at the time of running—7 furlongs.

Mr. Stewart's ch g Stephanotis, by Omagh—Dyraaba, 5 years, 6st. 12lb., including 1lb. over (M. Riley) ... 1
Mr. E. Key's b m Thetis, 3 years, 7st. 7lb. (Williams) ... 2
Mr. F. Longford ns bk g Attraction, 6 years, 7st. 7lb. (Longford) ... 3

Other Starters: Master Crusoe, 8st. 2lb. (Parsons); Tenbie, 8st. (Leadbeater); Viper, 7st. 11lb. (Cohn); Audacious, 7st. 9lb. (Driscoll); Herbina, 7st. 5lb. (J. Gough); Prairie Rose, 7st. 3lb. (M. Dunbey); Drucilla 7st. (Vigore); Komisch, 6st. 7lb. (Noud); Jubilee, 6st. 7lb. (Seily); Postmaster, 6st. (Strickland); Rockles, 6st. 2lb., including 2lb. over (M'Auliffe).

Betting: 3 to 1 v. Thetis, 4 to 1 v. Tenbie, 6 to 1 each v. Prairie Rose and Rockles, 7 to 1 v. Stephanotis, 10 to 1 v. any other.

A lot of time was taken up before the flag was lowered to a good start, and Herbina, Audacious, and Stephanotis composed the first flight to the far side of the course, where Stephanotis took up the running and showed the way up the hill by three lengths, followed by Attraction, Audacious, and Komisch. Stephanotis led Attraction a length round the bend and into the straight, where Thetis and Master Crusoe were in the wake of the leaders, with Tenbie and Prairie Rose next. Once in the straight Thetis came with a great rattle; but, as on previous occasions, the effort was too late, and Stephanotis won a great race by half a length. Attraction was three-quarters of a length away third, and was closely followed by Audacious, Master Crusoe, and Tenbie, after whom came Herbina, Prairie Rose, and Rockles, with Drucilla last. Time, 1 minute 32 seconds.

Eight Hour Demonstration Handicap of 200 sovs; 2nd horse to receive 50 sovs. from the prize.—1 mile and a furlong.

Mr. W. Duggan ns br g Savant, by Epigram—White and Blue, 5 years, 7st. 7lb. (M. Dunbey) ... 1
Mr. H. Roberts's br h Leichhardt, 5 years, 8st. 12lb. (M. Gallagher) ... 2
Mr. W. Forrester's br g Pugilist, 5 years, 8st. 10lb., including 16lb. penalty (H. Morse) ... 3

Other starters: Pet Girl, 8st. 10lb. (Leadbeater); Lancer, 8st. 2lb. (Selly); Desmond, 8st. (W. English); Faith, 7st. 10lb. (Fielder); Southerly Buster, 7st. 5lb. (Williams); Elcho, 7st. 4lb. (Campbell); Hero's Luck, 7st. 4lb. (M. Riley); Dagobert, 7st. (Cohn); Jack, 7st., including 2lb. over (J. Gough); Busy Bee, 6st. 8lb. (J. Noud); The Wreck, 6st. 4lb. (F. Cleal); Postmaster, 6st. (Strickland).

Betting: 4 to 1 v. Faith, 5 to 1 each v. Centaur and Busy Bee, 7 to 1 v. Leichhardt, 8 to 1 each v. Desmond, Savant, and Pugilist, 10 to 1 v. any other.

Dagobert and Southerly Buster were the first to show from a good start, but they soon gave place to Hero's Luck, who, with Savant and Pet Girl, just led Desmond half a-length past the stand, and then on close terms came Faith, and The Wreck at the head of the others, who were whipped in by Jack and Pugilist. Desmond then joined Hero's Luck, and the pair made the pace along the far side of the course two lengths clear from The Wreck, Pet Girl, and Faith, who were clustered and succeeded by Leichhardt, Elcho, Savant, and Centaur. After negotiating the hill, and when half way round the bend, Leichhardt, Faith, Centaur, Savant, and Busy Bee closed upon the two leaders, while The Wreck, Pet Girl, and Elcho fell back beaten. The home turn saw the best of Desmond and Hero's Luck, and Savant and Leichhardt were the first to turn into the straight, closely attended by Busy Bee, Faith, and Centaur. A grand race took place all the way up the straight, resulting in favour of Savant by half a length from Leichhardt, who beat Pugilist by a neck for second place. The Wreck was a length away, and was attended by Busy Bee, Faith, Hero's Luck, and Pet Girl, while Jack was the last of the lot. Time, 1 minute 59 seconds.

Disposal Stakes of 75 sovs., for three year old and upwards; weight for age; winner to be sold for 100 sovs.—6 furlongs.

Mr. W. Kelso's ch m Winnie, by Warlike—Lady Isabel, aa, 5 years, 6st. 11lb. (M'Auliffe) ... 1
Mr. W. Kelso's ch g Recruit, aa, aged, 8st. 13lb. (Campbell) 2
Mr. J. M'Laughlin's ch f Prairie Rose, £50, 3 years, 6st. 10lb. (M. Dunbey) ... 3

Other starters: Omeo, 7st. 6lb. (J. Thompson); Young Kingston, 7st. 2lb (Evans); Sentence, 6st. 11lb. (Fielder).

Betting: 2 to 1 on Winnie, 4 to 1 v. Sentence, 6 to 1 v. Prairie Rose, 10 to 1 v. Young Kingston, 20 to 1 v. Omeo.

Winnie got to the front after starting, and making all her own running, won easily by a length and a half from Recruit, three lengths from whom came Prairie Rose, attended by Sentence, Omeo, and Young Kingston. Time, 1 minute 19 seconds.

Stewards' Mile, a welter handicap of 75 sovs.; lowest weight 8st. 7lb.—1 mile.

Mr. J. Swan's ch m Elly O'Connor, by Wilberforce—Mavourneen, 5 years, 10st. 4lb., including 7lb. penalty (J. Norton) 1
Mr. W. Muggridge ns br g Cracksman, aged, 8st. 7lb. (M'Auliffe) ... 2
Mr. T. Donohue's b m Herbina, 4 years, 8st. 12lb. (M. Gallagher) ... 3

Other starters: Some Day, 10st. 7lb. (H. J. Clue); Jeremy Diddler, 10st. (G. Williams); Irish Queen, 8st. 10lb. (C. Dean); Fearer, 8st. 10lb. (Driscoll); Stelleridean, 8st. 7lb. (Barker); Rockles. 8st. 7lb. (R. Wilson.)

Betting: 2 to 1 on Elly O'Connor, 4 to 1 v. Jeremy Diddler, 8 to 1 v. Some Day, 12 to 1 each v. Cracksman, Rockles, and Irish Queen.

An indifferent start sent Jeremy Diddler and Fearer away in command, but, as soon as they settled down, Cracksman went to the front, and led down the hill, and along the far side of the course by three lengths, followed by Elly O'Connor, Jeremy Diddler, Irish Queen, and Herbina. Cracksman held his own to the home turn, where he was in trouble, and Elly O'Connor, coming away, defeated him cleverly by half a length. Herbina was three-quarters of a length off, third, and was succeeded by Jeremy Diddler, Fearer, Some Day, Queenie, Stelleridean, and Rockles. Time, 1 minute 47 seconds.

FLEMINGTON TRAINING NOTES.
MELBOURNE, Monday.

No work of importance was done at Flemington this morning. The two-year-old Pippo went for a spin of half a mile. To-day Acorn was scratched for the Foal Stakes at the V. R. C. Meeting. T. W., Vespasia, Lord Allen, Whitefoot, Thunderbolt, and Ilex were struck out of the Caulfield Cup to-day.

THE MELBOURNE BETTING MARKET.
MELBOURNE, Monday.

Speculation on the Caulfield Cup underwent a complete change to-day. The Ballarat horse, Bravo, was legitimately backed for all the money in the market down to 10 to 1. Consequent on the move, Oakleigh was relegated to the outside division. A heavy commission was also executed for the New Zealand mare, Spade Guinea, £15,000 or so being taken, down to 100 to 8, when 10 to 1 was the best offer. Enfilade was also well supported at 100 to 8. Chicago receded to 100 to 6 offered. In the evening there was a continuance of the run on Bravo and

As advertised, Messrs. Royle and Co. have been appointed agents in Sydney of the Sun Fire Office.

The report of the Federal Building Society the half-year ended 30th September shows a gross income of £44,191, the net profit for the year being £11,851, out of which it is proposed to pay a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum, absorbing £10,000, and to carry forward £1851. The total amount of the society's loans is £726,355.

The Municipal Council of Young, as will be seen by advertisement, is calling for tenders for a loan of £12,000, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum.

In the Import markets to-day business was very quiet. Indeed, the general report was that it might almost have been a holiday, for the sales were extremely few and of a comparatively unimportant character. The bakers having to-day advanced the price of bread a halfpenny per loaf, will be in better humour to give the higher prices quoted for flour, which under the stimulus of stronger outside markets was quoted 5s. per ton more in the case of some brands than was asked last week. For bakers' lines, the quotations are—roller brands, £10 15s. to £12; stone makes, £9 15s. to £11. There is very little inquiry for wheat, which is worth 4s. 10d. The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, have received a London cablegram, as follows:—"Wheat market quiet. Adelaide wheat is worth 4s. per 496lb.; for fair average quality c.i.f. off the coast, 4s. per 480lb." For tea, there was very little inquiry. Dried fruits in limited request. Respecting the London market, Messrs. De Lissa, Crowe, and Co. write on the 7th September:—"Currants: The market, which opened lower than usual, has been steadily declining since. Fair prices had to be given for shipments got away by Ballarat, but good provincial can now be bought at about 18s. f.o.b. London, and we look for a further fall. Sultanas: The early arrivals were very poor, but some better quality are now offering at 22s. f.o.b. London. Figs, which opened low, have since risen slightly. We are shipping first quality 14oz. boxes at 39s. c.i.f. Australia." Sugar is firm at full rates. At auction to-morrow (Tuesday) 900 bags are advertised for sale. The English market is firm, and advancing. From Czarnikow's circular of September 7 we extract the following:—

"The continued uncertainty as to the yield of the new crops of beet, and the further reduced stocks in Europe and America of medium to good refining qualities, have, notwithstanding the quieter tone of refined, given firmness to holders. The wants of our manufacturers have compelled them to pay full prices for ready and near delivery sugar; the exception to the ruling steadiness in value is with yellow grocery crystallised sugar, which, owing to increased competition from refiners' products have been saleable only at some decline. Low brown qualities of East India are more enquired for and rather stiffer prices paid; the late rise in freights, especially steam, which may during next shipping season seriously enhance the cost from the East, has given more confidence to buyers. Beetroot:—For early deliveries full prices have been paid by our refiners, and the comparatively small stocks now held in Hamburg and elsewhere show that the supply available between now and the arrival of new sugars is likely to be very moderate. Accounts as to the coming crops vary considerably, and although Licht reports favourably as to the saccharine yield in certain districts, much doubt is expressed on this head from various quarters, which is not surprising considering the lateness of the sowings and the abnormal weather since prevailing throughout Europe. The market closes firm in all positions, 14s. 6d. to 14s. 7½d. for 88 per cent. prompt shipment, and 12s. 10½d. to 13s. for new crop November-December delivery."

Locally small lines of malt are moving off at 7s. to 7s. 3d., the market being firm. London news to latest date shows that there was a probability of a scarcity of good malt. The European hop position, it is said by the Economist, threatens to affect brewers most severely. There can be no doubt, it asserts, that as a result of the unfavourable weather the hop crop is likely to turn out very badly indeed, both in quantity and quality, not only in England, but also on the continent. The quality, indeed, is likely to be very poor, while the quantity has been reduced by a reduction in the acreage as well as by the bad weather. The acreage in England is 58,494, against 63,706 in 1887 and 70,127 in 1886. The average price of Kent hops is 85s. as compared with 70s. per cwt. in 1887. The Economist says that a further considerable rise in the price of hops is generally expected, and if the crop proves to be as bad as seemed probable, it would certainly take place. In fact, if the crop is really a failure, the experience of such years as 1882 and 1883 showed that prices might be easily doubled. In liquids, to-day's business was of an important character. There is rather more inquiry for bottled ale, parcels of Ind Coope's placed at agents' prices. Geneva firm at 11s. 6d. Some little demand noticed for wine, with business pending. The metal market was very quiet. Galvanised iron is firm at £18 10s. to £19 10s. From the Sydney Exchange board we learn that a cablegram has been received by the Australasian Ironmonger, stating that the British Tube Association have reduced discounts on galvanised and black tubes and fittings 2½ per cent., the discounts on boiler tubes being the same. The rising movement in galvanised iron has thus extended to other galvanised goods. Seven hundred barrels H. B. S. cement sold at 19s., and a higher price is now quoted.

Messrs. Harris and Ackman advertise for sale by auction to-morrow (Tuesday) morning, sugar, other groceries, whisky, &c.

At the wool sales to-day 4353 bales were offered. Competition was again active, and 3587 bales were quitted at prices equal to those of last week. Appended are the reports of the auctioneers:—

Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report having submitted a catalogue of 2303 bales for sale to-day. There was a numerous attendance of buyers, and as the ideas of growers were more in accord with market values, the demand was much more spirited, and a larger proportion of the offerings was disposed of than at their opening sale. Prices showed no appreciable alteration. Good wools were in best demand, and seedy and burry parcels were more difficult to deal with. The highest price of the sale—viz., 9½d.—was obtained for a line of 327 bales, D&Co over Deepwater, from Wagga; and a small line of four bales lambswool marked Crown over Red, from Urana, realised 9d. Privately and by auction 1534 bales were sold, the following being some of the principal brands:—Greasy, DvCo over Deepwater, 327 bales at 9½d., from Wagga Wagga; 62 at 7½d, 46 2nd lambs at 5d, 164 1st pieces at 6½d; Ashs over Regie, 80 at 6½d., from Rylstone; J L over Tara Hall, 86 at 8½d., L over Eldorado, 60 at 7½d., from Bourke; Crown over Rudd, 4 1st lambs at 9d.; 19 2nd lambs at 7d., 13 3rd lambs at 4½d., from Urana; JC Moore over Quandong, 24 at 7½d., from Darlington Point; HM over Combadello, 283 at 8½d., from Moree; R, 75 at 7½d., from the Macquarie; Hot over Weeta Was, 44 at 7½d., from Wee Wee; MUM, 116 broken at 6½d., from the Macquarie; DD over Manilla, 17 at 6½d., DG over Rock, 11 at 6½d; McP&W over West Begon, 14 rams at 6d. Secured: JA over Sunnyside, 22 at 15½d., from Narrandera; 9 pieces, &c., to 9½d.; B&Co. over Deepwater, 30 locks and pieces to 9½d.; GT over Hazelbrook, 5 at 14½d. They also cleared a large catalogue of sheepskins at from 4½d. to 5½d. for best, 3½d. to 4d. for medium, and 2½d. to 3d. for short.

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited, held their second sale of wool for the current season to-day, when the catalogue, which comprised about 2050 bales, included some very stylish wools from the Liverpool Plains and Merrivea districts. The attendance of buyers was excellent, and biddings were well sustained throughout. Owners' reserves were, however, in some instances too high to admit of business being done. Competition was especially keen for superior lambs wool in the grease, and 11½d. per lb. was secured for a parcel of this description branded BW, from Brundah, near Grenfell. Strong support was also accorded to superior greasy fleece, and a portion of the Gorianawa clip, from near Coonabarabran, sold at 9½d. per lb., while 9d. was obtained for a line of 186 bales branded g Bover Brindley Park, grown near Merriwa; and 8½d. for 108 bales, marked C BROS over BELR, from Nevertire; inferior and faulty greasy descriptions, as well as scoured sorts, met with less attention, although a line of the latter variety branded Tg over Woolerina, from the Warrego realised up to 10d. per lb. The company report the sale of 1753 bales at auction and privately, the following being among the chief sales effected, viz.:—Greasy: M & Co. over Gorianawa, 43 A H & A at 9½d., 126 C H & C at 8½d.; gB over Brindley Park, 186 at 9d.; JB (conjoined) W, 6 super lambs at 11½d., 13 2nd ditto at 6½d.; C Bros over Bair, 108 A A at 8½d., 24 C H and C at 7½d., 4 rams at 7d., 83 1st pieces at 6¾d., 25 2nd pieces at 4½d., 22 bellies at 4½d., 10 locks at 3d.; Cairn, 152 at 8½d.; Tenandra, 9 pieces at 5d., 7 bellies at 3½d., 4 locks at 2½d.; Bimbia over WGT, 6 hocks at 2½d.; J., Gunning, 4 at 7d.; RDB over Burren, 455 H&E at 7½d., 28 2nd E at 6d.; MHB over Neinby, 4 bellies at 3½d.; AL conjoined, 4 at 7d.; GT, 9 at 5½d.; HKD, 5 at 6½d.; NN, 5 at 7½d., 14 at 7d., 4 broken at 6d., 6 pieces at 5d.; Tg over DUN, 7 at 7d.; WW, 11 at 6½d.; Bight, 27 at 7d.; AF over N, 44 at 6½d.; A&F Ferguson over Merriman, 23 at 7d., 30 at 7½d.; Scoured Tg over Woolerina, 19 at 16d., 33 at 15d., 18 at 11½d., 4 rams at 14½d., 5 second-class at 13d., 34 bellies at 11d., 6 dirto at 8d.; JP over Altonville, 8 at 11½d.; CB&Co, 21 skin at 11½d., 11 at ditto 9½d.

Dalgety and Co., Limited, report that their opening wool sale, at Melbourne, to-day, attracted a large attendance of English, Continental, American, and local buyers. They offered 1900 and had animated competition for every lot. Superior greasy crossbred realised 11d.; good light crossbred, 9½d.; superior greasy merino, 10½d.; good, 8½d. to 9½d.; medium, 7d. to 8d.; inferior, 5d. to 6½d.; good greasy merino pieces, 7½d. Scoured wools were in brisk demand, and good quality sold at 15d. to 16½d. They sold 15,000 bales.

The fourth series of the London wool sales for the year closed on Wednesday last; the market being firm, at some slight advance on the rates of the previous series. The following cablegrams have been handed to us:—

By the New Zealand Loan and Mercantile Agency Company, Limited.—"Wool: The sales closed this day at the level of last sales, with the following exceptions:—Greasy has advanced ¼d. per lb. since close of last sales: scoured has advanced ¼d. to 1d. per lb.: fine greasy crossbred has advanced ¼d. per lb.: fine washed and fine scoured crossbred have advanced ¼d. to ½d. per lb. The sales comprise about 221,000 bales; 11,000 bales have been held over for future disposal; 102,000 bales have been taken for the Continent, and 1000 bales have been taken for America." By the Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, Limited, from Messrs. Helmuth Schwartze and Co.—"The sales closed firm without further change. Held over 10,000 bales. Total sold, 220,000, of which 105,000 bales taken for export, 115,000 bales for home consumption." By John Sanderson and Co., from Sanderson, Murray, and Co.—"Wool: The sales have closed firm. Farthing bids at next sales." By the Australasian Mortgage and Agency Company, Limited, from its London agents.—"Wool: Sales have closed firmly, merinos have advanced ¼d. to 1d. For low and faulty, prices unchanged; crossbred, prices are unchanged; low crossbred, prices barely maintained." By Dalgety and Company, Limited.—"The wool sales closed with good spirit and firm prices for all classes. 14,000 bales were held over for next series and 5000 withdrawn."

The London tallow market has advanced 10 per cent., as we learn by a cablegram received by Dalgety and Company, Limited. Goldsbrough, Mort, and Company, Limited, have also handed us the following cablegram, dated London, October 12:—

"Tallow.—All qualities in good demand; market advanced on all sorts. Fine 2s. advanced 9d., now at 29s.; fair to good mottled, demand brisk, 28s. 6d. to 29s.; beef, demand brisk at 27s. 6d. to 28s."

LATEST COMMERCIAL TELEGRAMS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

The London colonial wool sales closed this evening with a firm market. The total quantity catalogued during the series was 235,000 bales. The quantity sold for export was 104,000 bales, and 120,000 bales were taken for home consumption. Ten thousand bales were held over till next series.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

There is no change in the local wheat market, which remains firm at 4s. 6½d. to 4s. 7d. for prime Wimmera, and 4s. 5d. to 4s. 5½d. for Goulburn Valley. A considerable quantity of one of the leading town brands of patent roller flour was placed in bakers' lots on ordinary terms at £11 10s. to £11. Oats showed more firmness, and had considerable sales at 3s. 4d. duty paid. A small lot was sold for export, in bond, at 3s. 9d. Cape barley is depressed at 2s. 9d. Maize is in fair demand at 3s. 7d. to 3s. 7½d. Peas are worth 2s. 10d. to 2s. 10½d. Bran is firmer. Parcels of 3 tons sold at 11d.; 5 tons of pollard sold at 10d. A fair amount of business was done in Mauritius sugar, ex True Blue. To-morrow two rather full catalogues of Fiji and Queensland sugars are to be offered at auction. The tea market is quiet. The trade is engaged in liquoring and valuing for auction. Galvanised iron firmed; 50 tons Reliance placed at £18. Two hundred and fifty cases of Hennessy's brandy sold at 35s. to 35s. 8d.

To-day a dull market was experienced for investment stocks, and with few exceptions lower prices ruled. In the business done, the principal changes were lower reduced rates for National and Victoria Banks, Mercantile Finance, Real Estate, Brewing and Malting, Greig and Murray, Tramway and Omnibus, and Silverton Tramway. Full late price was paid for Commercial Bank and Metropolitan Gas.

Sales.—Commercial Bank, £10, £10 0s. 6d.; Federal Bank, 71s.; Tramway and Omnibus, 55s, 6d.

him substantial relief. These ideas were first carried into effect in Victoria some years ago. Situated as these colonies are, the working of any large experiment that is instituted in one of them is watched by all. It may be fairly inferred that the new system of railway management set up in Victoria some years ago has commended itself to general approval by its results; for it is not only in New South Wales, but in other colonies also, that a system similar in the main, though differing in some points, is being, or is about to be, introduced.

In making this change here, it is to be observed that there is no confession of failure in the past. There is simply an expression of the desire to attain a higher measure of success in the future than is supposed to be attainable under the present system of management. The history of a new country like this, which has any life and progress in it, is a history of change and expansion, adaptation and adjustment. The conditions under which our Railways have to be worked now differ from those which prevailed a dozen years ago, and will doubtless undergo much alteration before a similar period has passed. The recognition of the expediency of making new provision for the future ought not to stand in the way of a free recognition of the merits of all that has been done in the past. The voice of complaint has been frequently heard; and, if our anticipations of the future are to be guided by experience, we must expect to hear it frequently again. But we must not forget certain facts. Considering all the circumstances of the colony—the variations of the seasons, the alternation of periods of prosperity and depression, the changes of Ministries, the pressure of conflicting interests which have not always been coincident with the interests of the country, the competition of other colonies, the development of business in some directions, and its diversion in others, to say nothing of the disturbance created by the frequent opening of new lines or new sections of lines—it is to be freely admitted that the management of our railways has been distinguished by a large measure of success. It has given evidence of intelligence and of elasticity in meeting the fluctuating circumstances of the times; and above all, it has been characterised by a degree of freedom from serious accident which gives cause for congratulation to the country generally, and more particularly to those who have been immediately concerned in the working of this large and complicated enterprise. It cannot be said that this comparative freedom from accident is itself an accident.

There has been much speculation within the last few days as to the probable action of the Government in filling up the two vacant Commissionerships. The names of several gentlemen have been mentioned with more or less confidence. It was supposed that the matter would be settled at the Cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon. The supposition appears to have been a mistaken one. We understand that no appointment has yet been made, and that the postponement is the outcome of a desire to confer with Mr. EDDY himself before the final step is taken. There is, we think, much justification for proceeding in this deliberate and careful manner. It is desirable that, in bringing the new system into operation, a false start should not be made. It is expedient that there should be a good understanding amongst the Commissioners; and as much reliance must necessarily be placed on the CHIEF COMMISSIONER, it is well that anything he may have to say should be heard. Between three and four months ago it was understood that some five-and-twenty application for the post had already been sent in; but the PREMIER intimated that nothing would be done in the matter for some time to come. He had, however, arrived at some general conclusions as to the kind of men who should be appointed. In his opinion it was desirable that one of them should be the best man who could be got from the public service, and that the other should be a man thoroughly acquainted with business and accounts. There is a great deal of weight in these suggestions. The railways, under the new management, will still be a department of the Government service, and that fact supplies a reason why it would be well that one of the Commissioners should, besides being well qualified in other respects, have a practical acquaintance with official methods. It seems hardly necessary to point out how important it is that one of the Commissioners should be familiar not only with accounts, but also as far as possible with the general course of business throughout the country. By some it is held, and with good show of reason, that one of the Commissioners should be a railway man accurately acquainted with the details of the system now in operation. Others again have thought that the Commission would be strengthened if one of its members were a sound lawyer, accustomed to sift and weigh evidence, and able to bring to bear upon intricate questions, the special powers of a legally-trained mind. There are, however, only two appointments to be made, and it is hardly possible to please everybody in the making of them. We must content ourselves with hoping that two gentlemen will be selected whose integrity is above suspicion, and whose qualification for the special duties of the position has been tested and proved.

An important step with regard to the tramways has been taken by the Government. Tenders are invited to-day for the purchase of the present steam-motor system, and for the right of constructing "a system of cable or other approved tramways." According to the conditions, the purchaser will be required within six months of the payment of his purchase-money to "commence the construction of cable or other approved system of tramways" to replace the existing means of communication, and it is stipulated that within five years new tramways shall be substituted for the steam-motor system within the city boundaries. The purchaser is to have the sole right to the use and management of the existing lines for 45 years, and he will enjoy a similar privilege with regard to the new lines for 40 years. Presumably the reconstruction of the old lines will precede the construction of the new ones, so that the rights with regard to each will expire at about the same time. The word "purchase" is used in a limited sense. What the Government really does is to invite tenders for leasing the tramway system for the best part of half a century. At the termination of the lease, the tramways, with all machinery, plant, and appliances, will revert to the Government, at a valuation. Before the control of such an important property as the city and suburban tramways is relinquished, the terms upon which it is proposed to do so will have to be carefully considered by the Legislature, and it is intimated to tenderers that the whole of the proceedings are subject to the approval of Parliament.

Looking at the schedules attached to the conditions of purchase, it is seen that not only is the substitution of cable or other "approved" tramways for the present lines contemplated, but that several new lines are provided for, while the duplication of some of the existing routes, or portions of them, is left open to arrangement. The Government is to have the power to vary the route which any new tramway shall take, and to decide the order in which the new tramways shall be constructed; and it is further provided that no old tramway shall be abandoned except upon the written authority of the Government. This is a prudent condition to make; it will serve to protect the public interest in the event of the purchaser wishing to close up old lines of communication which it is desirable to keep open. The first route named in the schedule of new lines is that "from Circular Quay, along Young, Bligh, and Castlereagh streets, through Belmore Park and Devonshire-street Cemetery to railway steps." This is apparently intended to supersede the existing line to the railway station, and to relieve the traffic in Elizabeth-street. From the railway steps the line is to be carried along Devonshire and Castlereagh streets to Redfern and Waterloo, and also, it may be presumed, to Botany. Elizabeth-street, as at present, will be the route for the Paddington, Waverley, and Bondi, Randwick, and Coogee trams. One of the most important of the new routes is that from Dawes Point along George-street to Newtown-road junction; thence to Newtown, Enmore, Marrickville, and Dulwich Hill. This is an excellent route, regarded from one point of view. It goes through the heart of the city; it not only gives more direct communication between a number of populous suburbs and the more important parts of the metropolis, but furnishes a tram service for George-street. But it has yet to be proved whether the immense traffic which flows through this street will admit of the safe and convenient working of a tramway, whether it be cable or any other kind. An improved tramway service would, no doubt, cause some of the omnibuses to disappear, and the construction of a city railway would take away some of the heavy traffic. But population is increasing, business is extending, and a tramway through George-street might not prove an unmixed blessing. The branches from this line, starting from the Newtown-road junction, will command Annandale, Leichhardt, Forest Lodge, and Glebe Point. Another new and important route is that which starts from the foot of King-street, passes through College-street and Boomerang-street into William-street and Bayswater-road, along the New South Head-road to the corner of Ocean-street; thence along Ocean and Queen streets, Woollahra to Oxford-street, connecting with the line to Waverley. This line would command a very large traffic, and would be a great convenience to the public. There is to be noticed, finally, a line from George-street along Harris-street to Pyrmont and Balmain. It will be seen that if the proposed new lines are constructed, we shall have two tramlines running through the city north and south, and one running across it from east to west, instead of one line through Elizabeth-street; while the suburbs will be better served than they are at the present time. The conditions provide that the new tramways shall be constructed on the cable or some other "approved" principle. Assuming that the cable system is adopted, it has to be proved whether it will work so successfully here as it has done in Melbourne, but if the new principle, whatever it may be, is a sound one, the new departure is likely to be a good one, so far at least as the choice of routes is concerned.

But there is one of the proposed conditions which will excite a good deal of disapprobation in the public mind. We refer to the provision that the fares on the tramways under the new régime "shall not exceed one penny per mile, with a minimum of threepence." We may be sure that the successful tenderer will not go below the amount named and charge less than a penny per mile, and we may be equally sure that the minimum rate of 3d. will be exacted. How will the hundreds—nay, the thousands of persons who have been accustomed to pay 1d. or 2d. for travelling over short sections like to pay 3d.? They will not like it at all, and what is more, they will in all probability refuse to pay it. Perhaps it will be said that in Melbourne, excepting in the case of one city section, the minimum fare is 3d., and that it is cheerfully paid; but the circumstances of the two cities are not the same. They have not been accustomed in Melbourne to penny and twopenny sections, and that makes all the difference. People here are used to the separate section system, and they will not take kindly to the change, especially the residents of some of the suburbs who will be called upon to pay fifty per cent. more for their daily ride than they do now. This provision will be a highly unpopular one, and if carried into practice would play into the hands of omnibus proprietors rather than advantage the tramway lessees. It would be far better to fix a maximum charge, and leave the settlement of the minimum to the company which purchases the lines. This point will have to be carefully considered before Parliament ratifies any tender. One omission is to be noticed. Nothing is said in the conditions as to the construction of city or suburban railways by the Government. If this matter is left open, tenderers may allow for possibilities, and make their terms higherin view of the construction some day of railway lines which may compete with their tramways, or the Government having made a contract, may subsequently be led into an awkward dispute with the contractor. It would surely be well to leave no room for doubt upon this point.

Considerable attention is being directed to the matter of colour-blindness. We have published correspondence in connection with the question, and bearing particularly upon an article copied from a Queensland contemporary, which advises that the rigid examination of all crews of passenger vessels and sailing crafts should be instituted. The article referred to points out the great danger there is to human life through possible colour-blindness, in tempestuous weather particularly, and when a vessel is going at a high rate of speed. It comments upon the fact that at Marine Board inquiries regarding collisions witnesses have given distinctly opposite testimony regarding the colour of the vessel's lights, presumably from inability to distinguish colour; and it cites an instance when the other day a captain voluntarily submitted his crew to examination. Among them two were found who were deficient in colour-detection. The test used was coloured-glass slides. A correspondent takes exception to this test, stating that while men of poor colour-vision might sometimes be able in a clear atmosphere to detect differences between certain colours, if the weather were a little misty or heavy, or distance were miscalculated, they would not be able to do so. He says that the only reliable test of colour-vision is the HOLMGREN method, "in which a variety of different-coloured wools are given to the person and he is told to match all the different colours." "A colour-blind person," he continues, "cannot do this, and according to the mistakes he makes one can tell the nature of his defect."

The subject is as practical as it is interesting. There can be but little doubt that many accidents have occurred at sea through the lookout being colour-blind, and yet in cases where there was some evidence from two men which was contradictory, the colour-test has not often been referred to or used. Every seaman, and every railway man, should have a perception of colour. There are hundreds of thousands of lives at stake every day on sea and on land. Under the best conditions, and with men who can readily and accurately distinguish colour, there would be a certain percentage of misfortune, but this should be minimised as far as possible by establishing rigid tests for all crews of passenger or sailing crafts. If one but considers one's acquaintances, there could not but be surprise to see how many of them can only distinguish one or two colours. We should scarcely feel like setting them to watch signals for trains, or putting as lookouts on board vessels wherein we were passengers; yet the chances are that there are just as many sailors and officers of vessels proportionately colour-blind as there are among our acquaintances. There is no time for an engine-driver or a ship officer to study out colours when vessels and trains are travelling at a high rate of speed, or even under ordinary circumstances. The loss of one ship with its passengers through imperfect colour-vision should be enough of horror to make sure in the future of a system of examination for colour detection that would, at any rate, make vigilance effective. It may safely be concluded that many a collision has occurred through colour-blindness, and yet it is not likely that the disasters were traced to this cause. Of late years there have been tests employed, but the question is whether they have been the right tests or not. The defect of the coloured sliding-glass test, as pointed out by our correspondent, seems to be a probable one, for there is no doubt that there are people who would be able to detect a colour after studying it for some time, just as people with no ear for music are able after a while to discover what the tune is to which they have been listening. So bad an ear have some people for music that they are never able to tell one tune from another. It is related of a distinguished French General that he was never able to tell whether a band was playing "Le Marseillaise" or "Rule Britannia." In the matter of colour, defective perception is of far more consequence. The General would not be placed in the same position as the engine-driver or the sailor or ship's officer.

It would seem that the HOLMGREN test is a good one. Any one who has tried matching colours knows that one's training in the perception of colours must have been very good if it is to be done properly. One with poor colour-vision may be able seeing one colour alone to tell what it is, but if it were among a mass of colours he would not be able perhaps to pick it out. Women who have better perception of colour than men, know that plenty of shopmen are not to be trusted in the matter of matching colours, and they are obliged to be doubly particular in the purchase of goods because of this. Apart from the mere utilitarian side of the question, such as we have been dwelling on, there is the artistic side as well. This question of colour concerns us in our domestic and even business life a great deal. There are few people but are more or less influenced by their surroundings, and dull dead colours such as one gets out of many an office window when looking at the stone wall of some building, are not without their depressing effect on the most buoyant of natures, or the most imperturbable, though the influence may come so slowly and insinuate itself so gradually that it is not at first seen. There are few that do not get a feeling of satisfaction and quiet delight in a room the colours of which in furniture, carpets, curtains, and decorations are in harmony. It all means repose. Dress, houses, buildings generally, go to make life pleasant or distasteful, in so far as they affect the senses pleasantly. Even the man that is defective in colour-vision can often enjoy a beautiful effect, such as that of a rainbow, though he could not distinguish between the colours. He may admire a flower, though his perception of the colour might not be a very delicate one. It is that delicacy and power of analysis that the artist possesses. It is this that enables him to make a colour such, for instance, as the grey, so effective by the atmosphere of the picture. He puts the grey under certain light conditions, and produces his effects at will. GEORGE MEREDITH says of this very thing,—"Strange that grey, so spirit-touching in art, should be so wintry in reality." Of course perception of colour is entirely different from taste in colour, and yet the one is dependent upon the other. A man might be able to distinguish between colours and yet not be able to harmonise them at all. The one ability is useful, the other is attractive. The one affects daily duties and matters of business, the other affects disposition, social relations, &c. Much has been written on the colour-sense by such men as GLADSTONE, VON HUGO MAGNUS, Professor GEIGER, and GRANT ALLEN, and particularly during 1877-8-9, when the English railway authorities were very much in earnest about applying a thorough test to all who had to do with colour-light signals. We ought to be very much in earnest about it here also, particularly when we consider that, according to a recent report of the Board of Trade, seven per cent. of the candidates were unable to distinguish colours. We should have safety at all costs.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

SIR HENRY LOCH, the Governor of Victoria, visited the Premier yesterday afternoon, and was received in the Cabinet room. There happened at the time to be a meeting of the Cabinet, and Sir Henry Parkes introduced his visitor to the members of the Government who were not already known to his Excellency. Sir Henry Loch pressed the Premier very warmly to visit Melbourne, and to accept his hospitality at Government House. Sir Henry Parkes promised that he would visit Melbourne before long, and thanked the Governor of Victoria for his kind invitation. Sir Henry Loch, who came here a few days ago accompanied by Mr. Cowen, musical director at the Melbourne Exhibition, with the express object of visiting the Jenolan caves, set out by the express train yesterday afternoon on his return to Melbourne.

SIR HENRY PARKES will address his constituents at the Centennial Hall, St. Leonards, on Thursday evening next, at 8 o'clock. He intends to speak at considerable length, will review the past, and give a forecast of the principal measures that the Government propose to submit during the approaching session.

THE Cabinet held a protracted meeting yesterday afternoon, when the specifications and conditions for the construction of a new system of tramways in the city and suburbs were finally dealt with. A Gazette extraordinary was issued at the conclusion of the meeting, containing the conditions and specifications, and calling for tenders, returnable at the Public Works Office on the 15th proximo, for the purchase of the present system and the right of constructing a new system in accordance with the specifications and subject to the approval of Parliament. In the schedule attached to the specifications eight routes are given, viz., from Circular Quay, along Young, Bligh, and Castlereagh streets, through Belmore Park and Devonshire-street Cemetery, to railway steps; from railway steps, along Devonshire and Castlereagh streets, to Redfern and Waterloo; from Dawes Point, along George-street, to Newtown-road junction; thence to Newtown, Enmore, Marrickville, and Dulwich Hill; from Newtown-road junction to Annandale, Leichhardt, Forest Lodge, and Glebe Point; from foot of King-street to College-street, along Boomerang and William streets to Bayswater-road, along South Head-road to corner of Ocean-street, thence along Ocean and Queen streets, Woollahra, to Oxford-street, connecting with line to Waverley; from foot of Elizabeth-street to Liverpool-street, thence to Paddington along Oxford-street, thence to Waverley at terminus known as the Tea Gardens, and thence to Bondi; from Darlinghurst junction along Botany-street to Randwick, and thence to Coogee; from George-street along Harris-street to Pyrmont and Balmain.

MR. EDDY, the chairman of the Railway Commission of New South Wales, will arrive by the express train from Melbourne this afternoon. The other commissioners will be appointed before the end of the present week, and the board will then be constituted.

A COURT of appeal, under the Land Act of 1884, was held yesterday by the Minister for Lands (the Hon. J. N. Brunker), at the rooms of the Engineering Association, O'Connell-street. The list, which comprised in all some 36 cases, was disposed of.

MR. JOHN NOBBS, M.L.A., visited his constituents on the Hawesbury side of the county, on Saturday last, and was met at the various centres by prominent electors. The silting of the river near the railway dam, and the necessity for the continuation of the road to the old steamers' wharf, was pointed out as requiring attention. Mr. Nobbs promised to bring the matter before the notice of the Minister for Works.

THE only suit disposed of in Equity yesterday was that of Josephson and wife versus York and another, in which the plaintiffs sought to obtain a decree directing that the estate of the late William York, wholesale butcher and grazier, who died in 1877, should be administered by the Court, and that accounts should be taken by the Master. His Honor made the decree as prayed, except as to compensation, which the female plaintiff claimed to be entitled to by reason of the trustees of the will having failed to maintain a home as testator had directed, and thus put her to expense in supporting herself.

ON the eve of his departure from Sydney Mr. W. St. Clair, who has for some years been managing the Sydney business of one of our leading mercantile firms, viz., Messrs. Virgoe, Son, and Chapman, was presented with a nicely fitted travelling bag as a mark of esteem by those with whom he has been associated in the office. Mr. Blackwell, who succeeds the above-mentioned gentleman, made the presentation in a few well-chosen words, and they were feelingly acknowledged.

A DEMONSTRATION by the Railway Ambulance Corps took place last night in the Wesleyan Sunday-school, Chippendale. The corps, which now numbers 212 members, was inaugurated about two years ago, and now there are branches in Harden, Penrith, Bathurst, and Newcastle, while instruction in ambulance work is given in many of the other depots. Last night's competition was the second which has been held since the corps was established. The examiners were Dr. Rundle and Dr. M'Cormack. Dr. Woodward, drill instructor of the corps, was also present. There were altogether 40 competitors, who were divided into two parties of 20 each, and each party was split up into sections of three. The subjects in which the tests were made included wounds of the scalp, broken thigh, injury to the spine, bearer drill, and stretcher drill. The results were as follow:—First prize, £10, section 10, A. Lovett, P. Smith, and D. M'Donald; second prize, £8, section 3, W. Buckley, C. Donahy, and G. Webster; third prize, £6, section 9, G. Kay, W. Breckwoldt, and W. Woods; fourth prize, £4, section 1, C. Melville, J. Wells, and J. Coutie: fifth prize, £2, section 11, F. Lyons, B. Eazy, and W. Perritt.

RELATIVE to the recent typhoid returns, Mr. C. A. Vivian, the council clerk of the borough of Woollahra, has written to the council, stating that he has received from each of the hospitals the names and addresses of the typhoid patients, and he finds that the number charged to Woollahra is incorrect, and "an unjust reflection on the sanitary condition of the borough." Out of the 25 patients returned as from Woollahra he finds that nine are from Paddington, one from Balmain, and one from Elizabeth Bay.

A SUPPLEMENT to the Government Gazette, published yesterday, contains copies from the High Commissioner of the Western Pacific and the two regulations which have recently been made under the provisions of the Western Pacific Order-in-Council of 1879. The regulations deal with the preservation of good order in the town and harbour of Apia, Samoa, and the prohibition of the supply of dynamite to the natives.

THE annual meeting of subscribers to the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind was held yesterday. The report submitted showed that there are now 80 pupils, as against 85 at the commencement of the year; and the income from subscriptions was £11 1s. in excess of the revenue from the same source for the previous year.

THE series of winter lectures delivered in connection with the Y. M. C. A. were brought to a close last evening, when the Rev. Geo. Martin lectured, in the hall of the association, to a large audience, on the question of Evolution. The chair was occupied by Mr. C. S. Wilkin-on. The lecture created considerable interest, and at the close a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Martin.

ON Saturday the fourth of the series of entertainments for the inmates of destitute asylums was given at the Newington Asylum. A good number of visitors from Sydney and Parramatta attended. There are at present nearly 400 old women in the institution, of whom about 250 sat down to a 1 o'clock dinner, consisting of such delicacies as fowls, sucking pigs, roast beef, roast mutton, pastry, &c., after which each old lady was presented with a pipe and a supply of tobacco. The remainder of the inmates, who from sickness or infirmity were unable to leave their rooms, were also well cared for. In the afternoon a vocal and instrumental concert was given, in which some of the inmates joined. The Vernon band, under Mr. Burke, the bandmaster, contributed some excellent selections. At the close of the concert Mr. H. Taylor, M.L.A., addressed the inmates, and congratulated them upon the change of management, under which a more liberal dietary scale would be allowed them in future. Mr. R. Guy also briefly addressed the old people. Besides the two gentlemen just named there were present Messrs. Quong Tart, A. L. Nelson, and A. C. Hewlett, together with a number of benevolent ladies, all of whom did their utmost for the comfort and amusement of the inmates.

THE eight-hour demonstration was held yesterday, and, despite the fact that the day was not a public holiday, was a complete success. Between 5000 and 6000 persons (members of 22 societies), as well as 22 bands of music, took part in the procession.

SEVEN of the alleged rioters at Wallsend were brought before the Newcastle Bench yesterday, and charged with "making a great riot and disturbance, to the terror and alarm of her Majesty's subjects." Preliminary evidence was taken, and all charged were remanded for eight days, bail being refused. All is quiet at the Wallsend tunnels.

YESTERDAY a coroner's jury, without leaving the box, returned a verdict of manslaughter against William Hanrahan, George Forrest, and Arthur Forrest in connection with the death of James Brown, who died from injuries alleged to have been inflicted by the men named during a public-house quarrel at Paddington on the 8th instant.

THE report published in yesterday's issue of Sir Patrick Jennings' speech at the complimentary dinner given to Mr. F. H. Cowen, speaking of the Melbourne Exhibition, runs thus:—"Victoria had a surplus and a building: we had no building and no surplus. Therefore we were not able to sport ourselves in that 'cranky' way Victoria has done." It should have been, "Therefore we were not able to sport ourselves in that pranky way Victoria has done."

THE following is the order of musical service at St. Andrew's Cathedral this afternoon, 4.30 p.m.:—Magnificat, Stainer, in B flat; Nunc dimittis, Stainer, in B flat; anthem, "Praise ye the Lord" (Garrett).

THE annual meeting of the Blue Ribbon Gospel Army and its several agencies, known as the Discharged Prisoners' Mission, Home of Hope, Open-all-night Refuge, &c., will be held in the Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, to-night, at 8 o'clock.

THE report of the Sydney Hospital for the week ended October 13 is as follows:—Admitted, 38 males, 25 females; discharged, 39 males, 10 females; died, 6 males, 2 females; remaining, 104 males, 74 females; casualties treated, but not admitted, 631.

THE report for the week ending October 13, of the number of pauper patients under treatment in the Metropolitan hospitals at the Government expense, is as follows:—Coast Hospital: Remaining in on October 6, 1888, 153 males, 49 females; admissions, 21 males, 5 females; discharges, 26 males, 5 females; deaths, 3 males, 2 females; number remaining, 145 males, 49 females. Sydney Hospital: Remaining in on October 6, 1888, 48 males, 37 females; admissions, 13 males, 13 females; discharges, 6 males, 4 females; death, 1 female; number remaining, 55 males, 45 females. Prince Alfred Hospital: Remaining in on October 6, 1888, 49 males, 31 females; admissions, 8 males, 9 females; discharges, 7 males, 8 females; deaths, 1 male 1 female; number remaining, 49 males, 31 females.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION IN FRANCE.

REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION.

[BY CABLE.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, OCT. 13.

M. Floquet, the French Premier, threatens to resign unless a distinct Republican majority approves of the revision of the Constitution.

OCT. 15.

M. Floquet will bring forward his proposals in the Chamber of Deputies to-day for the revision of the French Constitution.

He will propose that one-third of the members of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies shall retire at the end of every two years. The Senate is to be elected by delegates nominated by the Communes, and the power of the Senate to veto bills is to be suspended until the biennial elections take place under the new Constitution. M. Floquet proposes that the Chamber of Deputies shall have power to finally reject amendments made by the Senate in the Budget. The power of the President and the Senate to dissolve the Chamber is to be abolished, and the Cabinet shall only resign upon a direct vote of want of confidence.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

THE WOOL SALES.

LONDON, OCT. 10.

At a meeting of wool buyers it was resolved that farthing bids would benefit neither the importers nor purchasers, and, moreover, would involve extra labour, which would prove unbearable, as well as entail confusion and loss to the buyers. A resolution was carried pledging the meeting not to appraise under the farthing system, and declaring that they will leave the sale room if the rule be enforced. An amendment in favour of limiting the system to wools below the market value of eightpence was negatived.

COLONIAL GOVERNORS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, OCT 10.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

[By Cable].
(From our correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

Almost the whole of the dissenting ministers in Ireland have petitioned Lord Salisbury and the Marquis of Hartington to maintain the union between England and Ireland.

The Earl of Rosebery, in his speech delivered at Leeds, said that if Mr. Gladstone obtained a majority of supporters at the next election he would stop coercion and establish, if possible, a legislative body to deal with Irish affairs distinct from Imperial matters.

AN AUSTRALIAN SCHOLAR.

[By Cable.]
(From our correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

Mr. George Gilbert Murray, son of the late Sir Terence Aubrey Murray, has been elected to a classical fellowship at St. John's College, Oxford.

[Mr. George Gilbert Murray is a native of Australia, where he spent the earlier part of his boyhood. He was at school at Oaklands, Mittagong, for some years, and on going to England entered the Merchant Taylors' School, where he distinguished himself, and subsequently gained a scholarship to St. John's College, Oxford. Among his performances at that university may be mentioned the Hertford and Ireland scholarships in 1885, a first-class in Moderations, and the Gaisford verse prize in 1886, the Craven and Chancellor's Latin Verse in 1887, and a first class in the school of Litteræ Humaniores in 1888.]

THE STRIKE AT FULTON'S FOUNDRY.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Monday.

In connection with the lockout at Fulton's Foundry, 15 men had been engaged from Melbourne to fill the vacancies. The men were taken to the works on Saturday morning by train to Kilkenny station, where they alighted. A body of troopers was stationed there, and a body of foot police also accompanied them by train. The workmen looked out consider the presence of the police a gross insult, as they have not threatened violence, nor contemplated interference. When Mr. Fulton was observed crossing the platform on Saturday he was received with hooting and cries of "blacklegs." The Melbourne men were then taken into the yard, but it was not long before one of their number came within speaking distance of the men on strike. He was quickly informed of the true position of affairs, He immediat-ly returned to the yard, packed up his tools, and left, and was followed by several others. On Sunday two Melbourne men went down to the yard and removed their tool chests. They remarked that they would be off home to-day. According to one they were engaged under false pretences. They had signed an agreement when they were totally unaware that a lockout had occurred over such a principle as eight hours. They were determined not to work, and purpose returning home. The men who came over from Victoria to fill the places of those who were locked out understood that they agreed to stay with the firm for six months, but they affirm that the facts relating to the lockout were unknown to them till they came over. The various labour representatives have been urging the men not to work. A rumour was current to-day that they were about to return to Victoria, and that Mr. Fulton had arranged to have them arrested if they attempted to do so, but the police authorities deny the authenticity of the report.

To-day Captain Pleitner, accompanied by two local directors, left Adelaide by express for Melbourne for the Baker's Creek mine at Hillgrove. At Melbourne they will order 10 more head of stampers.

THE WEATHER FORECAST.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

BRISBANE, Monday.

Mr. Wragge has issued the following weather forecast for New South Wales:—Generally fine throughout, still rather unsettled, however, along the coast, fresh squalls being probable between Smoky Cape and Tweed River. Slight thunderstorms not unlikely, especially near the northern border.

NEVER DID HARM.

No fluid, for flavour or delicacy, has ever been put before our countrymen equal to Walker's Whisky. It is an old matured spirit which no rival can imitate in bouquet; and no whisky drinker can ever say it did him harm if obtained genuine.—Mason Bros., Sydney agents.—[Advt.]

NEWMARKET SECOND OCTOBER MEETING.

THE MIDDLE PARK PLATE.

[By Cable.]
(From our correspondent.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.

On the third day of the Newmarket Second October Meeting, the Middle Park Plate was decided, with the following result:—

The Middle Park Plate of 500 sovs. added to a sweepstakes of 30 sovs. each, 20 sovs. forfeit, for two-year-olds; colts, 8st. 10lb.; fillies and geldings, 8st. 7lb.; second horse to receive 200 sovs. and the third 100 sovs. out of the stake. Bretley course. 6 furlongs.

Duke of Portland's b c Donovan, by Galopin—Mowerina, 2 years, 8st. 10lb.... 1
Mr. T. Rose's b c Gulliver, by Galliard—Distant Shore, 2 years, 8st. 10lb. 2
M. M. E. Blanc's ch c Clover, by Wellingtonia—Princess Catherine, 2 years, 8st. 10lb. 3

[The Middle Park Plate, which now holds a foremost position among the great two-year-old events of the English turf, was first contested in 1866, when The Rake, by Wild Dayrell, succeeded in defeating a field of 15 youngsters. Since then a number of horses, who have made themselves famous on the turf and at the stud, have been victorious in this event, and among them may be mentioned such well-known names as Pero Gomez (winner of the St. Leger, 1869), Petrarch (winner of St. Leger, 1876), Chamant (winner of Two Thousand Guineas, 1876), Minting (winner of the Grand Prix de Paris, 1886), Jubilee Cup, 1887; and Jubilee Stakes, 1888). and the unbeaten two-year-old colt Friar's Balsam, whose last victory was on Wednesday last, in the Champion Stakes, at the Newmarket second October meeting, and who secured the plate last year. The entries for the Plate closed on November 1, 1887, with 90 subscribers, including some of the best bred stock in the United Kingdom, such aristocratic sires as Peter, Hampton, Sterling, Springfield, George Frederick, Thurio, Retreat, Galopin, Bend Or, Hermit, &c., being well represented. The winner, Donovan, is by Galopin from Mowerina, by Scottish Chief from Stockings, by Stockwell from Gu-a-bead, by Melbourne, and was bred by his owner, the Duke of Portland. He commenced his two-year-old career auspiciously by winning the Brocklesby Stakes, 5 furlongs, at the Lincoln Spring meeting, when his nearest opponents were Poem and Madame Galvani, while there were eight unplaced, and the journey was covered in 1 minute 7 seconds. His next victory was in the Portland Stakes of 7000 sovs., 5 furlongs, at the Leicester Spring meeting, when a field of 25 faced the starter, and the speedy son of Galopin was escorted home by El Dorado, by Stirling—Palmflower, and Your Grace, by Galliard—Grand Duchess, the journey having occupied 1 minute 11 2-5 seconds. At the Manchester Whitsuntide meeting, he ran second to Chitabob in the Whitsuntide Plate, being beaten by four lengths. He next carried the Duke's colours to victory in the Bibury Club Home-bred Foal Stakes, 6 furlongs, at the Bibury Club June meeting, when he went to the post at 100 to 9 on, and easily defeated his only rival, Forloce. He followed up his success by securing the Hurstbourne Stakes, 5 furlongs, at the Stockbridge June meeting, beating five competitors. At the Newmarket July meeting he won the July Stakes, 6 furlongs, beating Gold, by Stirling, easily. His next essay was at the Goodwood August meeting, when he appropriated the Ham Stakes, 6 furlongs, from the Duke of Westminster's filly, Fleur-de-Lys, and ran third to El Dorado in the Prince of Wales Stakes. Gulliver, who filled second place, is by Galliard from Distant Shore, by Hermit from Land's End, by Trumpeter from Faraway, by Young Melbourne, and was bred by his owner. He won the Richmond Stakes, 6 furlongs, at the Goodwood August meeting, when he defeated a field of half-a-dozen. Clover, who came home third, is by Wellingtonia from Princess Catherine, and has yet to score a win on the turf. Last year the Plate was won by Friar's Balsam, who defeated Hazlehatch, Seabreeze, and two others in 1 minute 15 3-5 seconds.]

MR. WESTGARTH ON COLONIAL LOANS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

During Mr. Westgarth's stay in Adelaide, on his way to London, he waited upon the Treasurer, and represented his views on the question of floating colonial loans on the London market. Mr. Playford said that he had corresponded with the Tasmanian Government, who had intimated their intention of placing a loan on the English market early in the coming year at 3 per cent., and had asked the South Australian Government to fix the rate of their next loan at the same price. The Treasurer, in replying, pointed out that in April last he wrote specially to the Agent-General, asking him to forward his views. Sir Arthur Blyth, in responding, expressed his opinion that the Government would not offer a new loan at higher than 3 per cent., and under no circumstances should the rate exceed 3½ per cent. The rate might be fixed not higher than 4 per cent. in the Loan Bill, the Treasurer of the day having power to adopt such lower rate as he might think desirable in the interests of the colony. Mr. Playford said he would adopt the suggestion and also write to Sir Arthur Blyth, calling his attention to the suggestion of the Tasmanian Government, and likewise to the fact that Mr. Westgarth urged the adoption of a 3 per cent. rate, and the uniformity of colonial loans in other respects. Mr. Westgarth considered the Government had acted in the best possible way under the circumstances.

THE MELBOURNE EXHIBITION AWARDS.

(From our correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Monday.

At to-day's meeting of the executive committee of the Exhibition the chairman of the jurors reported that owing to unavoidable irregularities having arisen in making the awards for the exhibits at the temporary show held on the 9th and 10th instant, no awards for flour, oatmeal, and tobacco were made, and the general awards for grain were not reported to the executive. The awards for beers and stout were announced. Amongst them are the following from New South Wales:—Running ales: No first; second, G. Miles and Co., Maitland; G. A. Frankfield, Young. Malt bitter ales: No first or second; third, Treacy and Sons, Wagga Wagga. Strong ales: None. Stout: None. Malt: None.

INTERCOLONIAL NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondents.)

VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Lord Hastings, brother-in-law to Lord Carrington, will be a guest at Government House till Wednesday, when the Austral will resume her voyage to Sydney.

Yesterday, being the Jubilee Sunday of Victorian Congregationalism, the Rev. Dr. Hannay, one of the English delegates, preached at the Collins-street Church. In concluding his discourse, he urged upon the population of these young colonies that their conformity with spiritual and temporal laws was essential to the future greatness of the continent.

A special meeting of the Council of the University to-day placed on record with feelings of deep regret the loss sustained by the University in consequence of the death of Professor Andrew. Drafts of letters were decided upon, which it is intended to forward to the Agent-General in connection with the appointment of professors of law and music. The Agent-General will be asked to arrange that the names of the candidates shall be submitted to the council by the end of January, the desire of the council being that the gentlemen selected shall commence their duties at the end of May.

In connection with the proposed amalgamation of four insurance offices, it is now stated that purely marine offices have an objection to taking over fire business of mixed offices, and this will probably lead to a modification of the plans which have been under consideration.

To-day the railway authorities accepted the following tenders:—For the construction of the Hamilton and Penshurst railway, R. Thornton, £50,846; construction of the Koroit and Dunkeld railway, M. M'Neil and Company, £109,202.

Mr. Justice Molesworth is ill with measles.

The railway authorities have decided to accept the tenders of E. F. Kelly and Co. for 50 goods waggons at £79 2s. 6d. each; Winchester and Scanlon, for 50 at £81 2s. 6d. each; Quayle and Williams, Ballarat, for 250 at £97 17s. 1d. each; P. Bevan and Sons, Footscray, for 6?0, at £98 10s. each.

Mr. T. A. Tabart, chief inspector of stock in Tasmania, had an interview with the Minister for Lands to-day, urging the proposal of his Government to remove Tasmanian sheep from the operation of the regulation which prohibits the introduction of sea-borne sheep in Victoria, unless first dipped as a safeguard against scab. Mr. Dow promised that if regulations were adopted by the Tasmanian Government to provide only for the exportation of clean sheep, he would be glad to consider the proposal for the abolition of dipping.

The attendance at the Exhibition to-day numbered 9194. A concert was given in the evening by the soloists of the Exhibition orchestra. Mr. Henry Williams, Commissioner for Hawaii, presented his credentials on Saturday.

The s.s. Gulf of Venice has brought for New South Wales a thoroughbred entire, two years old, by Muncaster—Carpet Slipper; the Hereford bull Prince Alfred, and the heifer Irvington Lass.

To-day, at a meeting of the Presbytery of Melbourne North, a motion was agreed to without discussion overturning to the General Assembly to consult and use such means as may be devised to get the Bible read daily in the State schools, and its purest code and material taught to the children.

The body of the man found on the railway line near the Ringwood station on Saturday has been identified as that of John Cunningham, who was living in the neighbourhood. He was a steady man, and the occurrence is supposed to have been accidental. He leaves a wife and two children, who are destitute.

A meeting of stevedores and engine-drivers was held at Port Melbourne to-night, but nothing was definitely decided in connection with the existing dispute.

QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Monday.

A deputation from the National Agricultural and Pastoral Association waited on the Premier this morning and asked for a grant of a portion of Victoria Park on which to erect an Exhibition Building, the association having been unable to come to terms with the Acclimatisation Society for the purchase of the present Exhibition Grounds. Sir Thomas M'Ilwraith expressed himself decidedly opposed to granting any part of Victoria Park, and said he had not power to do it.

A short time since the Government decided to establish State nurseries in different parts of the colony, and as a preliminary step instructions have been issued for the survey of 20 acres of a reserve at Mackay in a locality known as "The Lagoons," and 20 acres at Kamerunga near Cairns. So soon as the survey has been completed operations will be commenced with seeds and plants of economic value from other countries.

NORTHERN TERRITORY.

PORT DARWIN, Monday.

Mining news from up-country is fairly satisfactory, and work is steadily progressing. At the Eureka Gold-mining Company the last cleaning up gave 67oz. from 50 tons of stone. It is expected that the railway and telegraph line will reach Burrundie this week. Bakewell's letter (published in Adelaide) as to the necessity for Chinese labour in mining is the general topic of conversation. Indignation is expressed.

Aplin Brown's schooner Cutty Sark arrived to-day from Queensland, and will be employed in lightering and coasting.

TASMANIA.

HOBART, Monday.

A telegram was received by the Ministry to-day from Sir John Pender, dated London, 10th, to the effect that the Eastern Extension Telegraph Company, having taken eminent legal advice, have decided not to accept a period of 10 years for the termination of the cable contract, and insist on 20 years, saying that they have made many concessions to meet the wishes of the colony. The agreement makes the subsidy perpetual so long as the cable service lasts. It is thought probable that the Council will accept a compromise of 20 years.

It is now positively declared that the Premier will not go home as Agent-General, but that the Minister for Lands will be appointed.

The weather is warm, with much fine rain. The crops are highly satisfactory.

THE VICTORIAN BANKS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Up till late nine of the banks of issue doing business in Victoria have made their returns for the quarter ended 30th September. The banks are the London Chartered, English, Scottish, and Australian Chartered, the Federal, the Mercantile, the Commercial, the City of Melbourne, the Australasia, and New South Wales, the order given being that in which the returns have been received. The 9th bank is the Royal of Australia, which reports for the first time. The portion of deposits supplied by the Government is less by £121,618, and other deposits have increased by £11,679.

THE INCORPORATION OF BROKEN HILL.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

Mr. George Lewis, head of the local Government office, arrived at Broken Hill on Saturday to inspect the town, for the purpose of ascertaining the most suitable boundaries for the four wards into which the municipality will be divided, according to the prayer of the petition recently presented. It is not improbable that some of the wards may not contain persons qualified to become aldermen, seeing that there are many newcomers living on the outskirts of the town whose names are not on the roll. Mr. Lewis will take this into consideration in adjusting the boundaries, and will probably consult the compiler of the last roll as to the domicile of electors. Mr. Lewis is of opinion that it would be impossible to hold the first election sooner than has already been decided on. He also states that the question of the division into wards will in nowise delay the election. Mr. Lewis advocates a proper system of tree-planting as a counter agent to fever, and also suggests that it would be advisable to have the municipality proclaimed at once, so as to bring it under the operation of the Nuisances Prevention Act. Mr. Lewis left Broken Hill for Sydney to-night.

PARLIAMENT OF QUEENSLAND.

(From our correspondent.)

BRISBANE, Monday.

In the Legislative Assembly to-day Mr. Drake gave notice of motion affirming the desirability of imposing an excise duty on furniture made by Chinese in the colony equal to the import duty on furniture. Sir Samuel Griffith presented a petition from the Chief Justice (Sir Charles Lilley) and other gentlemen praying that provision be made for the establishment of a university. The House went into Committee of Supply. The remainder of the sitting was occupied in the discussion of the Estimates. Good progress was made. The House rose at 10.40 p.m.

ARRIVAL OF MR. E. M. G. EDDY.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Mr. E. M. G. Eddy, chairman of the Board of New South Wales Railway Commissioners, again visited the New South Wales Court of the Exhibition to-day, and was entertained by Mr. Oscar Meyer. He afterwards left for Sydney by the express. Prior to his departure he visited the Spencer-street railway offices, where he had an interview with the commissioners, and was introduced to the various officers of the department.

THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF VICTORIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A conference between members of the Victorian Congregational Union and the visiting delegates was held to-day in the Council-chambers, Russell-street, Mr. W. Bates presiding. An interesting discussion followed the reading of a paper by the Rev. A. J. Griffith, of New South Wales, on "How to Foster and Develop the Congregational Idea of Church Fellowship."

A service was held this evening in the Collins-street Church, when the Rev. G. Clarke, of Hobart, preached a jubilee sermon.

THE CIVIL WAR IN SAMOA.

THE SITUATION UNCHANGED.

ARRIVAL OF H.M. SHIPS CALLIOPE AND LIZARD.

[By Cable.]
(From our correspondent.)

AUCKLAND, Monday.

News from Samoa to October 2 states that the political situation is unchanged. Tamasese's party are diminishing, being short of supplies. H.M. ships Calliope and Lizard arrived at Apia. Mulinuu Point, Tamasese's head quarters, is protected by German marines. Desultory firing occurs. A boat sent for provisions was fired upon by Mata'a's men. Four of the occupants were shot.

MR. COPELAND, M.L.A., AT ARMIDALE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

ARMIDALE, Monday.

Mr. Copeland, one of the members for the district, addressed a large meeting of electors on Saturday night, in the Town Hall. The Mayor was in the chair. Mr. Copeland strongly censured the Government for wasting valuable time by introducing and discussing bills which they never intended carrying through. He severely castigated the Minister for Public Instruction, his colleague, more particularly with reference to his statements at Uralla some days ago, charging the Opposition with wasting time and obstructing useful legislation. He brought forward elaborate statistics showing the advantages of protection over free trade. He denied emphatically that the Opposition wished possession of the Treasury benches, but that they intended to compel the present Government to remain in office until the country was thoroughly sick and tired of Sir Henry Parkes and free trade. A vote of confidence, proposed by Mr. Scholes and seconded by Mr. Jackes, was carried almost unanimously, only two or three hands being held up against it. The protectionists rolled up strongly. Mr. Copeland's friends entertained him at a picnic at Guyra to-day, and he addresses electors in several parts of the electorate before returning to Sydney.

CENTENNIAL CHESS CONGRESS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Play in the major tourney of the Centennial Chess Congress was continued to-day. Tullidge of Victoria, mated with Riggs, of New South Wales, in 32 moves, the game played being the French defence. At board 2, Lampe (Victoria) was matched against Charlick (South Australia), who played his favourite gambit, Petroff defence. Lampe resigned after the 37th move. At board 3, Crane (New South Wales) met Hay (New Zealand). Crane adopted the Heinits attack in the French defence. Hay resigned after the 34th move. At board 4, Stanley (Victoria) opposed Brocklebank (New Zealand). The gambit adopted was the Petroff defence. Stanley resigned after the 40th move. The scores at the close of the day's play stand—Charlick 2, Crane 2, Brocklebank 1, Lampe 1, Tullidge 1, Hay nil, Higgs nil.

At the conclusion of the play, the Executive Committee met to receive the hon. treasurer's report of the entries received for the minor tourney. The number was 20. It was resolved to allow all to compete. They were drawn in sections, as follows:—

Section 1.—Messrs. Wood (New Zealand), Moulden, Williams, Arnell, and Sprin?.

Section 2.—Messrs. Morell, Howard (South Australia), Clarkson, Green (New Zealand), and Weldon.

Section 3.—Messrs. Heaver, Crewe, Teale, Hodgson, and Landels.

Section 4.—Messrs. Mayston, Harrison (South Australia), Margham, Thomas, and Friedlander.

These paired in the order in which the names are given, the last in each section having a bye in the first round, in which play began to-night at the Thistle Club.

COUNTRY NEWS.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondents.)

ALBION PARK, Monday.

John Pow, an old-resident Chinaman, hanged himself in his bedroom on Saturday evening. He had long suffered from an internal complaint. He leaves a European wife and three children, who live on a small poultry farm.

BATHURST, Monday.

Mr. J. E. Tonkin, M.L.A., has returned from a successful tour through the electorate of East Macquarie. The places visited were Sofala, Wattle Flat, Mitchell, and Oberon. At each he delivered an address on free trade, and obtained a good hearing and a cordial reception, the protectionists combining with the free-traders to give him a welcome. Mr. Tonkin intended to visit other centres, but neither the time at his disposal nor the state of his health will permit him to do so.

A deputation waited on the Mayor on Saturday, representing the various friendly societies, and asked the municipal council to open the old goal park to the people as a memorial of the centennial year, on December 31, on which date the societies have arranged for a demonstration at Bathurst. The Mayor gave a favourable reply, and said that the council would communicate with the Government on the subject without delay.

BEGA, Monday.

The last Government Gazette, of Thursday, the 18th, proclaimed a public holiday in the "electoral district of Eden." It should have been the "district of Eden" only, as the holiday was granted in honour of the opening of the Wyndham School of Arts. Unless corrected in to-morrow's Gazette all the banks and Government offices in the electorate will be closed.

The weather is hot and dry. There is no sign of rain.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

Mr. Price, special commissioner from Sydney to report on the water supply, has intimated unofficially to the press that Mr. Stockdale's scheme for supplying Broken Hill from the Darling and Speculation Lake is thoroughly practicable, and can be easily carried out. Mr. Price leaves Menindie by coach on Tuesday for Wentworth.

CARGO, Monday.

Hamilton's Hotel was burnt to the ground yesterday. The fire started between 4 and 5 in the morning, and the inmates only escaped partly dressed. The adjoining building, in the occupation of John Mobbs, storekeeper, was also destroyed. Very little was saved. The hotel and furniture are insured. Mrs. Hamilton is at Parramatta for the good of her health; her husband was killed here 20 months ago.

Power's stables were destroyed by fire on Tuesday night last, the damage done amounting to £250. It is estimated that the damage to Hamilton's and Mobbs's properties is between one and two thousand pounds.

GOULBURN, Monday.

Mr. T. Rose, protectionist, is visiting the various centres in the electorate of Argyle, and is meeting with most favourable receptions.

Mr. Holborow has announced his intention of again being a candidate at next election. He says he will contest it on the issue of free trade alone. It is generally believed that there is a strong protectionist feeling in Argyle.

INVERELL, Monday.

The number of children on the rolls in the schools within the Inverell district for the quarter ended September was 4851, the average attendance being 3442. There are in operation throughout the district, and over which Inspector Heavis has supervision, the following schools:—Public, 75; provisional, 22; half time, 2; house to house, 4; total, 103. These schools are scattered over a very large area of country.

The total revenue at the local land office for the quarter ended September amounted to £1537 6s. 1d.

A terrible dust storm, accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning and rain, passed over here last evening about 8 o'clock. The storm lasted about one hour. Only a few points of rain fell.

LITHGOW, Monday.

Mr. Thomas Young, a very old resident, died to-day. Deceased was well known in the district. He was an old Federal soldier in the American civil war, where he lost the sight of one eye.

MENINDIE, Monday.

The weather is clear and cool.

Shearing operations are finished on most stations in this neighbourhood.

The rabbit plague is about at a standstill on Albemarle Station.

MUDGEE, Monday.

A woman named Welsh, living near Mudgee, was accidentally shot by her brother. The charge entered her hip.

A butter factory is to be started here. The farmers appear to take great interest in the proposal.

The weather is extremely hot, and rain is much wanted.

The revenue received at the Mudgee Land Office from January to September 30 was £6442.

A valuable discovery of pottery clay has been made near Mudgee. It is now being used at the Lithgow pottery.

NARRABRI, Monday.

Patrick Connors was to-day charged with indecently assaulting Mrs. Charles Esther, wife of an innkeeper at Gallathers, and also with indecently assaulting Charlotte Baker, a servant at the Travellers' Rest, at Gallathers. The prisoner was remanded till Friday. The bench by a majority, the Police Magistrate dissenting, granted bail, self in £100, and two sureties of £100 each.

The land revenue for the last quarter was £2998 14s., being £800 in excess of the previous quarter.

RYLSTONE, Monday.

The heat of the past few days has been intense. Bush fires are extending in all directions.

WALGETT, Monday.

The weather continues very dry, and there is no appearance of rain. Only 75 points have fallen since the 1st of June. The rivers Barwon and Namoi have almost ceased running. Station owners on both rivers are making dams to conserve water for stock.

A murderous assault took place at Goodooga on Friday night. A man named Emanuel Beazley had his head split open with a tomahawk by a young man named Church, or Olsen, who is now in custody. Beazley is being conveyed to the Walgett hospital. His depositions have been taken, but it is now thought he will recover.

The police magistrate has just returned from Mogil Mogil and Collarendebri, where he fined a man named Payne, a saddler, £3 for illtreating and beating an orphan boy, named Coleman, left in his charge. Several shearers were fined for acts of lawlessness, a number of them threatening to pull down the Collarendebri lockup, and only for the assistance of some respectable residents they would have carried out their threat.

LOCKING THE RIVER DARLING.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

MENINDIE, Monday.

Mr. G. H. Halligan, of the Harbours and Rivers Department, who has been deputed by the Government to report on the feasibility of a scheme for locking the River Darling, and the desirability of resuming snagging operations on the same river, has arrived in Menindie. He leaves to-day for Pooncarie and Broken Hill. The River Darling water supply scheme is strongly advocated here, and has again been pronounced practicable, this time by Mr. Price, the special commissioner.

GUN ACCIDENT AT HARTLEY VALE.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

LITHGOW, Monday.

A fearful gun accident occurred at Hartley Vale at half-past 7 on Sunday evening. It appears that a young man, named James Foy, intended lending his gun to another young man for the purpose of going shooting on Monday. He was handing the gun, which was loaded, through a window, when the sill of the window caught the hammer and pulled it up. The hammer immediately fell, and the charge exploded, shooting three sisters of Foy, who were standing in the garden, six yards from the window. There were four together. One was shot in the neck, another in the arm, another in the side, and the fourth escaped unhurt. A horseman was immediately despatched to Mount Victoria and Lithgow. Doctors Gibbons and Morgan were soon in attendance, although Dr. Gibbons had to ride nine miles. Two of the sisters are not much hurt, but the one who was shot in the side is pronounced to be seriously injured. The affair caused quite a sensation in the township.

THE LATE MR. JOHN L. HALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Seeing the announcement of the death of John L. Hall, the comedian, in the Herald of to-day, and observing that the Melbourne telegram has fallen into error as to Mr. Hall's arrival in the colonies, permit me to tender a few lines of information as to his first appearance on the stage, which took place at the Victoria Theatre, Pitt-street, Sydney, at the end of 1854 (then under the management of Mr. Andrew Torning), in the comic drama, "To Parents and Guardians," playing one of the school boys with the writer of these lines, Miss Anna Maria Quinn (the child actress; being the Bob Nettles, H. T. Clemen, the London author and actor playing the Old French Master. Mr. Hall, in the Christmas pantomime of that same year, played Harlequin for the first time, and was quite a success. At the time of his playing at above he was engaged by Mr. Torning as assistant in the paintroom of the theatre. Mr. Hall was a very excellent pantomimist-hornpipe dancer and mimic in those early days just 34 years ago.

AMUSEMENTS.

GAIETY THEATRE.

At the Gaiety Theatre last evening, a variety and burlesque company, organised by Mr. L. Foley, commenced a season by presenting a very entertaining programme of songs, dances, &c. The audience, which was no doubt largely composed of those who took part in the eight-hour demonstration, thoroughly appreciated the efforts of the various performers, and, indeed, encored almost every number. The occasion was marked by the first appearance of the Spanish Musketeers, and by the reappearance of Miss Bell Stuart, soprano singer and burlesque artist, and Mr. Horace Bent, the negro delineator, with whom Australian audiences are well acquainted. The entertainment was divided into three parts, the first and second comprising songs and dances, and the third being the representation of Horace Bent's farce, "An Untamed Savage." Besides the artists already mentioned the company includes Mr. Alf. Moynham, the Oscar Brothers, and some very good male singers.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

The Hamilton Jubilee Singers and specialty artists celebrated their opening night last evening at the Academy of Music with much éclat, in the presence of a holiday audience. A good programme of songs, dances, and performances of a variety character was given, and was much enjoyed. The principal artists were Messrs. Charlie Fanning, Turner, Horton, Edwards, and J. J. M'Namara. The members of the company generally proved themselves efficient and entertaining, and judging by last night's performance they will in all probability have a prolonged season of success.

Miss Amy Sherwin's farewell season of five nights will commence at the Y. M. C. A. Hall to-night. The opening programme, which appears in our advertising columns, is of an exceptionally interesting character. Miss Sherwin is supported by several well-known artists.

THE EIGHT-HOUR DEMONSTRATION.

PROCESSION OF TRADES.

SPORTS AT PARRAMATTA.

The Eight-hour Carnival was held yesterday, and despite the fact that the Government had declined to proclaim the day a public holiday, it was in was in no wey inferior to previous events of a similar character. It is believed that a very small number of operatives were deterred from joining in the festival on account of the day not being a holiday, and it is extremely doubtful whether the number of spectators who lined the streets to watch the progress of the procession would have been much larger even had the day been completely given up by all sections of the community to merrymaking. The demonstration was a complete success, and whilst there was one indication in the procession that this colony was not altogether such a paradise for the working-man that he could do altogether as he liked, even to the extent of determining the rate of remuneration which his labour was worth, there were many others which supported the statement made by the Colonial Treasurer a few days ago, that there was no festival which should afford so much gratification to the people of the colony as the Eight-hours procession. Looking at the procession from a spectacular point of view it was exceedingly effective, and illustrated in a high degree the financial resources of the trade societies. There were no fewer than 22 banners, and as the average cost of these would probably be not less than £40 or £50, it will be seen that the expenditure in that direction has during the existence of the several societies been something very considerable A blue ground with crimson border seemed to be the style of banner in favour. Not only had much artistic skill been employed in designing and painting the banners, but a considerable degree of taste in respect to the supports, guys, and other mountings of the banners had been exercised. One of the sets of mountings consisted of very striking and costly rods of spiral metal, plated with nickel. The only banner—if it might be called a banner—which seemed out of harmony with the true object of the gathering, which many understood to be exclusively of a festive character, was a small one, more resembling a rubbish depot whose presence anything else, announcing that the group to whose presence it directed attention were "carpenters and joiners on strike," who adopted the same means of soliciting the support of non-union men. The designs on the better description of banners were very varied in character. The mottoes or proclamations of the principles actuating some of the societies were at least very striking. Many of the banners typified the division of the day into three parts of eight hours, so that periods of equal duration should be available for rest, labour, and recreation. The Eight-hours movement in this colony was originated by the Masons' Society, and their banner not only claimed for them the honour of being the pioneers in the movement, but enunciated their principle in the language of a commandment—"Eight hours shalt thou work, and no more; and this shall be the law of the land." So far as music was concerned there were no fewer than 22 bands, all in uniform, including a band of pipers clad in Highland costume. Of trollies there were nearly 30, and as several of these were drawn by teams of eight splendid draught horses, gaily caparisoned, this was not the least attractive feature of the procession. There were no other vehicles which formed part of the procession. As on former occasions, various trades and handicrafts, as well as some new inventions, were represented in such a manner as to excite some interest. Perhaps the most appropriate of these displays was a huge representation of the Australian coat of arms, an excellent specimen of modelling which served to emphasise the fact that the Sydney United Plasterers' Society was in the Eight-hour ranks. The coat of arms was borne upon a large trolly, and was supported by some excellent specimens of centrepieces (for ceilings), vases, cornices, and other mouldings. The most novel of the specimens illustrative of handicraft was a steam launch mounted on a large boiler trolly. The launch was 31ft. overall, had a beam of 7ft., and weighed 6 tons. It was manned by a crew, and that it was not a mere toy was shown by smoke ascending from the funnel, by the revolutions of the screw, and from time to time by the sounding of the whistle. The steam launch, which is ordinarily used for making pleasure-trips, was built at Balmain by three novices, and is known by the name of "The Novice." The printers' art—the art which has done so much for the enlightenment of the world, for securing the liberties of the people, in educating mankind, and in promoting good government—was represented by a compositor at the case and by a treadle machine, from which handbills were issued for distribution amongst the crowds who accompanied the procession. Then certain steam sawmills and joinery works, the enterprising proprietors of which are Messrs. Tabrett and Draper, illustrated their capabilities by a splendid display (arranged on a large lorry) of staircases, doors, sashes, turnery, mantelpieces, and ornamental furniture. The Farriers' Society was as usual rendered conspicuous by the mode they adopted of illustrating their art. Two trollies were employed for this purpose, one showing a forge in full operation, and the other bearing a piebald horse which patiently submitted to being shod for the instruction of the public. Amongst examples of coachmakers' work was an excellent specimen of a brougham-front cab, of such fine workmanship and finish as to call forth much admiration. The vehicle was coloured with olive-green and black, and had a surface which almost rivalled in smoothness and reflective power the face of a mirror. The ornamentation of the cab embraced chased windows set in frames of ash. The vehicle was made at the factory of Mr. J. M'Laughlin, of Castlereagh-street. Near the cab was a Parisian phaeton, the workmanship of which challenged attention. There was also an unfinished Parisian phaeton, furnished with a reversible front seat, readily adjustable, so that the vehicle could be converted into a victoria. Another novelty was a patent milkcart, a feature of which was a small platform at the back, fitted with seats, and so constructed as to facilitate the work of delivery and to diminish as much as possible the danger of either the driver or the boy being run over by the vehicle which they attend upon. Two specimens of bakers' carts, which had the driver's seat at the back, projecting as in the case of hansom cabs, were also noticed in the procession. Coming to the "processionists," they were all without exception well clad; they were, despite the fact that many of them were sacrificing a day's pay, exceedingly joyous; and they showed that their means of subsistence afforded a margin for something more than actual necessities by wearing scarfs, aprons, rosettes, ribbons, badges, and other articles of adornment. No section of the community so dearly loves a little millinery as the working classes. The regalia displayed yesterday was very various in design. There was at least one of those in the ranks who showed that he had quite as keenly an appreciative eye for millinery as any lady ever had. His shoulders carried a scarf so heavily laden with embellishments of bullion lace and bullion fringe that he almost staggered under the weight of them. His breast was ornamented with sufficient gold to have satisfied the most vain of military officers; and to heighten the effect of these decorations there dangled from the ends of his scarf no less than eight strips of rich bullion fringe—material the cost of which must have been something considerable. The societies who took part in the procession were—

1. United Plasterers.
2. Tinsmiths and Sheet-iron Workers.
3. Balmain Labourers.
4. Typographical Association.
5. United Boilermakers.
6. Quarrymen.
7. Plumbers, Gasfitters, and Galvanised Iron Workers.
8. Gas Stokers.
9. Stonemasons.
10. United Labourers' Protective Society.
11. Shipwrights.
12. United Painters.
13. Federated Seamen's Union.
14. Amalgamated Carpenters.
15. Bricklayers.
16. Coachmakers.
17. Ironmoulders.
18. Amalgamated Engineers.
19. Farriers.
20. Progressive Carpenters.
21. Operative Bakers.
22. Federated Stewards' and Cooks' Union.

It is estimated that between 5000 and 6000 persons took part in the procession. Forming the rear of it were many objects designed to advertise various business establishments of the city. Amongst these was a representation of a huge white elephant, which, strange as it may seem, was employed to advertise the attractions of one of the best appointed, and certainly one of the most successful of the skating rinks established in our midst. A number of arabs derived no small amount of pleasure from the demonstration. The youngsters had improvised a banner, made out of white calico, and rudely painted, so that it informed the public that they were the "Darktown Brigade;" they were moreover "eight-hour men;" and further still their banner told the public "We are protectionists." They carried the Australian flag, and their equipment included some nondescript kinds of vehicles, which were intended to represent fire engines.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession is always a popular feature of Eight-hour Day, and this year no doubt it occupied an unusually important position in the day's festivities, since a great many metropolitans were precluded from sharing in the festivities at Parramatta Park. The procession this year was undoubtedly one of the best of the kind which has ever marched through the streets of Sydney. The popular mind might have expected more exhibits of the various handicrafts, but from a trades union point of view, there was more real interest shown by the participants in presenting a creditable appearance in point of numbers than has been observable for a long time. This is very largely due to the untiring efforts of the general secretary, Mr. H. Goode, who has from the beginning done everything that could be done under the circumstances to make the Demonstration a success. On Monday evening last, when the Eight-hour Committee resolved to hold the Demonstration a week later, Mr. Goode announced his intention of throwing his whole energy into the matter. His announcement was received with cheers, and from that moment the committee made extraordinary efforts to overcome the obstacles consequent upon a postponement of the celebration. Many members of the various trades unions were unable to take part in yesterday's procession owing to the nature of their employment, and this was the case with some of the maritime societies. Then, again, there were others who were engaged upon special contracts and could not leave work on that account. If the day had been a public holiday it is thought a still greater number of trades unionists would have turned out; but as it was, the total number must have been between 5000 and 6000 persons. The various societies assembled at their respective headquarters at an early hour yesterday morning, whence they proceeded to Cook Park, where the procession was to be formed. The scene at the rendezvous shortly after 8 o'clock was a peculiar one. It was just the hour when the streets of that portion of the city are filled with people passing on their way to business, as well as for the number of children proceeding to the various schools in the locality. As might be expected, when the societies began to arrive, one by one, each preceded by its respective band, people would stop for a few moments to satisfy a natural curiosity and watch what was taking place. The crowd soon increased to considerable proportions, and gradually the streets adjacent to the Park were absolutely packed. On all sides handsome society banners could be seen swelling in the breeze. Bands played, and those who had charge of the procession rushed to and fro in the dense crowd, issuing orders to the various organisations. School children pushed their way through the crowd in their eagerness to see everything possible for them to see; while a number of advertising agents improved the occasion by distributing handbills, cakes of tobacco, &c., among those present, making altogether a lively scene. Soon the time arrived for the procession to start, and word to that effect was accordingly passed along the line. The bands struck up their liveliest airs, and what had been but a few moments before apparently a chaotic mass of humanity, horses, trollies, and banners now assumed the definite form of a procession. The line of march, as previously announced, was along Macquarie-street, to Bridge-street to George-street and thence to the Redfern railway station. First came members of the Eight-hour Demonstration Committee, preceded by the marshals—Messrs. Saunders, Buller, and Jenkins, and the Naval Artillery Volunteer Band: their banner was the old one, which has figured so often before on similar occasions, and which is regarded with a kind of reverence by all metropolitan trades unionists. Then came the Sydney Operative Plasterers' Society, about 100 strong, with their banner. Each member wore a blue rosette and a white apron embellished with blue designs. Their exhibit was a very well executed plaster cast of the Australian coat of arms, from the shop of Mr. W. Rooke. The exhibit was carried on a trolly drawn by four horses. On one side of the exhibit were the words,

You plasterers outside us,
Like men come and join us;
Stand by your banner with
Cheer, heart and hand;
May protection unite us
To do good one and all,
United we stand,
Divided we fall.

Next came the Tinsmiths and Sheet-Iron Workers' Society, preceded by the Britannia Band. This society numbers over 100 members, but only about 80 figured in the procession. Besides the banner, which was designed after the badge of the kindred London society, two members on horseback illustrated their trade by wearing tin and iron armour respectively. The Balmain Labourers, preceded by a band of Highland pipers, followed the Tinsmiths. They numbered about 50, and presented a very creditable appearance. The Typographical Association, headed by the Balmain Coldstream Band, followed. Their banner was carried on a trolly. They had also an exhibit of their craft on another trolly, kindly lent them by Mr. R. Doig, which consisted of a compositor at work at his case, while another printed handbills by means of a model platen printing-machine. Only about 50 members turned out, although the society numbers about 500. The absence of a large number of members, however, is explained by the fact that they were pursuing their vocation on the previous night. Then came the United Boilermakers' Society, about 200 strong, with their banner. They were headed by the Glebe Band. The Quarrymen, with the Fitzmount United Band, followed the boilermakers. They carried their society's banner, and were each decorated with a blue ribbon as a society badge. This society had three exhibits representing their trade—one being a large block of stone from Mr. E. Crossland's quarry, carried on a trolly drawn by six bay horses; another block of stone, weighing about 7½ tons, from Messrs. Loveridge and Hudson's quarry, and intended for the Centennial Park Gates, was carried on an eight-horse trolly, while a third block of stone, from Mr. Irwin's quarry, weighing about four tons, was carried on a six-horse trolly. The Plumbers' Society, numbering about 80 men, preceded by the Mascotte Band, of Darlinghurst, came next. They had an exhibit of their handicraft carried on a trolly, which consisted of work from the Technical College class, also journeymen plumbers' work. Then came the Gas Stokers, headed by the Imperial Band. About 150 men belonging to this society turned out. Next came the Stonemasons' Society, preceded by the Balmain Alliance Band. About 250 members of this society marched yesterday, and besides their banner they had as an exhibit a block of stone carried on a trolly, on which were operatives at work cutting the stone, after the manner of their craft. The United Labourers' Protection Society followed next in order. They numbered about 125 members, and were headed by the St. Barnabas' Onward Band, and, carrying their society banner, presented a very creditable appearance. The Shipwrights' Society, represented by over 200 strong, and headed by the Cumberland Band, came next. They carried their new banner, which excited considerable attention among the onlookers. Each member also wore blue ribbons, inscribed with the name of the society. Four models of vessels illustrating the shipwrights' trade was also carried by members of the organisation. The United Friendly Trade and Benefit Society of Painters were represented by about 350 members. They were preceded by French's Band, and presented a very fine appearance. The Federated Seamen's Union were headed by the 1st Regiment band. The St. Benedict's fife and drum band also accompanied the union. This society numbers about 5000 members, but only about 400 marched in yesterday's procession. The seamen had as an exhibit a steam launch—evidently belonging to the A. U. S. N. Company, from the appearance of the funnel—carried on a trolly drawn by six horses. Full steam was up. During the procession the screw was kept revolving, while every now and then the steam whistle was sounded. The Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, and with them the Progressive Society of Carpenters, came next in the procession. It was originally intended that the latter society should appear in another part of the procession, but owing to the manner in which the two organisations had been brought together during the carpenters' dispute, it was decided that these two societies should march together. Accordingly the Oriental Band, engaged by the Amalgamated Society, and French's Model Band, engaged by the Progressive Society, marched together at the head of the two bodies. They numbered altogether about 300 men. Specimens of their handicraft were carried by members. There was also a number of exhibits from Messrs. Tabrett and Draper's establishment, carried on a trolly drawn by eight horses. The carpenters also displayed an invitation to their fellow-tradesmen out on strike to join them. The bricklayers followed next with about 160 men. They carried their banner, and wore on their left arms a white band, on which a trowel was represented. The Coachmakers followed next in order. They were preceded by the Granville Band. They numbered about 75 members, and besides their banner they carried three exhibits. One exhibit was a patent hansom cab from Mr. M'Laughlin's shops, Castlereagh-street, while another exhibit comprised two ladies' phaetons from Messrs. O'Brien's establishment. A third exhibit was a patent milk cart from Mr. Burrell's shop, Balmain. The Ironmoulders, about 200 strong, were preceded by the Redfern Temperance Band. They carried their banner, and each member wore a blue-and-white ribbon as a badge. The Amalgamated Society of Engineers, numbering about 200 men, made a very fine appearance. Mr. Garrard, M.L.A., accompanied this society. The Farriers' Society were preceded by the Croydon Brass Band. They numbered about 60 men. This society gave an exhibition of their craft by shoeing a horse during the progress of the procession. The Operative Bakers' Society were about 200 strong. Each member wore pink rosettes. Besides their new banner, which has been recently described in this journal, the society had as exhibits various kinds of bread made at different "eight-hour" shops. Besides the bread, about 12 trollies loaded with bags of flour followed the society. The last society in the procession was that of the Stewards and Cooks. About 50 members turned out. Their new banner, which was carried for the first time, was much admired. After this last-mentioned society a number of advertising vehicles followed up the procession, and considerable merriment was occasioned by the appearance of a chimney sweep, also several juvenile "fire companies," and a mammoth elephant.

THE STREETS.

The streets, generally speaking, presented an ordinary appearance, and there were only a few flags displayed, those being principally in Lower George-street and in George-street South, off Park-street. All along the line of the procession the streets were crowded with onlookers. As the procession approached the office of the Colonial Secretary, the bands of the various societies played the National Anthem in honour of his Excellency the Governor, Lord Carrington, who had left Government House for the Colonial secretary's office specially for the purpose of witnessing the procession. His Excellency was accompanied by his three daughters and also by Sir Henry Loch, Governor of Victoria, Captain Ogilvy, and Mr. F. H. Cowen, musical director at the Melbourne Exhibition. Sir Henry Parkes witnessed the procession from the colonnade of the Colonial Secretary's office. The procession, on reaching the Redfern Railway Station, disbanded. A large number of people then took train for Parramatta Park, where the sports and other features of the demonstration were carried out.

THE SPORTS PROGRAMME.

The cricket ground within the park was used for running off the events in the sports programme, and it served the purpose admirably. The turf was fresh and green and the arena very picturesque. Unfortunately for all concerned the spectators crowded in upon the competitors, and no amount of persuasion could remove them effectually. For short intervals they were induced to remain outside the ropes, and in these periods some progress was made, but as a rule everything was late. It was generally admitted that the sports were a disappointment owing to the inability of the police and committee to keep the people back. The first event was timed to start at half-past 10 o'clock, but it was fully 11 before the pistol signalled the first start. Some advance was afterwards made, the lost half-hour being regained; but the surging and pushing that occurred over the obstacle race upset all the arrangements and threw the subsequent events completely out of time. At half-past 4 only three events were finished, namely, the Old Buffers' Race, the Obstacle Race and the Sack Race, besides the first and second rounds of the Maiden, the Apprentices and All-comers' Handicaps. There were still on the programme the Tug of War, the Eight-hour Handicap, the Steeplechase, Three Miles Walking Handicap, Seven Hundred Yards Handicap, Egg-and-Spoon Race, All-comers' Obstacle Race, Three-legged Race, and Handicap Quoit Match. Some of the races were very unsatisfactory, owing to competitors running under wrong names, and protests and disqualifications were rather numerous. Before darkness set in the committee managed to run off the Eight-hour Handicap, the finals in the Maiden, the Apprentices and the All-comers' Handicaps, and to conclude the Tug-of-war, the Quoit Match, and the Sack Race. The other events which it was found impossible to enter upon were the Steeplechase, the Three-mile Walking Handicap, the 700 Yards Handicap, the Egg-and-Spoon Race, the Three-legged Race, and All-comers' Obstacle Race. The competitors were dissatisfied at the failure to negotiate the programme, and many of them expressed a wish to withdraw their entrance fees. These events will probably be run off next week. The Eight-Hour Committee will decide the question at its next meeting.

The Art Union drawing of 120 prizes, the first being an allotment of land, situate in Junction-street, Woollahra, and valued at £150, was conducted in a conspicuous part of the ground by Mr. W. F. Schey. Mr. Melville and Mr. Hawthorne, M.L.A., were also present. The following are the winning numbers of the principal prizes:—1st prize, No. 24,305; 2nd prize, 5216; 3rd prize, 13,138; 7th prize, 12,907; 10th prize, 6492; 31st prize, 13,238; 41st prize, 132; 64th prize, 27,428; 66th prize, 27,137; 64th prize, 17,306; 85th prize, 146. The following are the results of the events contested:—

Maiden Race 100 yards.—For those who had never won an advertised prize. First prize, £4; second prize, £1. Prizes presented by Mr. Warby, Liverpool Arms, King and Pitt streets: This was run off in heats, the first round being of nine. In the second round the competitors were reduced to four, namely:—C. Lee, J. Parker, J. Plastering, and E. Grey. In the final Lee and Parker run a dead heat, and in the run-off Lee won by a few inches, after a splendid contest.

Apprentices' Handicap, 125 yards.—For apprentices working at any trade represented on the Eight-hour Demonstration Committee, 1888. Winners of first prize at any previous Eight-hour sports not eligible. First prize, £3 3s.; second prize, suit of clothes, value £3 3s., presented by M. Goulston, tailor, Market-street: The competitors were very numerous, no fewer than 14 heats being necessary to reduce it to the following winners:—A. Stanley, 1; W. Turner, 2.

Old Buffers' Handicap, 100 Yards.—For bona fide society men, 45 years of age and over. Conditions same as Eight-hour Handicap. First prize, £4 and 5lb. of tobacco; second prize, watch and chain, value £3 3s, presented by W. Kerr, jeweller, George-street, and 3lb. of tobacco; third prize, ham, value £1, presented by J. Dynes, Sussex-street, and 2lb. of tobacco, the tobacco presented by C. Loughnan, George-street: G. Taylor, 1; J. Hallinan, 2; J. Smitham, 3.

Obstacle Race, about 350 Yards.—Open to society men only. Same conditions as Eight-hour Handicap. First prize, £7 7s, presented by S. Punch, George and Park streets; second prize, £2 and a roll of Irish pigtail tobacco, value £1 5s, presented by C. Loughnan, George-street: M. Spies, 1; J. A. Cullver, 2.

All Comers' Handicap, about 125 Yards.—First prize, £15; second prize, £3; third prize, £2. Thirteen heats were necessary before the final was reached. It ended in a victory for T. Agnew, J. Stanley being second, and J. Walsh third.

Sack Race, 75 yards.—Open to all-comers. First prize, £3; second prize, £1 10s; third prize, 15s: W. Johnson, 1: T. M'Farland, 2; and J. Colledge, 3.

Tug-of-war.—Open to all Societies represented on the Demonstration Committee, 1888; one team (10 men) only from each society. First prize, £10 and 5lb worth of tobacco; second prize, £5 and £2 10s worth of tobacco. Tobacco presented by Dixon and Sons, Park and Elizabeth streets. The competitors were from the Gas Stokers Society, the tinsmiths, bakers, farriers, quarrymen, United Labourers' and Seamens' Union. The gas stokers were the victors, the seamen being the runners up.

Eight-Hour Handicap, 1 mile 220 yards.—For members of societies represented on Eight-Hour Demonstration Committee, 1888, who have been financial on their society's books three months prior to the demonstration of 1888. First prize, £10 and gold medal; second prize, £5; third prize, £2: B. Hill (Painters'), 1; S. Hutton (Carpenters'), 2.

Handicap Quoit Match.—Quoits not to exceed 6lb. in weight, diameter not more than 8in.; 21 up; limit, 4 points; turf ends. First prize, £5; second prize, £3; third prize, pipe value 15s, presented by C. Carroll, Oxford-street: T. Noble, 1; W. Morrow, 2; G. Halliday, 3.

EXCURSIONS.

Most of the holiday resorts "down the harbour" wore a somewhat deserted appearance yesterday, and with three or four exceptions there was no appreciable influx of visitors at many of the favourite spots to be found on the margin of Port Jackson. A number of people spent the day at Clontarf, where dancing in the new pavilion and other forms of amusement were indulged in. Athol Gardens was the scene of a temperance and family picnic, and Chowder Bay was patronised by those who enjoy a ramble on the sandy beach at that place, or prefer to scale the rugged cliffs at the back of the hotel in search of the lovely wild flowers which are to be obtained in the locality. Manly Beach, Watson's Bay, and Mosman's Bay were also visited by a number of holiday folk, while others journeyed to Parramatta by water. Compared with the holidays apart for the purpose of merrymaking, the number of those who journeyed down the harbour was very few. No serious accidents were reported. There was a very fair attendance at the St. Joseph Banks Pleasure Grounds at Botany, where the director, Mr. F. Smith, had made ample provision for the enjoyment of those who elected to spend the day on the shores of the historic bay. The New Brighton Recreation Grounds, Lady Robinson's Beach, were well patronised, footracing, donkey-riding, swinging-boats, cricket, and other sports being participated in. At the New Brighton Pavilion, adjoining the hotel, Lady Robinson's Beach, dancing and roller-skating were the principal forms of recreation, and those present appeared to enjoy themselves most thoroughly. The very fine collection of animals, birds, and reptiles to be found at the Zoological Gardens, Moore Park, was inspected with considerable interest by those of both sexes who repaired to that popular place of amusement. The grounds looked lovely after the rain, and the elephants and donkeys proved very amusing to the juveniles.

RAILWAY AND TRAMWAY TRAFFIC.

As was to be expected, there was a considerable increase in the railway and tramway traffic yesterday. Some of the trains proceeding to Parramatta in the morning were crowded with holiday-makers, and there was an increase in the number of passengers travelling on all the suburban lines. Although the traffic between the metropolis and Parramatta was very great, the railway officials experienced little difficulty in providing the necessary rolling stock, and the majority of the passengers were conveyed to and fro in good time and without mishap. The trams were well patronised during the forenoon. In the afternoon a number of pleasure-seekers journeyed out to Bondi, Coogee, Botany, and the other places of interest on the tram routes within the metropolitan area. Notwithstanding the crush of pleasure-seekers on certain trams, the department was enabled to carry on the service with satisfactory results.

THE THEATRES.

The "Tomboy," at the Royal, attracted a good house last evening. This lively play was received with manifestations of approval, and the acting of Miss Carrie Swain caused as much amusement as ever. The swimming and diving scene in the third act was loudly applauded. "Richelieu," at Her Majesty's Theatre, was witnessed by an appreciative audience, the various points in the great historical play being well received. The Criterion was well patronised, the presentation of the comedy drama, "Coming Home; or, Sithors to Grind," being viewed with marked attention by all present. The well-known Irish drama, "The Shaughraun," was repeated before an appreciative audience at St. George's Theatre, Newtown.

OTHER AMUSEMENTS.

An entirely new programme was presented to the patrons of the Alhambra Music Hall last evening. There was a crowded house, and the several numbers on the bill were exceedingly well received. The programme opened an excellent selection of minstrelsy, sustained by the full strength of this talented company, followed by a laughable farce entitled "Sims Reeves Outdone." In the olio the Australian team, Messrs. Delowery, Croydon, and Holland, appeared in their plantation sketches. Mr. Alf. James's specialties proved very entertaining. A number of other items having been disposed of, the entertainment was brought to a close by a representation of Buckstone's evergreen farce "Nan, the Good for Nothing." The programme, which is an excellent one, will be repeated every evening during the week. Perry Ryan's X. L. C. R. Minstrels, at the Protestant Hall, attracted a good audience. The new programme contained many interesting numbers, and the performances of the members of the company were frequently applauded.

AQUARIUMS AND SKATING RINKS.

The aquariums were well patronised during the day, the attendance at Bondi being very good. The switchback railway, roller-skating, swings, water boats, and other attractions helped to make the time passed at this lovely spot very enjoyable. Several attractions had been provided at the Coogee Palace Aquarium, including rinking and dancing. Visitors were also enabled to have a plunge in the fine swimming bath, which is supplied with water direct from the Pacific. The Manly Aquarium, with its artistic fernery, magnificent seal cavern, and beautiful fish tanks, was resorted to by a number of those who visited this prettily-situated and extensive marine suburb. The attendance at the Grand Crystal Palace Skating Rink, in York-street, was very fair. The last grand masquerade carnival to be held at this place is announced for Monday next, 22nd instant. The Sydney Elite Skating Rink, in Elizabeth-street, was well patronised by the lovers of the enjoyable pastime of rinking. A carnival and dance were announced to be held at the Crystal Elite Skating Rink, Crystal-street, Petersham, last night.

After fifteen months' delay the Treasury (says a London paper) have at last sanctioned the provision of two telescopes to enable Greenwich and the Cape of Good Hope Observatories to take their share in the international scheme for charting the heavens by photography. There will now be five British and colonial observatories taking part in the work, as instruments were ordered some months back for Oxford University, Sydney and Melbourne Observatories, but their construction has been delayed by the tardiness of the Government in arriving at a decision.

NOTES EXPLANATORY OF MAP.

In the list of stations, the column headed W.T. gives the state of the weather at 9 a.m., b standing for blue sky; c, for clouded; d, drizzling rain; f, fog; g, gloomy; h, hazy; m, misty; o, overcast; p, passing showers; r, rain; s, snow; t, thunder; u, threatening. The next column, Ht.s., gives the maximum temperature for previous 24 hours. M'n. the corresponding minimum temperature; R'n. the rain for the previous 24 hours. The symbols used in the map are explained on the margin. At each station the wind symbol points to the direction in which the wind is blowing, is in fact an arrow flying with the wind. A clear circle with it means fine weather, a circle with bar, cloudy weather and a black spot, raining. Next to this symbol are placed figures denoting the number of miles the wind is moving per hour. Next, a symbol showing the state of the sea; and lastly, figures denoting the shade temperature at 9 a.m. The barometer curve shows the state of barometers round the coast from Perth to Cooktown:—St. Perth; Ay. Albany; Ea. Eucla; CB. Cape Borda; A. Adelaide; Rs. Robe; P. Portland. M. Melbourne; WP. Wilson's Promontory; Go. Gabo; E. Eden. Ma. Moruya; CG. Jervois Bay; WG. Woolloomooloo; S. Sydney; N. Newcastle. PM. Port Macquarie; C. Clarence River; B. Brisbane; R. Rockhampton; Cc. Cooktown. Inland, the state of barometer is given in figures at Albury, Deniliquin, Wentworth, Menindie, Bourke, and Alice Springs. The barometer curve enables one at a glance to trace the depressions, beginning with Western Australia, and passing along eastwards northerly winds preceding them, and southerly following.

The rainfall on Sundays and holidays, when the map is not published, is in all cases included in the quantities shown by the next following map.

SYNOPSIS.

Western Australia.—Fine, variable winds and calms.

South Australia.—Fine, but in S.E. cloudy, light variable winds, chiefly E. to N.E.

Victoria and Straits.—Fine inland, cloudy, with light passing showers on the coast.

Tasmania.—No report.

New South Wales.—Fine generally, with more or less clouds on the coast, light variable winds and calms.

Queensland.—Fine, light S.E. to N.E. winds and calms.

Central and North Australia.—Fine and warm, light S.E. to N.E. winds.

New Zealand.—Fine generally, N.E. to N.W. winds.

Forecast.—New South Wales: Generally fine, with southerly to easterly winds and scattered clouds; probably a little rain in extreme N.E. and southern parts of our colony. Victoria: Fine, misty showers near coast, and westerly winds tending to east.

3 P.M. OBSERVATIONS.

Cape St. George, S.E., fine, 69°; Eden, N.E., fine, 64°; Deniliquin, W., fine, 78°; Wentworth, N.W., fine, 74°; Goulburn, N.E., fine, 68°; Port Macquarie, S.S.E., hazy, 76°; Wilcannia, calm, fine, 76°; Forbes, calm, fine, 71°; Newcastle, S.E., dull, 76°; Dubbo, N.W., fine, 75°; Walgett, calm, cloudy, 90°; Sydney, E., fine, 66°.

NOTICE TO BRICKMAKER

Public Companies.

A BRIDGED PROSPECTUS of the NEW SOUTH WALES NURSERY AND ORCHARD COMPANY, Limited.

To be Registered under the Companies Act.

CAPITAL, £50,000 IN 50,000 SHARES OF £1 EACH, of which 16,000 will form the first issue.

To be payable as follows:—2s 6d on application, 2s 6d on allotment, balance by calls of 1s per month for the first three months, and afterwards by calls of 1s at intervals of not less than three months.

Provisional Directors:
THOMAS O'NEILL, Fairmount, Field of Mars
T. T. GRAY, Newman-chambers, Phillip street
JOHN THORPE, Macquarie street, Parramatta
EDGAR LUCAS, 42, Cumberland-street
EDWARD ATKINS, Junior, Eulalia Nursery, Ermington.

Solicitor:
T. T. GRAY, Esq.

Bankers:
BANK OF NEW ZEALAND, Sydney
BANK OF NEW SOUTH WALES, Ryde.

Registered Offices:
TO BE IN SYDNEY.

The Company is established primarily for the purchase of the Eulalia Nursery business, at present very profitably carried on by Mr. Edward Atkins, junior, at Ermington, near Ryde, together with the freehold and leasehold land, plant, &c., by means of which the business is carried on; also to enlarge and extend the business by adding to the Nursery premises a splendid orchard property, 40 acres in extent, adjoining the present Nursery at the rear, and a fine block of land at the side of the present Nursery, and having a frontage to the Kissing Point-road, and containing 10 acres 2 roods 19½ perches. These blocks have been secured for the purposes of the Company.

Although power will be taken in the Memorandum of Association to carry on the business of nurserymen, fruitgrowers, gardeners, and farmers generally, and to deal in all kinds of merchandise appertaining thereto, as well as full powers to enable this Company to acquire any other business, nursery, or property generally as may be desirable, the principal business will be the production and sale of young fruit trees, for which the site offers great facilities.

All the plant and necessaries for carrying on the work of a large nursery and orchard business are on the ground. There is a fine business connect on, and Mr. Atkins, so well and favourably known as a nurseryman and orchardist, undertakes to manage the business for a period of five years, at a salary graduated to the percentage of dividend paid. Although, so far, the business has been confined to the nursery of only 7 acres, the profits have been so good as to justify the anticipation that the dividends will be considerably over 10 per cent. per annum.

The premises to be conveyed to the Company occupy grand positions in the township of Ermington, are all under Torrens' Act, and have an area of 56 acres 3 roods 21½ perches.

It is proposed to issue 16,000 shares, of which 4000 paid up to 15s will be taken by Mr. Atkins in part payment of his interest, and will be deposited with the Directors as a guarantee that the dividend will not be less than 10 per cent. per annum. The remaining 12,000 shares will be called up to 10s per share in the following manner:—2s 6d on application, 2s 6d on allotment, 1s per share for the first 3 months, afterwards 1s per share at intervals of not less than 3 months. It is intended not to call up more than 10s per share unless required for the liquidation of mortgages.

Mr. Atkins has every faith that the dividends paid will be much higher than 10 per cent. per annum, and to secure that a 10 per cent. per annum dividend will be paid, he will allow the shares taken up by him, viz., 4000 shares paid up to 15s per share, to lie in the Directors hands as a guarantee against any deficiency in he dividends for a period of four years, and an agreement in accordance with this prospectus can be inspected at the Office of the Brokers.

Mr. Atkins accepts £3000 cash and 4000 shares paid up to 15s per share, as consideration for his interest in the Nursery and Freeholds. The amount paid by him to the vendors of the 40-acre orchard and the 10 acre 2 roods 19½ perches, and the money laid out upon the same by him is to be refunded to him, and Mr. Atkins pays all costs of forming and registering the Company in pursuance of an agreement dated 1st October, 1888, which can be inspected at the offices of the Brokers.

PARISIAN GOSSIP.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, SEPT. 7.

M. Carnot cannot be charged with doing little in return for the handsome income which the French Republic gives to its President. Between his successive visitations of the various regions that demand the honour and pleasure of receiving him and his Ministers, he holds Cabinet Councils at the Elysée to which he returns for a few hours, or at Fontainebleau, where the meetings are followed by a handsome lunch, to the satisfaction of all concerned, visits public and private establishments, shows himself at local festivals, examinations, and displays, and keeps his own time and that of all about him fully occupied from one end of the week to the other. His would-be replacer, General Boulanger, is wandering afar, and his whereabouts are known only to a few of his intimate friends, who keep up a mystery in regard to his movements that admits of his being supposed to be in Sweden, in Petersburg, in England, or elsewhere.

Kings, Emperors, Princes, and their feminine equivalents are moving about from one end of Europe to the other, making the most of the occasional sunny days with which this surly season sometimes favours us. Queen Nathalie has demanded of the Court which was called upon to vote the divorce to take in hand the work of effecting a reconciliation between herself and her husband. The King, however, by calling to his councils ex-Minister Restich—the Queen's most uncompromising enemy—does not seem desirous of making peace with his consort. The Emperor Frederick's youngest daughter, Princess Sophia, is betrothed to the Crown Prince of Greece, a union which the late regretted Sovereign particularly desired to see effected. The Empress of Austria and ex-Queen of Naples have been visiting their sister, the Duchess of Cumberland, at the splendid Villa Cumberland, at Gumnden, which is now one of the most splendid and beautiful of royal residences, admirably built and fitted up, full of the rarest artistic treasures, and commanding views of surpassing beauty. The two sisters are believed to have done their utmost to induce the duke to make his peace with Germany, which would, in that case, restore to him the Dukedom of Brunswick and the enormous fortune which the German Government holds sequestered while he declines to relinquish his claim to the Kingdom of Hanover.

While awaiting the re-opening of the French Parliament and the varied animation that will accompany its sittings, the idea of founding a Female Academy, to rival the famous masculine institution founded by Cardinal Mazarin, is again being ventilated. The names suggested for the proposed foundation are not, however, likely to enlist the enthusiasm of the public in favour of the plan. The Rothschild family are about to convert into a museum the portion of their premises in the Rue Lafitte in which Baron James, so long the head of their house, and his admirable wife passed their happy wedded life and died. This museum will be created and maintained as a lasting remembrance of those with whose life and memory it was so long and so intimately associated.

The preparations for the strange marriage on the eve of celebration at Turin are reported of as elaborate and magnificent to a surprising degree. The bride's brother, Prince Victor, is not to be present, his place being taken at the ceremony by their cousin, Prince Charles Bonaparte—really the head of the family. The gifts arriving for the bride are as superb and valuable as varied and beautiful. The mixing up of family relationships by this marriage is sufficiently curious. Princess Letitia, in marrying her uncle, becomes the mother-in-law of his sons, her cousins, and aunt of her other cousin, the Crown Prince of Italy; she becomes the sister-in-law of her uncle the King, of the Queen, of her aunt and uncle, the Sovereigns of Portugal, and also of her mother, whose brother she espouses! The Duke of Aosta becomes the son-in-law of his sister and brother-in-law, the brother-in-law of his nephews, and the nephew of his brother and sister. This marriage of Princess Letitia, only daughter of the Houses of Savoy and Bonaparte, already allied by the marriage of Prince Napoleon with Princess Clotilde (in 1859) will not only constitute a new tie between them, but the family of Savoy being already intermarried with that of Braganza, and the latter having intermarried with the family of Orleans, the Bonapartes and the Orleans become cousins through this marriage, which unites the families of Savoy, Bonaparte, Orleans, and Braganza.

The attainment of his 103rd birthday brought to M. Chevreul great numbers of friends, deputations, letters, and telegrams from every part of France and the world, the message from the Emperor of Brazil to "his honoured brother and dear friend" being particularly affectionate. Splendid bouquets filled his rooms from private friends, the Society of Agriculture, the Garden of Plants, &c. One, composed of roses, was an exquisite illustration of his theory of shadings. Though feeling well, and being up and dressed by 9 o'clock, and receiving the congratulations of his family, he felt unequal to seeing the crowd of admiring and enthusiastic friends who had filled the house; and his son had to receive them in the place of his father, who sent them, by him, grateful and affectionate acknowledgments of their good wishes. The only visitor received by the old searcher into nature's secrets was Colonel Le Mat, delegate of the Scientific Institution of Washington, sent expressly to lay before him, as the fittest celebration of his birthday, the description of the most wonderful piece of mechanism yet invented, not only as such, but as the working-out of the most wonderful of scientific discoveries, "The Keeley Motor," which its inventor dedicated to the illustrious centenarian. The latter having listened to the colonel's brief statement concerning this marvellous affair, was so much impressed with its importance that he threw his arms round the colonel's neck, kissed him in a most cordial style, and taking up a superb bunch of roses from among the many that had been brought to him, pulled off their fragrant petals and showered them over the manuscript thus presented.

Though he had not felt equal to seeing the troop of friends who had come to bring him their good wishes, the old philosopher, to show that he is still valid, devoted his afternoon to making a couple of visits—the first to his rooms in the Garden of Plants, where his most important work has been carried on through so many decades; and the second to the admirable Hygienic Exhibition, at the Palace of Industry, which he examined with as much interest as he could have testified for the same questions half a century ago.

Received by the committee with warm demonstrations of sympathy and esteem, and also by the public, enchanted to get a sight of him, his intelligent examination of the leading objects of interest, and his appearance of physical strength, astonished all about him. He declined the offer of a perambulating chair, went up two flights of stairs with very little help, and only consented to take a short rest at the end of his visit.

This new motor, the dedication of which to "the eldest of the world's students" (as he likes to call himself) had so deeply touched him, and that is regarded by him and by all who have seen it as destined to revolutionise not only the whole department of modern mechanism—superseding steam and electricity—but the entire organisation of social life, is a globe of polished metal of a diameter of 75 centimetres, with a fixed pivot at one of its poles around which the globe revolves, and at the other pole a movable pivot turning with the globe. At the end of this movable pivot, which projects beyond the framework supporting the globe, is a pulley from which proceeds a strap which transmits the motive power developed in the globe to the engines, of whatever nature, which are thus to be worked. The fixed pivot is prolonged into the interior of the globe, its extremity being in contact with the numerous sonorous tubes and other vibratory apparatus which furnish the motive power supplied by the globe. For the astounding characteristic of this amazing discovery of Mr. Keeley is the fact that the action which will set this apparatus in movement is nothing else than sound, converted into force by virtue of a theory which will doubtless enlist the mental activities of the scientists of your side of the earth as effectually as of those of Europe.

The generator of the force that sets the globe in movement is composed of thin vibratory plates, similar to those of an organ, of vibratory tubes in communication with these plates, of tuning forks, and of a Chladni-plate, this last serving to bring back to unison the sounds which should produce a dissonance.

The plates are made to vibrate by the action of a small hammer, the vibrations acting in turn upon the diapasons. By the tubes the sound thus produced is concentrated in the globe, which immediately acquires a rotatory movement of an amazing rapidity.

Thus, by causing the vibration of the plates, diapasons, and tubes, a force is developed which is stated, in the accounts already received of the action of the new motor or machine sets to work by the transmission strap, to be capable of hollowing out, in a solid block of quartz, a hole six metres deep and one metre and a half in diameter, in a space of 18 minutes. Thus, according to the statements laid before M. Chevreul, the American inventor obtains instantaneously, without the coal required for getting up steam, without the piles required for developing electricity, a force a hundredfold more powerful than the forces of which we are as yet in possession, and this through the sounds emitted by plates and tubes which, undergoing no friction, may be regarded as of endless duration, and producing a force which as yet appears to be illimitable.

To explain the bewildering rapidity of movement of the globe, which revolves with a rapidity that makes onlookers giddy, Mr. Keeley says that "the interetheric force" developed by the sonorous vibrations forms in the interior of the globe a mass that, revolving with an enormous velocity, presses against its inner surface and impresses thereupon a rotatory movement.

To the question, Is it possible that sound is the producer or the liberator of force? Mr. Keeley replies that the production of electricity by the friction of a bit of amber on a piece of woollen cloth, the juxtaposition of certain substances in presence of an acid, is simply the result of a dissociation of atomic elements, which through their tenuity are placed more directly, more intimately, under the action of the universal motive force. Why should not sound, vibration, be likewise a liberator of force? Stretch a musical chord until its vibrations give, for instance, the ut of the 3rd octave, and other chords will give out the ut of the 4th, 6th, and 8th octave without having been struck; in other words, the unison determines among all these chords an identical succession of vibrations.

The ear does not perceive the sound of a higher number of vibrations than the 73,000 which constitute the 8th octave of the ut, yet the vibratory action which constitutes the 9th, 10th, and 15th octave, exists as certainly, although the human ear cannot perceive it; and as the number of vibrations increases geometrically, the vibration of an ut of the 15th octave consists of millions of movements. According to Mr. Keeley, it is this principle of the geometric increase of the vibratory movements of a given sound that explains the immense amount of force produced by the action of vibrating plates, &c., of his motor.

Matter, continues Mr. Keeley, is in an eternal, formidable, incalculable state of movement. The more completely the atoms of matter are dissociated, the more completely is this movement liberated from the restraints of cohesion. Through the millions of vibrations caused by sound, the molecules of the air are dissociated, liberated, placed in the state of atomic bombarding (to borrow the expression of the great English chemist, William Crookes), which is the principle of the movement of the worlds of infinity. "No more steam, no more electricity, but the force of infinity placed at the service of all, such is the meaning of the discovery of Mr. Keeley, and of the motor of which he sends you the description, as the fairest bouquet he can offer you on your 103rd birthday!" concluded Colonel Le Mat, as he placed in the old savant's hands the roll of manuscript whose reception is chronicled above. The one point which still remains a mystery for those who are wonderingly pondering over the affair is the question, not elucidated by Colonel Le Mat, as to what it is that sets in motion "the small hammer" in the interior of the globe, of which the action upon the "plates and diapasons" produces the amazing development of motive power, of which the acceptance of the motor by the Washington Institute appears to guarantee the fact.

It is probable that Mr. Keeley reserves this point—the key to his invention—until he has completed the taking out of the patents necessary for the protection of his invention.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS AND HIGH SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—With your permission, I desire to call attention to an act of administration by the Minister of Public Instruction which appears to me to be directly opposed to the letter and spirit of the Public Instruction Act of 1880. The case to which I allude relates to one of the High schools established under the provisions of the Act just referred to. It will, I think, be admitted that not only the framers of the Act, but the Parliament that passed the measure in providing for the establishment of the High schools, intended that they should be a connecting link between the Primary schools and the University, that the instruction given in them should be of such a character as to complete the Public school curriculum, or to prepare students for the University. This interpretation is, I submit, in strict keeping with the provisions of the Act and the regulations under which these schools are provided for. It never could have been intended that the High schools should be competing schools with the Primary schools, be they ordinary Public schools, Superior Public schools, or in fact any schools under Government control.

And now for my case. For some time past a High school for girls (established by the Minister) has been carried on under the able supervision of a head mistress of high attainments in the city of Bathurst. Recently the Minister of Public Instruction has leased fresh premises for High school purposes, in which for many years a ladies' private school has been successfully carried on; the proprietress having unfortunately to retire on account of continued ill-health at the end of the current quarter, at which time the Government takes possession. Thus far no exception can be taken to what has been done, but I think you, sir, as well as others who take an interest in our educational system, cannot but be surprised on reading the following advertisement which appears in the local papers:—"The Elms, Bathurst.—These premises have been leased for the purpose of a Girls' High School. The Minister for Public Instruction has decided that any pupils, whether boarders or day scholars, now or lately attending The Elms shall, if desirous of attending the High school, be admitted without passing the usual entrance examination. Further particulars may be obtained of the head mistress." The invariable rule hitherto being that candidates for admission to the High schools must pass a qualifying examination, I now ask under what possible conditions and circumstances the Minister can be justified in granting this great concession to the pupils of this particular school (the wisdom of doing away with the examination in any case I deny) when the same privilege is not given to the youth of the community generally, or at least to the pupils attending the schools under his immediate supervision. If any concessions were to be made, one might reasonably conclude that it would be to those who had been educated in our Public schools; but, instead of that, we find it has been given to the pupils of an institution, well conducted and admirable in itself, but having no claim whatever for consideration at the hands of the Government. Undoubtedly there are in this school many pupils who could pass the required examination, but there are also many children not more advanced than those in the lower forms of an ordinary Public school. But the Minister goes further even than taking over this whole school as it exists. As will be seen by the advertisement, pupils who have "lately" attended this establishment also have a "free pass" to the High school. The Elms, one of the most popular ladies' schools out of Sydney (and justly so), has been chiefly patronised by parents who are well able to pay the fees required at establishments such as this. Why, then, should the Government waive all their usual conditons and offer to educate these pupils without the necessary examinations, and at considerably reduced rates to those now paid? Surely the Government is not going to carry on these schools in future on the lines of giving to wealth and social position advantages denied to the rest of the community? The only basis upon which the High schools can be successfully carried on, and to the satisfaction of the public, is solely and wholly upon the educational qualifications of those seeking to enter them. Do away with the required qualifying examination, and who is to be admitted, and who is to refused entrance? Where is the line to be drawn? Ability alone must be the passport. If any other standard but this be taken, the schools will fail utterly in their original intention, and, instead of carrying the education of the pupils beyond that obtainable in the Public schools, or being stepping-stones to the University, they will simply be competing with the Public schools alongside of them.

A few words upon the entrance examinations may, I trust, be considered apropos. I have not seen any of the papers, but I have been informed by parents whose children have been admitted that they are so easy that any child of 10 or 11 years of age, of average capacity, who has been fairly educated, has no difficulty in passing. If this be true, inquiry is needed here, for I maintain that only pupils who have been educated up to the requirements of the highest form in our Public schools should have the right of entry, subject, of course, to examination. If this course be not adopted we shall have either first-class teachers in these schools trying to drag their pupils up to what ought to be the standard, or we shall have a number of inferior teachers in them instructing their pupils in subjects that should have been taught in the primary schools.
